Ode to Bloomsburg Normal

Oh, ye, that from the lofty brow
Of Normal Hill, the expanse below
Of lawn, of town, of field, survey:
Who look out on the Susquehanna,
Sweet stream that flows thru yonder vale
Upon its silver-winding way:
To thee we tribute bring.
We mortals, too, have shared this joy
Of scene so fair, without the mar
Of greed, of strife, of famine scar
Which clouds the sight of aged man.
Hail thee! For doubled is our bliss;
Our thirsty minds you bowed to kiss,
That we might onward take the race
To know the truths by ye embraced:
Ye filled our hearts with brotherhood;
And from thee now we're loathe to part,
For thou art dear to every heart:
May ye feel, too, that we are thine,
And say to men in coming years:
"Well done, my class of '23."

—ERNESTINE HACKENBERG.

To a Barberry Hedge

Oh, hedge! Who wert in bloom so fair in spring,
With tiny glis'ning bells of creamy white,
Those dainty bells which fairy heralds ring
To chase away the ling'ring shades of night.

Oh, hedge! Made beautiful with color gay,
With gorgeous yellow, green, and brown, and red;
Oh may thy mem'ry with us ever stay
Long ling'ring in our hearts when thou art dead.

Oh, hedge! Thou shield from undesired eye,
To lovers who in thy loved shade have told
Wherein the graces of their love do lie,
Thou only dost with them their secrets hold.

Oh, life! Be thou in us so wondrous fair,
That we may to this beauteous hedge compare.

—E. HACKENBERG.

Class History

From the Fall of '21 to the Spring of '23 the class has attempted to do and be different. From the first organized meeting to the last the underlying whimpers and desires have been something different.

From out of our midst we chose as our leader Raymond Edwards. It was here that our culmination of our ideas of doing something unique was brought to light. Our class ring—the rising sun used as a symbol for our search for knowledg—was a proof of our uniqueness.

Our spirit at football, baseball and basketball games was just one mark of our pep. Our class was well represented in athletics.

Toward the end of our Junior year we showed uniqueness in another line—our play, "Nothing but the Truth," was very ably presented and did much toward showing the dramatic ability of our class.

With the graduation of the class of '22 we became full fledged Seniors. In September we came back with the air of seniority. We felt that affairs lay in our hands and we tried to become masters of situations. It was at this time that the need of reorganizing "Callie" and "Philo" Literary Societies became apparent. We had a hand in the reshaping of these organizations which will always revert to the year 1922-1923.

Our delight in social events culminated in the senior party and the Valentine party. The Japanese bazaar was another eventful episode in our class history.

Even though school work crowded heavily upon us in our Senior year, we found plenty of time for games, parties, hikes and teas.

We pass on, leaving our heritage to the Junior class.

Social Arts

In Social Arts you learn to do just right
In ev'ry small detail or tiny thing;
As how to dress and not to look a sight,
The proper way in which to stand or sing.
To place your napkin gently in your lap,
Conduct yourself with fitting charm and grace,
To listen to a concert and not nap,
Adapt yourself to fit in every place.
To eat your soup just so, with outward curve,
To butter bread in bits so white and small,
Pretend that you do like what e'er they serve,
To taste and try, but not to eat it all.
So Social Arts, we know are fine to see,
They make the finest girls there e'r can be.

Winn We Were Juniors

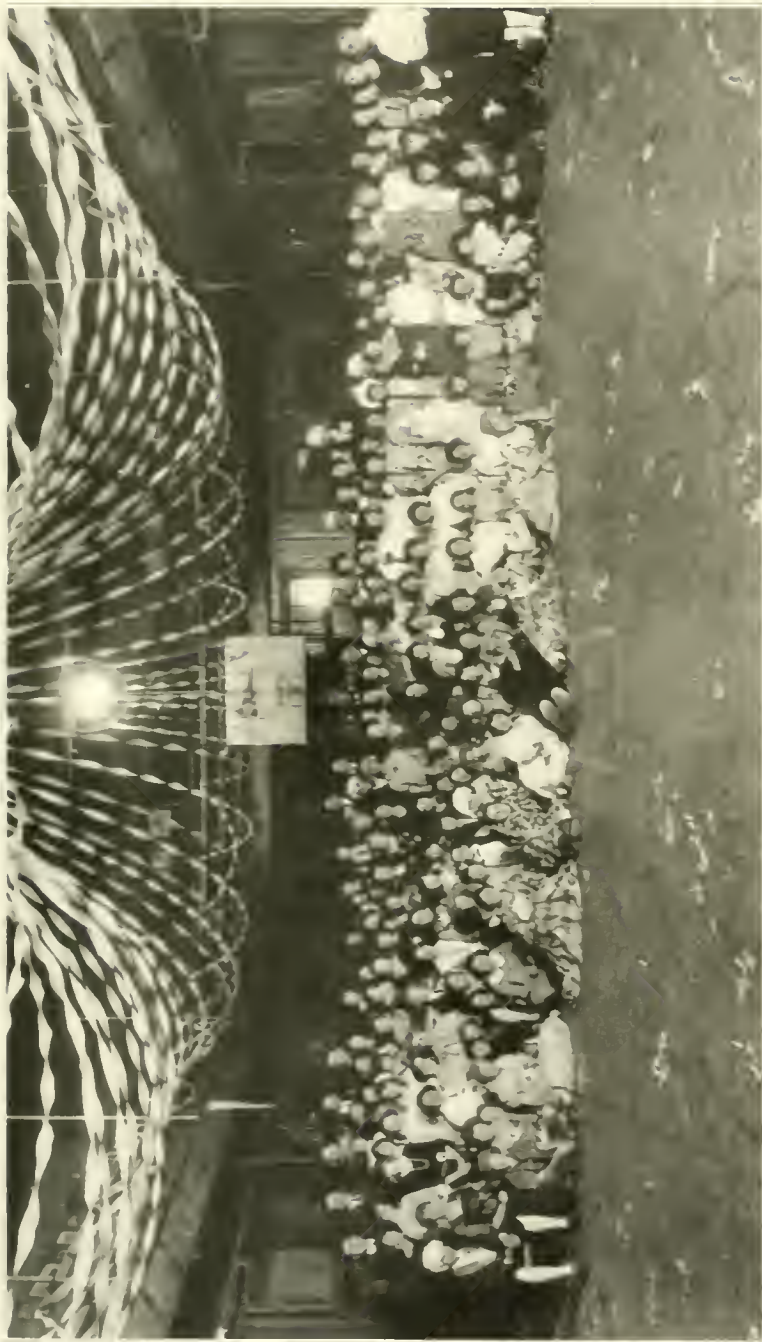

ELIZABETH M. GILL
Our Advisor

Elizabeth M. Gill

When we first entered school, something about Miss Gill made us feel rather shy, but acquaintance gave us a very different feeling: the watchword, "To know her is to love her," soon became evident to all. She was chosen as faculty adviser for our class—we found her suggestions very interesting and had many jolly times from her advice.

We always took all of our troubles to our adviser, but we would have gone to her anyway because of her kind, sympathetic nature. Her life in the great open West seems to have broadened her ideals and her influence was always to have us forget the little petty troubles of life and live to make others happy. The class of '23 wish her the best of success in life and feel that they are leaving a very dear friend when they leave her at Old Normal.

SENIOR PARTY

WHEN WE WERE JUNIORS

JOSEPHINE ABERANT
Wyoming, Pa.
West Wyoming High School
"Joe"

Josephine has dark brown hair.
Joe's eyes are blue.
Her form is passing fair
Her heart is always true.

Well, Josephine is just called "Joe". She thinks she has no other name. One fine sport is she; her cell number is 236. Her motto is "Lights out at ten" because "Early to bed, early to rise makes one happy, wealthy and wise." She doesn't believe in making any errors and her English is just—

Her room is generally very quiet during study hour, just ask the proctor?????

Joe has prospects of becoming a good teacher. She came here with those from the West Wyoming High School. As far as prospects go, I think it is fair in thinking so, but will she teach very long? That's a question to be solved by you and me.

"Witch Hazle" is her favorite song. Oh, naturally she has an accompanist. (Her Sister the second singing bird.)

Joe always has a good many cats, and of course, a good many enjoy them. We had the time of our life at her party in December and oh! those cats!!!!

"Well, time and tide wait for no man," says Joe. We shall wait and see how long Joe waits for a man.

S. FRANCES ADAMS
Millersburg, Pa.
Millersburg High School
"Franc"

Frances came from Millersburg (or is it Millersville?), at any rate she came and far from sorry are we. After prospecting about the Normal for awhile she settled upon the Bureau as a center of activity leading to further activity and from thence radiated in about every direction. One of these radiating lines led to Eagles Mere in the summer of 1922, one to the secretaryship of the Senior class, one to the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and one to Student government. The fact that these various honors were thrust upon her gives sufficient indication of her disposition and standing among her classmates. Franc graduates this year, for which we extend our sympathy to the Normal.

P.S. The S. stands for Sarah.

MAX ADAMS
Glen Lyon, Pa.
Newport Township High School

Max entered our class as a senior in the year 1922, after teaching for several years in the Newport Township Public Schools.

Max has great ability in Fine and Industrial Arts, and because of his ability we are glad to call on him as class artist.

Max proved a tower of strength to our class. His co operation with the class was outstanding; he always offered worth while successful suggestions that carried with them great weight. Being a member of the Obitar Staff he has contributed much time and effort toward making the Obitar a success.

His greatest desire was to extend a helping hand to all. His wonderful personality gained for him a host of friends whom he values. He may be readily called "Max, the Lucky," for he is able to hold a position as supervisor of Industrial Arts in Newport Township and still secure his Normal School training. We all wish you success.

NORMA AGNEW
Pittston, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School
"Norm"

"A frame so robust, with a nature so sweet,
So earnest, so graceful, so solid, so fleet."

Norma is a good, all around girl upon whom a great deal of responsibility may be placed. She is always ready for a good time and willing to work if her help is needed. Her classmates have found in her a true friend—but not only her classmates, for as a Y. W. C. A. delegate to Eagles Mere, her true friendship was claimed by another. Just ask Norma about "Black Beauty"—she knows!!!!!! She carries the good will and wishes of her class with her.

ALICE RUTH ALBEE
Ashley, Pa.
Ashley High School
"Babe," "Albee"

"There is a lass in our class,
Who's always bright and smiley,
And tho' she's small, she's known to all,
Her name is Alice Albee."

Stretch your imagination, dear reader, and picture a little girl with black bobbed hair and black eyes, holding down a stiff-legged chair in Professor Bakeless' classroom and you have a life-sized picture of "Babe" in Introduction to Teaching class any day after lunch. She doesn't belong to the sleepy bunch, however, because she is a live-wire of our class. Her witticism and stories will hold everybody in throes of laughter.

However, we predict two successful years of teaching for Alice, but after that, you never can tell.

"A sunny disposition, an effervescent glee
Makes a jolly, joyful maiden,
Such a maiden now, is she."

HILDA ALBERTSON
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School

"Kind, kind and gentle is she."

It becomes a difficult task to "write up" this young lady—she is so quiet and unassuming. Indeed, Hilda is a living example of "still waters run deepest."

Hilda is a member of the Intermediate Group and her pleasant disposition has won for her a host of friends among teachers and students.

She seems desirous of securing a school somewhere near Gettysburg. We wonder why? It may be explained by saying, "When the mountain couldn't come to Mohamet, Mohamet went to the mountain."

MILDRED ARMS
Riverside, Pa.
Danville High School

"Myra" did you say? No, it is Mildred. "How in the world did you find that out?" No, she did not tell me so, but look for yourself, her hair is straight. This certainly is Mildred.

Mildred lives in a town not far from here, by the name of Riverside. We know it is not very far away because each Saturday Mildred and Myra departed with bags in hand, to return again Sunday night. They still have their first week-end to enjoy at old Normal.

Mildred loves teaching and can hardly wait until she has a school of her own where she will see forty urchins coming thru the door. She expects to teach for years to come unless she is drawn aside by—whom?

She is a very jolly girl. This can be told by all the girls on fourth floor, especially, when they sing their classical opera selections, the dormitory stands on edge. Miss Meyers should hear them. In the afternoon when Mildred's classes are over, she scours the hall for some one to teach her to play tennis, and her skill is now showing very rapidly.

The class wishes you the best of success, Mildred, in your life's career.

MYRA SCOTT ARMS
Riverside, Pa.
Danville High School

A tall, dignified blonde is Myra, the other Arms twin.

When these girls first took up their abode, as Juniors, on fourth floor, we had a difficult time discovering which was which. Very soon we became acquainted with the jolly twins and now we know whom each is looking for when she asks where her sister is.

If at any time you feel blue, just call around at 427 and I am positive that you will go away happy. Myra is so full of fun. You laugh from the time you join her until you leave her presence.

Myra is very fond of athletics, especially tennis, when she can go out and play all afternoon from 1 to 5. She surely does hold down the courts.

She is very fond of receiving mail, especially when the Bucknell seal is on it. What do you say, Myra?

We know that Myra will make a good teacher. Your friends wish you good luck.

HAZEL E. ARNOLD
Jermyn, Pa.
Greenfield High School
"Pussy"

"No rest for the weary when Hazel is around"

In Hazel, one of our jolly seniors, we have found a girl that is a mighty friend to all those that have known her well. Ever ready to lend a hand, is always willing to share responsibilities, and whenever she can cheer her "girl friends" by her wit and optimism, she's right there too.

Besides these characteristics Hazel has always had a good scholastic standing at B. S. N. S. But this was in no ways gained by an easy path. Always pushed on by strong determination and perseverance she has made the best of her three years here.

Surely a girl with these splendid qualities cannot but succeed in the work of a teacher. This we know will be true of Hazel.

HELEN ARTHUR
Honesdale, Pa.
Honesdale High School
"Helen"

Helen is one of our really worthwhile girls. Whether it be engaging in some mischievous stunt or discussing some question of prime importance in class we may be sure that she will always be "at the front." Helen has shown an aptitude to several different studies. Her keen interest in mathematics is strangely counteracted by her interest in English. We feel that success will certainly be hers in the field of teaching the Junior High School children.

CHARLOTTE AYRES
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School

This demure little maid has endeared herself to everyone at school by her patience and steadfastness of purpose.

We first learned to know Charlotte in the library, when she was one of Miss Hadley's able assistants. She showed us, while on duty there, what she was made of, because no task was too little to escape her attention, nor was any unruly boy or talkative girl too big to frighten her. For corroboration on this score, we refer you to Myra and Mildred Arms or to Carl Blose.

We are sure that she will be missed when she leaves Normal, but we are confident of her success in the field of teaching, and wish her every good fortune in her work.

GRACE A. BACHMAN
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School

"A quiet kind of girl,
Of whom it may be said,
Has something more than nonsense
Lying underneath her head."

Grace's one ambition is to become a school teacher and her second choice is a foreign missionary. We feel that she will be successful at either of these if a certain young man does not interfere.

Judging by her picture, Grace might be considered a quiet girl, but such things are not to be judged by general appearances, for this member of our class is always ready for a good time.

Grace always had a passion for waiting until the bell rang before she proceeded on her way. Whenever you heard a scuffling of feet after 9.55, you could feel sure it was Grace. How fond she was of her dear little cot in the morning. Grace always waited for the echo of the bell before she arose, but she always arrived at her destination.

From her attitude toward her school work, we know she will never shirk her duty. May success and happiness come to you in your chosen profession.

ZELL BAER
Shickshinny, Pa.
Shickshinny High School
"Zell"

"Zell" is one to whom we may look to bring fame to our class. She has the necessary stock of "pep." Already she is noted for her exhaustless stock of jokes and pranks, her fondness for "cats," her exceeding generosity with all the afore named, her talkativeness, her love of society, and her ability to turn her hand to anything or everything. Wherever she may go she will be a valuable asset to that community. We wish her success, but she would attain it anyway. She is that kind.

ZELA BARDO
Millville, Pa.
Millville High School

Zela comes from Millville and if she is a fair representative of the town, it must be a fine community in which to live. She joined our ranks at the beginning of the Senior year and by her pleasing personality, immediately won many friends. Cheerfulness and good humor are Zela's dominating characteristics and these, combined with real ability, produces a most excellent result. Zela is always cheerful and happy and thoroughly enjoys a good time. She is another of our number who has become interested in Educational Measurement and spends considerable time working in the Bureau.

You certainly enter into things in the right spirit, Zela, and we feel sure that you will reach the height of success in your future work.

DOROTHY BARTON
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 Bloomsburg High School
 "Dot"

"Dot" implies smallness almost to the extent of invisibility, but our "Dot," tho short in stature, is a very essential factor in the life of those who know her. She has been very successful in teaching and we know she is in her element when she is playing with or entertaining them. It is our best hope that she will carry on her good work, but we fear that those daily letters from Lewisburg will change her mind and she will take up another occupation. "Cherries" seem to be her favorite fruit. Ask her yourself.

All joking aside, we know that "Dot" is an earnest student and an enjoyable classmate. What better proof could we have of her splendid attitude toward her work than the fact that every morning we see her trudging up Normal Hill for an eight o'clock class—and always on time!

RUTH BARTON
 Jersey Shore, Pa.
 Jersey Shore High School
 "Babs"

Do we love her?
 Indeed we do.
 Because, my dear, you're kind and true.

"Babs" is a girl who appears to the stranger shy and reserved, but as we found she soon makes friends. And her friends know that she is one of the jolliest girls of our class. She is one of the most faithful workers in the Y. W. C. A., always remembering meetings when most of us have forgotten them in the hurry-flurry of dormitory life. Ruth selected the Intermediate Group to be her special field in the teaching profession. She has a way with children that makes us feel sure that she will become a successful teacher.

GERTRUDE BATES
Dyberry, Pa.
Honesdale High School

ROBINA BATEY
Plymouth, Pa.
Plymouth High School
"Bob"

The little Wayne County village of Dyberry sent Gertrude to us at the beginning of our Junior year and it may well be proud of its representative.

Gertrude is a modest girl and rather quiet, especially when in company, but as the old saying goes, "still water runs deep." Because of her quiet and unassuming ways many people have been deprived of her friendship, but those who know her best value her as a true friend.

Gertrude is a very hard worker, and a faithful student, which is proven by the success she has attained during her course at Normal.

If you hold to the same B. S. N. S. faithfulness, success in life is bound to be yours, and we wish you the best of luck.

Bright eyes and golden hair,
Loving ways and a winsome air,
A lack of temper but lots of pep,
And still there's more to 'Bob' yet."

"Bob" is one of the most loving and sympathetic girls in our class. Her sweet disposition and pleasant smile have helped her to win her way into the hearts of every one in Girls' Dorm. But she is not an angel—once (?) she was seen out of her room after 9.55. She is full of fun and makes friends easily. "Bob," may you ever be as successful as you were at Normal.

HURLEY BEAVER
Catawissa, Pa.
Locust Township High School
"Hurley"

A dark haired, bright eyed, broad shouldered person is "Hurley." He has a good heart and a genial disposition. Usually a quiet fellow, especially when in the dining room.

We find him to be very conscientious and always believes in doing his duty, although he doesn't know why intelligence tests were ever invented.

If you feel blue and life doesn't seem just what it ought to be, talk to Hurley and his smiles and happy thoughts will send you on your way rejoicing.

Our best wishes are with him for a happy life with lots of girls. We are sure his future as a school teacher will be a success, for he is interested in the work.

GRACE BECK
Sunbury, Pa.
Shamokin High School

"To be efficient in a quiet way.
That is my aim throughout each day"

Those who know Grace best can best appreciate her. Her casual acquaintance may not suspect the deep sense of humor that lies back of that quiet way of hers. But further acquaintance is sure to bring to light her fun-loving side. Her jokes have a snap to them and usually come as a complete surprise.

Grace is quite expert at "story-telling." Her interpretations of the beautiful stories that have come to us from out of the past are artistic and full of feeling.

These are not all of her fine points, but when you learn to know her, you will discover the others.

HILDA BECKER
Taylor, Pa.
Taylor High School

ELIZABETH BENFIELD
Centralia, Pa.
Mt. Carmel High School
"Betty"

When you look into the black, snappy eyes, you know she means business. Hilda believes that "The best time to do what is to be done is now." But not always do those eyes mean business, for she is just full of fun and her merry song and laughter can be heard in third floor corridors at most any time. Hilda can always enjoy good jokes and is ever ready to return them.

Nothing but the best of luck can be our one hope for you.

Here's to Betty, true blue and good.
A charming, sweet, lass of womanhood.
She plays the piano from morn till night.
Her music will startle the world—all right.

Small and light, quick and efficient that is Betty. Wherever she works or teaches, she is liked. She is in her element when she is teaching music, and she bids fair to make an excellent music teacher. She knits, and sings, and talks and hikes and does most everything even to eating all the time.

She's always on hand to make merry with the rest, but somehow she never gets "squelched."

When someone meets Betty for the first time, the remark invariably is,
"Isn't she sweet."

Children all love her, so we know that she will be a very successful teacher.

MAY BENFIELD
Centralia, Pa.
Centralia High School
"May"

May is a girl, unselfish and fair,
With deep blue eyes and light brown hair;
With a dash of temper and plenty of pep,
Sincere and true, she has a fine rep.

May is too quiet to be well known by many of her classmates, especially since she didn't join us until our Senior year. Many of us have missed a great deal by not making her acquaintance, as she is a jolly companion. She is best known as a successful story-teller.
We hope to see a splendid future for our May as a successful writer and teller of children's stories.

ADA BENNAGE
Milton, Pa.
Milton High School
"Fae Etta"

Ada's outstanding contribution to our class has been in music. She says she can't help it, it's hereditary. Chorus and Glee club have been given her support. "Fae Etta" spends her leisure time planning her clothes. You can imagine the result.

LESTER BENNETT
Plainsville, Pa.
Plains High School
"Babe"

RACHAEL BENSON
New Milford, Pa.
New Milford High School

This quiet, sedate, good looking young man came to us from Plainsville, but don't judge him by the town he comes from but by his arrival here. Not many in the school have succeeded in breaking down the reserve of this young man. He is quite uncommunicative, not because of disagreeableness but because meditation is holding court. But those of us who have succeeded in breaking down this reserve found behind its barrier a personality that few excel. One of Lester's happy faculties is his ability to sleep in the morning; Old King Tut doesn't have a thing on him. At 7:59 he can be seen tearing across the Campus to Science Hall with the speed of Paddock, providing he has an eight o'clock class there; if he does not he is asleep in his room. If our stay at Bloomsburg had not yielded us anything else but an acquaintance with him we would feel well repaid. He has all the qualities that insure success and the best wishes of the Class of '23 go with him.

Rachael is one of our workers. This is an attribute fit for the gods, especially here in the "dorm." She is one of the girls whom you must know in order to love.

She is good-hearted and unassuming. When anything is to be done in Rural Club, Rachael is the one who does it and does it well. She is the real energy behind things.

Rachael showed just what kind of a good sport she can be during her term as floor supervisor. She never complained because she had to walk up and down the same hall many times or watch the last light out.

It seems most natural that she will make the best kind of a rural school teacher, because she must be where there is the most work to do and feels that that place is in a rural school.

It seems superfluous to wish a girl like this success for success seems heading her way and try to stop him. Bon voyage!

BEATRICE BERLEW
Moosic, Pa.
Scranton High School
"Bea"

She's not very tall nor not very short,
A true blue friend of the very best sort;
She's full of fun, with eyes of gray,
Always happy and always gay.
We'll miss you, Bea, when from school we part,
But will always keep you in our heart.

Bea, in addition to all her other virtues, can sing and she loves music. If you hear the Victrola playing on fourth floor, you may depend that Bea is cranking the "Play-Ola."

She is always a true abider of the Student Government rules (?).

Bea seems to feel she will end her days as a school teacher, but we hope her fate will be more pleasant than that. Here's success to anything you may do, Beatrice.

MARY BETZ
Millville, Pa.
Millville High School
"Betty"

Here comes Mary tripping lightly and gaily up the walk, talking so fast she could be mistaken for no other.

Mary joined our class this year after attending B. S. N. S. summer school, and we surely were pleased to have her in our midst.

Mary's specialty is man. "She likes them promiscuously," someone says, but we are loathe to agree with this rash statement, for she has shown some very good judgment (at times).

But if we look beneath the exterior of frivolity, we see the real Mary, a girl of no meager possibilities.

We believe in you, Mary, and know that you will come through with flying colors.

FARA BINGAMAN
Dalmatia, Pa.
Dalmatia High School

Fara, whose acquaintance was made this year,
Is calm, gentle, quiet, but most sincere.
By her pleasing manner and sweet toned voice,
She won our hearts—we made the choice.

Although she works and works she is not done,
Yet finds along the way some bits of fun.
She talks of Dakotas and the S-S-S
Until from gay laughter we gain distress.

To learn to cook was quite an ambition
But soon by force came change in volition,
Among machines she aimed then to control
"Sewing machine" has played the very best role.

MARGARET BITTNER
Mauch Chunk, Pa.
Mauch Chunk High School

"Let mildness ever attend thy tongue"

Margaret did not enter our class until this year, but it did not take us long to find out what a splendid girl she really is. Margaret is not one of the pushing sort, but has made her impression on the class through her quiet way of getting things done.

Margaret has some ability in lyric verse. We hope she will develop this worth while mode of expression.

We wish Margaret all success in her career as teacher, and after that—all happiness.

EDNA BLAINE
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School

When we first met Edna, we thought she belonged to the "touch me not" group, but in a very short time we found out that she belonged to the "forget me not" group. Edna is quite fond of music, dancing, and ????, and although she is a day student, she is quite well known throughout the entire school. Her host of friends wish her the very best luck.

KATHERINE BRACE
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Altoona High School
"K"

Hark! Hark! do you hear that sound?
"K" is coming around.
She brings laughing and joking and plenty of fun,
Chases the clouds just like the sun.

Just as the robin is the harbinger of spring so is "K" the harbinger of a good time and the banisher of troubles.

Although a member of our class, "K's" interest and heart are found elsewhere???. She tries hard to make us believe her heart is with us, but we know those tall escorts to and from Glee Club, one so light, the other so dark—know better where it is.

"K" surely has one very distinctive charm—her captivating smile. We wonder, judging from the frequent letters from Altoona, whether a third party has succumbed to it and is trying to claim a little corner of the already divided heart.

"K" is the embodiment of youth and happiness and she puts this vitality into everything she does. Teaching will be just fun for her, and because of her gentle ways and enduring patience, success will be ever at her finger tips. Class of '23 wishes you luck in the years to come.

GRACE BRANDON
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School
"Grace"

Favored by all her teachers and classmates.

We soon discovered the reason for her studious looks and manners; she wears a Penn State ring. We cannot imagine how Grace expects to land in the Sophomore class next year, unless I.Q. plus attraction answers the question. The Class wishes you success in your greatest anticipation.

FLORENCE I. BREISCH
Mainville, Pa.
Mainville High School
"Flossy" "Chum"

"Jolly, full of fun,
Always a friend to everyone."

Listen, did you hear that laughing? Yes, that's "Flossy." You can hear her from early in the morning until after ten at night. That and talking are her chief characteristics. If ever you have the "blues" just look up "Flossy"; even in her deepest study moods she will stop to talk and cheer, and before you can think twice you will be laughing as heartily as though you never had a care in the world, regardless of all the proctors and even Miss Kingman.

"Flossy" has proven to be the truest of friends. During her three years' stay she has never failed us once. She is a good sport in everything—work and play alike.

Just keep up the good work you have begun, "Flossy," and because you smile others will smile, and so there will be miles and miles of smiles, just because you smile.

KATHRYN BRENNAN
Miners Mills, Pa.
St. Mary's High School
"Kadern"

Here's a blue-eyed lassie,
As clever as she's fair,
Her smile is always pleasant
And drives away dull care.

Kadern, dear, impulsive mirth loving Kadern! How little you realize just how much you have endeared yourself to us all. Kadern is one of those girls who knows how to work and have a jolly good time along with it. If a task is to be completed within a certain length of time we always look to our Kadern to come off with flying colors and she never fails us.

A better natured and jollier girl is harder to find, for wherever or whenever you chance to meet her she is always ready to give you one of her fascinating smiles. Here's success to you, Kadern.

HILDA BREZEE
Duryea, Pa.
Duryea High School
"Breezy"

"Skilled in wise suggestion, and confident for the future."

It is impossible in a short sketch of this kind to do anything like justice to many of our excellent classmates and Hilda is among the first on the list.

Hilda possesses in a remarkable degree that unflinching, irrepressible enthusiasm which is so contagious and which urge on her fellow classmates to greater efforts and higher aims.

Hilda is possessed of a gay optimism, and her ready smile and hearty laugh shows that her heart is where it ought to be (even though a certain person in Pittston has many claims to it).

The coolness and absence of heat and haste indicates the fine qualities which she possesses. She is very popular and is loved by all her classmates. We need not fear for her future and we send her forth with our best wishes and with the hope that Dame Fortune will smile on all her efforts.

ANNIE BRONSON
Loyalville, Pa.
Loyalville High School

Annie is an out-door girl who enjoys herself most when hiking or skating. However, Annie is not only skilled in sports; she is also efficient when it comes to sandwiches and popcorn balls, as we all can testify when we remember the goodies sold by the Rural Club. We trust to her as our fire chief to save the third floor girls from the dangers of fire or a fifty-cent fine when the fire alarm rings. Annie expects to teach in the country, where we hope she will find time to enjoy the sports she likes so much.

JESSIE BRUMSTETTER
Millville, Pa.
Millville High School
"Jess"

Here is a little girl we all hold dear,
Though she's only been with us one year.
Her pleasing manner and gentle ways
Have won in the hearts of all a place.
Many win friend-ship in an outward frank way.
But Jess always chooses the quiet, modest way.
Personality, they say, is what counts
most in life.
And if that be the case
This little girl's success will surely be made.
For she's full of pep and cheer
And happy most the year.
Yet she's serious sometimes too,
Always a friend sincere and true.
So here's to your happiness, dear old
Jess,
May the future hold for you success.

KATHERINE L. BRUST
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School
"Kit"

"Her golden locks so soft and bright,
And still more lovely in my sight
Than golden beams of Orient light
Ours Katherine."

"Kit" is a prominent member of the "Hazleton Bunch" on the fourth floor, which arrived here two short years ago—with the intentions of becoming school teachers for the rest of their lives. We are not so sure about this. Perhaps she may have something to say for herself.

Katherine has been known never to refuse a dare, an adventure, or cats. I think she'll always remember the night she spent alarm-clock hunting. Every half hour another one was revealed. Then, too, she never had to be called twice whenever there was a feed. She usually headed the procession with knife in hand.

Katherine has beautiful long tresses and, either up or down, they have been the envy of all the girls.

She is passionately fond of reading and we know that if she always attacks her work as she does a book she will succeed in whatever she attempts to do.

"May Old Dame Fortune comfort and cheer
you,
But her daughter Miss Fortune never come near you."

GLADYS BRUTZMAN
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School

Jolly and happy always, that is Gladys. She and Martha are inseparable at every event of the school—cheering and talking for one side or the other.

Gladys likes to play tennis, but it is just as easy for her to take the part of a fine colonial lady. We all remember her well at the Senior Party.

We wish you happiness and success.

RUTH E. BERGER
Danville, Pa.
Danville High School
"Mike"

A pleasant smile when'er you pass,
A very sweet and friendly lass,
Dark brown hair and sparkling eyes,
Very witty and very wise,
She speaks her mind, but yet you'll find
Her thoughts are very deep,
And in the end you'll realize
A friend you want to keep.

Whenever Ruth is around you are sure to be laughing, for she is witty and humorous and entertaining. We miss her very much over the week-ends, as she always goes home, but we have come to the conclusion, "There's a reason."

We are quite certain that she would make a very successful teacher, but according to actions and rumors and the number of telephone calls, and also the reports of mail carriers we do not hesitate to say that she is very much interested in Temple University and one of its students—particularly the student. We hope, Ruth, that success and happiness will be yours in the future.

MARGARET A. BUTLER
North Tonawanda, N. Y.
B. S. N. S. High School Department
"Billie"

From various sections the students have entered Normal School. They have come from neighboring towns and cities as a rule. But 'Billie' comes from a city far away. A city in New York or 'New Yauk,' as some would say."

We were enlivened by "Billie's" ever noticeable sunny presence, in senior High School year. Mischievous?? Ask Fara and Margaret. They will tell you because with the aid of her chum, "Billie" made their school life lively.

Her hair is the bright sun of fourth floor which shines even on rainy days.

Of course, first grade felt a lack of sunshine until her crown came up over the horizon of their life and dawned for them. When this sun sets and she must leave first grade, would that she could leave the sunshine. But alas! it would not be "Billie" without it. We all know that she has the very pleasing everything that goes with sun, even freckles.

We expect much of you "Billie." We are sure that you have chosen wisely in selecting teaching as your life work for you will put cheer and sunshine into your schoolroom, which is very essential to this profession.

MARIE CABO
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School
"Marie"

Where there is life
There is pep,
In Marie we find it
At every step.

Marie has a characteristic of cleverness which has shown itself in many ways since she came to B. S. N. S. She may be counted as one of the many who have made the class of '23 glad it existed, by her willingness and determination to carry out many plans to better its welfare.

One of her chief interests is that of Journalism—no wonder she joined "Callie"—to say nothing about her interest in singing "Charlie is my darling."

We think she chose wisely when she chose the Junior High School Group. It remains now for us to wish you the best success possible as you journey along life's pathway.

AGNES CAFFREY
Sugar Notch, Pa.
St. Leo's High School
"Agnes"

Big dark eyes of brown,
A fair face that knows no frown,
A pleasant manner, a winning way
That's our Agnes every day.

Have you ever noticed a brown-eyed, black-haired nunx hiding under a clever expression of angelic innocence?

Suddenly she will surprise you by allowing you to discover that she has a deep expressive voice which she uses only on very special occasions, "gang reunions" for instance. She takes advantage also of graphic gestures to emphasize her meaning.

What would the gang do without Agnes, who daily brings color into our lives and insists upon adorning her brunette beauty with "Red." Does this arouse your curiosity?

In her Senior year, however, Agnes became more demure. Do you think her fickleness questionable?

HELEN CAMPBELL
Catawissa, Pa.
Catawissa High School
"Helen"

Almost every afternoon you can see a fair maiden run briskly down the hill. That is Helen, trying to catch the early car home. For Helen is another of our "commuters" from Catawissa.

Helen is a great talker—but she always has something interesting to say, so no one is ever bored.

Helen believes in the maxim "Never put off until to-morrow what you can do today," and she always has her work completed on time.

Her tastes run to Art and she is skillful alike with pencil and brush—witness the table in the Locker room. We foresee a career as an Interior Decorator if ever Helen gives up her teaching. Helen is a very popular young lady, and all her friends wish her long life, happiness and success.

KATHRYN CAMPBELL
Klinesgrove, Pa.
Danville High School
"Kitty"

This young lady hails from the rural districts. How do we know? Ask Professor Albert. You will never lack for conversation when Kathryn is around, for one is lucky to get a word in edgewise. Don't get the idea that she is always talking for she always has everything right up to date.

She taught a year and liked it so well that she decided to further her abilities along that line, therefore her presence at Bloomsburg Normal is explained. We hear she's making good in the training school and we wish her success in her own school.

RUTH A. CARMODY
Clark's Summit, Pa.
Clark Summit High School
"Ruthie," "Honey"

"Very pretty, very sweet,
And just the girl
You'd want to meet."

"Ruthie's" one of the most lovable girls of our class. Her sweet disposition and pleasant smile has won its way into the hearts of everyone in the school. She is a faithful member of "The Gang" and is always ready for a good time.

She has an unlimited supply of words which she uses in expressing the ideas of her fertile brain.

She loves History, and why shouldn't she, because she is one of the History sharks in Professor Brill's class. "Ruthie" is one of the few girls who can content herself with a good book. We are all looking forward to the future, but whatever you do, Ruth, we are sure you will be successful.

"You are sweet of disposition,
You are loving, wise and kind;
You are full of true affection,
And cannot be defined."

LEAH CASWELL
Camptown, Pa.
Camptown High School

Leah's small,
Leah's bright,
She is a girl
Who is just right

When Leah first appeared among us she seemed friendly and sweet. Since she has lived with us two years, we are willing to affirm that "good good-comes in small packages."

Leah has a happy disposition and when she's around—farewell to all blues!

Camptown is her native home and after graduating from that high school, she came to Bloomsburg.

She has been so successful here in her teaching that we feel sure she will succeed in her chosen field of teaching.

Good luck to you, Leah.

HILDA CHAYKOSKY
Jermyn, Pa.
Greenfield High School
"Hilda"

"A quiet kind of girl
Of whom it may be said
Has something besides nonsense
Lying inside her head."

Hilda joined us in her Senior year in High School. For three long years she has been an earnest and willing student. Yet we know she believes in that old saying, "All work and no play, makes Jack a dull boy," for if there's any fun to be had, Hilda is always with us.

We are sure success awaits you at every turn of the road, Hilda, and you carry the good will and good wishes of the class with you.

HILDA CLOHERTY
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School
"Billie"

Hilda, a gentle flower which can be placed in any surroundings, and please. She is quiet, shy, and lovable. To know Hilda is a liberal education. She can enlighten you on any subject, although she is especially brilliant in ??? Q.E.D. Hilda has worked untiringly, and we hope she will be duly rewarded. We hope life will always be as pleasant as Hilda.

FRANCES COLE
 Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
 Wilkes-Barre High School

Frances came from Wilkes-Barre to join our class in the fall of 1922.

Frances is faithful (?) to her studies, but more faithful to the town, when she is "off the grass." She likes riding also; and we wish her many more rides.

MARY JOSEPHINE COLLEY
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 B. S. N. S. High School

Although Mary is a downtown student, her face is a familiar one in the girls' dormitory. She is an authority on all matters pertaining to knitting, and can always be seen carrying a sweater-in-the-making. She usually carries a few books around, too, just for the sake of general appearances. She was one of the girls who represented our class in the Junior drama. Heaps of success to you, Mary.

VERNA COMPERS
Kingston, Pa.
Kingston High School
"Verna"

Quiet, but always intent on something, and going after it, is Verna. She never makes much fuss or does much talking, but she gets there. Her long suit is teaching music at Lime Ridge, where she made a great hit with the entire community. We think she is unquestionably cut out for a rural music teacher. In English class she was always in the heart of the discussion, and had some really worth while opinions.

Verna is a decided blonde, and does not pass unnoticed by the "other gender." We know she will make a conscientious and successful teacher.

RUTH CORDICK
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School

"Shame on you now."

Ruth's greatest desire upon graduating is to be located near Berwick. For this and other reasons, we all believe Ruth's career as a teacher will be quite limited. Can't just tell about Ruth for she enjoys week-end visits to Cambria frequently.

The Class wishes you the best of luck whatever course you choose.

EMILY CRAIG
Catawissa, Pa.
L. T. High School
"Emma Lou"

Emily, she can sure work steady,
But, for a laugh she is ever ready,
You'll find her happy all the while,
And ready to give a winning smile.

Our dear "Emma Lou" has such a sweet disposition that you simply can't help liking her. She wouldn't quarrel and if anyone comes to her in a cross mood she sends her away with a smile.

She is such a shy and quiet maiden that one scarcely realizes that she is present. But wherever there is work, there also is Emily ready to help.

She belongs to the rural group, but we can not imagine her in a one-roomed country school. How could she be separated from Sarah? Perhaps the school may have two rooms provided with expert teachers? We all hope so. The Class wishes you success in your profession.

OLIVE CRAWFORD
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Peggy"

Now how would you describe her?
Thus? A cheery maiden with eyes of brown and loving ways of which all are fond? "Peggy" is one of our jolly girls. Although very busy, Peggy always finds time to help her classmates.
As collector of class dues, Peggy has faithfully fulfilled her duty among her locker-room friends. To look at Peggy is to know that she will make a crowning success of teaching. I think Peggy's opinion is well voiced in:

"Friends, I say quite complaining,
Our neighbor needs a smile;
Let's work and do it gladly;
Just forget ourselves awhile."

LOUISE DAVIES
Edwardsville, Pa.
Edwardsville High School
"Louise"

Here's to a girl
So full of fun
That her life at school
Was as bright as the sun.
She's loving and kind
And a jolly good sport
A real girl of the very best sort.

She is a mighty pleasant girl to live with and easy to understand. I've heard that her ambition is to live in a "certain" bungalow, and I wonder if her pleasure of visiting in Narrowsburg has any connection? She has expressed delight at getting letters from Cornell University. Again—is there any connection? Well, success, Louise, in everything.

BEATRICE DAWSON
Duryea, Pa.
Duryea High School
"Bea"

Bea is always busy doing nothing. About 10:30, when she could be in slumberland, she begins to work, and then the cruel (?) proctor puts an abrupt end to her labors. Bea then cries herself to sleep, for she does not like to work.

For dry wit and clever impersonation, Bea has no equal. Where Bea is, there are gales of laughter. Her favorite expression is "Try and get it," no matter what the occasion. We know that she will be able to keep her pupils in a cheerful mood, at least. She will teach them something, too, if "they try and get it."

MERIAM E. DAY
Taylor, Pa.
Taylor High School
"Mem"

"Just so I know!"

Can't you hear "Mem" answer quite saucily with her favorite ejaculation? She's full of pep and enthusiasm, which is at its height at a basketball, football, or baseball game. She is also a lover of tennis.

Berwick seems to be a much-frequented haunt of "Mem's," at least that is her explanation for her mysterious absences.

"Mem's" special interests, however, are science and domestic arts; and, though she spends a great deal of her time on these subjects, her other subjects are never neglected. Her reputation as a proctor on third floor long hall is unexcelled. We gather that "Mem" is a staunch observer of the student government association rules.

The best wishes of your classmates are that you succeed in whatever you do.

MALCOLM MORGAN DERK
Trevorton, Pa.
Trevorton High School
"Mox"

"Mox," as we all know him, came into prominence after entering B. S. N. S. because of his athletic ability. The work of "Mox" in football, basketball, and baseball shall always be remembered by the students of Old Normal.

"Mox" has great ability as a vocalist and in the beginning of his second year joined the Glee Club, but on finding out the Club did not sing his favorite song, "Oh, What a Gal Was Mary," he quit.

When "Mox" came to Bloomsburg the change of atmosphere must have produced the disease known as "sleeping" sickness and in this state Malcolm can be found all day Sunday, but he generally arises in time for church.

However, "Mox" breaks away from morpheus during the week and is never caught napping in class.

"Mox's" record at Normal forecasts a brilliant future as a teacher.

LILLIAN DERR
Rhorsburg, Pa.
Rhorsburg High School

This is the girl who gives you a hearty "Hello" whenever you chance to meet her. She belongs to the Rural Dozen, but did her practice teaching during the first half of our Senior year. She thoroughly enjoyed it and we are sure the children always welcomed her. Anyway, if she teaches like she tells stories how could they help themselves.

With your happy view of life and ever willingness to pull or push, whatever you try in your rural school next year will go through. We almost feel the wave of enthusiasm which will radiate from your school room. Your experience before coming to Normal will save you from many unwise turns. Yes, Lillian, we'll be sure to hear about Pennsylvania's new, "ideal rural school." Here's our best wishes for a bright and happy future.

ALVA DIEHL
Pottsgrove, Pa.
Pottsgrove High School

Alva came to Bloomsburg in the summer of 1921, but she joined the class of '23 in January, 1922. During her first semester here we thought she was a quiet young lady who looked with disdain on her more frivolous classmates. Near the last of her second semester with us we had reason to believe that first impressions may be deceiving and that "Still water runs deep."

Her mailbox is a great source of pleasure to her for she has perfect faith in the mailman's fidelity in keeping it replenished every "mailtime." We rarely see her disappointed, so she must have a very faithful correspondent who (we believe) writes from "down the line."

She seems convinced that teaching is her vocation for she tried it a year before she came here to school. We hope that she succeeds in her school teaching, and also in any other vocation which she may take up.

LOIS DODSON
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School

"O, who will walk a mile with me
Along life's merry way?"

Lois must believe in re-incarnation, since she dances the minuet so divinely.

But dancing is not her only accomplishment; she possesses a cheerful and sunny disposition. The unfortunate shut-ins to whom she carries trays do not profit so much by them, as by the sunshine which she serves.

Lois has plenty of pep, too. Just watch our Girls' Basketball Team. Thru this lively nature and her firm belief in co-operation she has accomplished much—both in teaching and in sports.

Her love for music has been displayed at various Y. W. C. A. meetings by her splendid work as chairman of the Music Committee.

"A comrade blithe and full of glee,
Who dares to laugh out loud and free,
And let her frolic fancy play;
Like a happy child, thru the flowers gay,
That fill the field and fringe the way
Where she walks a mile with me."

MARGARET DOHERTY
Scranton, Pa.
Technical High School
"Peggy"

Peggy you're different from most girls we know
You're witty, you're pretty you can sing high and low,
Here's wishing you luck and giving three cheers,
May success be yours through many long years.

Very proud indeed, are we of our charming Peggy, for she is the kind of girl who brings sunshine into the lives of others and a great deal of "reflects upon herself." With Peggy's million dollar smile, winning disposition, and her ability to talk on any subject at any time, she will surely win favor wherever she goes. The dancing exhibitions which Peggy gave were clever devices to break the monotonous hours of school life. And what a fine school teacher she will make!

We predict no dull hours for the pupils who will be fortunate enough to be under her instruction. Our school days have been made happier by her and we shall keep her in our memory, linked within the bonds of true friendship.

ELVA DRESHMAN
Ashland, Pa.
Ashland High School
"Lell"

"A friend is worth all hazards one can find."

Elva's chief ambition is to be a friend to everyone, and a truer pal would be hard to find.

One of her outstanding characteristics is "unselfishness." She is never satisfied unless she is sharing her possessions with others.

Elva delights in fun and pleasure and is very optimistic. She always has a good story to tell about "the Smoky City" and revealing the contents of some of the "Pages" of the book of her life.

We know "Lell" will be successful at teaching, but we have our doubts at her teaching until she is pensioned.

"Lell" is loved by all who know her and we wish her the best of luck.

MILDRED EDWARDS
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Keppy"

And this is Mildred—jolly and clever. "Keppy" is always in a hurry, always losing her books—and always joking.

Was "Keppy" ever "blue." No one has ever seen her so. And the work she can do! "Keppy" just devours work and glories in it.

Mildred is one of the ruling spirits of the Locker Room, where her slightest wish is law.

Children (and some grownups, too) love to listen to "Keppy's" stories because she puts so much personality into them that they seem real.

We all think that Mildred is "the best ever" and we wish her heaps of success.

WINIFRED EDWARDS
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Winny"

Calm, unruffled and unrumpled is "Winny." Come what may and go what will she has always been the same dear girl, who is ready to help others and ready for fun.

We all join to wish her success in her undertakings and we feel she will be right there for luck.

RAYMOND EDWARDS
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School

"Married the single."

No, gentle reader, the above personage is not a member of the faculty. He is our class president, although his facial expression bears great similarity to the dignified expression usually worn by our "profs." Raymond is a basketball player, but has never been inclined to play on the varsity. He always donates his services to the Baptist Church team. Like all good fellows Raymond is fond of the fair sex, particularly one member of our class, and has always kept a certain distance from the other girls. It is his intention to enter a higher educational institution, and make further preparations for his life work. He is a conscientious and willing worker and always on hand at the right time. Whatever profession he decides to follow he will be successful, and with him go our best wishes.

MARGARET EIDAM
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School
"Peg"

A dark haired maid is she,
Our own fourth floor "Peggy."
Works with all her might
For the class and the right.

"Peg" is a willing worker, especially noted for the many things she has done for the class of '23 and the members of the "Hazleton Bunch."

Margaret is of a retiring nature and therefore was not one of the social lights of the school, but, as a matter of fact, was one of our best students.

To this brown-eyed maiden we extend our best wishes and feel sure that she will be very successful in her chosen profession.

HELEN EIKE
Ashley, Pa.
Ashley High School

"Cheeks like roses,
Sweet as posies
Two eyes promising bliss."

Helen spends her time in Bloomsburg, and divides her thoughts between Bloomsburg and Bucknell. She is an advocate of the theory that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and consequently knows how to play as well as to work. A peach of a girl and lots of fun! Here's to Helen!

ELWOOD EISENHAUER
Ringtown, Pa.
Ringtown High School
"Monk"

"Monk" is a quiet and thoughtful lad who hails from the metropolis of Ringtown, following in the footsteps of such noble characters as Sam, Jock, and Doc. In all probability, if he would spend as much time at his school work as he does shooting pool in the boys' "wreck" room, he would be valedictorian of his class. "Monk" was a weakling when he joined our class but he has gained approximately 150 lbs. by eating Miss Roger's hash.

Elwood can always be depended upon, and every Wednesday evening at 6:45 can be found at the Y. M. C. A. meeting. He is very accommodating and always has a smile for everyone, although he systematically avoids the fair ones. During his school career, he has worked very hard, and is sure to be successful in his chosen profession.

MARY ELLEN EISLEY
Milton, Pa.
Milton High School
"Mary Ellen"

"Mary is a girl who is loved by all. Training pupils, seniors, both great and small. You'll find her happy every day Trying to pass the time away."

There comes a girl smiling—it's Mary. She is noted for her kind, gentle nature. She comes from Milton and that is near Bucknell, and ever since she has entered Normal she has been very lonely, but isn't there a reason? Her hobby is Art and Educational Measurement???

MYRTLE EPLER
Northumberland, Pa.
Northumberland High School
"Myrt"

"If a good face is a letter of recommendation a good heart is a letter of credit."

A more faithful or conscientious student than Myrtle Epler never attended B.S.N.S.

We make this statement in all sincerity and those who know Myrtle will need no proof of this assertion. Her fidelity to duty and regularity are amply verified by her being one of the honor students of the class.

Though the young women at B. S. N. S. are as a rule well behaved, nevertheless some of them at times incur reproof for some breach of discipline, yet neither Miss Kingman nor any of the teachers have ever had an occasion to remind Myrtle that she has broken any rule. Myrtle has decided to teach school at home and we have little doubt that a career of usefulness and happiness is in store for her. We as the class of '23 all join in wishing her abounded success.

MICHAEL EVANCHO
Eckley, Pa.
Mining Mechanical Institute
"Mickey"

Known to his friends as "Mickey." He is a sober, and innocent young man. "Mickey" has never been known to make any noise in the halls or create any disturbance whatever.

His mother has taken good care of him in order that he might not be spoiled, and she certainly has attained it.

"Mickey" thinks himself quite handsome and is a typical ladies' man. He has even been found holding a girl by one hand and the cook by the other in the kitchen.

"Mickey" is a diligent worker in all the studies that he is pursuing, especially Art.

"Mickey" has won great fame as an artist and as a dramatist. After graduating here he expects to take up teaching, in which profession every one wishes him success.

ELIZABETH PEARL EVANS
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School
"Betty"

Small, but—"None know her but to love her." Betty gets out of life what she puts into it—good cheer. One day the Junior class was observing in the kindergarten and Betty was mistaken for one of the pupils. She always has such a hard time to express her thoughts in words and generally finishes up by saying, "Well, you know what I mean but I can't say it." Never, mind, Betty, we can't all go by "express." Always remember when you get out into the world that "your voice carries." I wonder how many years Betty will teach?

RACHAEL EVANS
Orangeville, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School

After completing the High school course at Benton, Rachael turned her attention to Bloomsburg, considering it a place in which she might fit herself for greater usefulness. For a short time she was in training in the hospital. However, she found that such was not her niche for life.

The Normal School offered her an opportunity to prepare for an enjoyable task. She entered in the Fall of our Junior year, keeping her boarding place in a downtown home. Our big question, as Juniors, "Which Group shall I take?" she answered by selecting the Rural. During the two years, the Rural Club has regarded her as an active member.

Rachael, we predict for you a future filled with possibilities. Mental tests, hygienic and sanitary measures, and hot lunches, will be friends of your happy growing boys and girls. With the same vim and whole-heartedness which you enter upon the tasks of Normal life, you will surmount the difficulties lurking in a one-room school. The Class of '23 extends to you a hope for the fullest success.

ISABEL EVERHART
Danville, Pa.
Danville High School
"Ikey"

Mischievous—fun-loving—teasing—"Ikey" answers to them all. She is musically inclined and does her bit in the Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus. Her ever-ready smile and her gay chatter bring her a host of friends. As to school teaching—our best wishes are with you, "Ike"!

ROSE FARRAR
Forest City, Pa.
Forest City High School

Rose came to Bloomsburg in her junior year. We can't say that her influence spread among a large number of girls, but those whom it did touch will remember her always.

If she performs her duties in teaching as well as she did her work as a proctor we know she'll succeed. In spite of her own love for fun, Rose could squelch the girls and make them live up to the rules of the dormitory, but we could see sympathy beaming out of her very eyes when she scattered a group of noisy girls by saying, "Get in your rooms, girls, it's five minutes of ten!"

FRED FELKER
Beaver Springs, Pa.
Beaver Springs High School
"Freddie"

Freddie is a very social being. If we accept the definition that education is modified behavior, we certainly must say, that he is educated. He fits into any situation. He is always trying to help the other fellow. His successful efforts to have the Beaver Springs Girls' Band give a concert here for the benefit of our class is an example of that trait.

Freddie believes in standardized tests. He says they offer an easy method of getting high grades without working. Last semester "B" was his lowest grade.

Freddie is an able athlete. He has played on our varsity football teams for the last three consecutive seasons.

Freddie is a baseball bug. The first night he had his uniform he slept in it. That shows his pride in the uniform. Last year he was Captain of our nine. He led the team in safe swats. That is an enviable record when we consider the other sluggers on the team.

Freddie's ability in formal gym work is an outstanding characteristic. He is the personification of rhythm. To see him is an inspiration. With his background in athletics added to his gym work, the class unanimously see his future success in his chosen profession as an athletic director.

MARTHA FENWICK
Peckville, Pa.
Blakely High School

Here she comes! Who? The lark. Whenever we meet Martha, she is humming or singing a tune of cheer. She not only likes singing but enjoys all kinds of music.

Martha is a great talker, too, but we like her all the more for it. We are sure that she uses this talent very well in teaching.

She believes thoroughly in spirit and pep at games or tournaments. She is always there with "Glad"-ness.

CHARLOTTE FETTER
Pottsgrove, Pa.
Pottsgrove High School
"Charlie"

She has bright blue eyes,
And a complexion fair;
She is tall and sweet,
And has golden hair.

Charlotte comes from Pottsgrove and brings with her a great many hearts from her numerous conquests. It is almost certain that she will return with a great many more, for "Charlie" is well liked by all the kids at Normal.

"Charlie" seems so quiet, but appearances are often deceptive. Whenever there is a meeting of "her gang," her voice and laughter can be heard floating gayly from her room, for the janitor forgot to give them a transom.

"Charlie" will make an ideal teacher but the length of her teaching career is very doubtful, for she receives so much mail from a certain town up the river. However, we extend to her our best wishes wherever she may be.

MARY FLICK
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School

Mary is another of our downtown girls. She is quiet and industrious but has a ready smile and a pleasant word for everyone. Mary is ambitious; her chief interests being primary teaching and music. We hear rumors that Mary may give up teaching in favor of musical pursuits. We know that Mary will work hard in any field she may choose.

Success to you, Mary.

ALBERT FOSTER
Wiconisco, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School
"Speed King"

"When I was young, and in my prime,
I was in for athletics all the time.
I played on the town team, as fullback,
And was the fastest man on the railroad track.
But now I'm old, and feeble and gray,
And play at golf, to pass the time away.
And, oh! every time I yell "fore"
I wish I had the speed I had
When I was here before."

Yes, Foster was "here before." He gained his first start at Normal in the 16-17 term. But when war was declared, Albert was one of the first to join the ranks, and did not return to us until 1920. He did not enter the Teachers' Course, however, until 1921, as he attended the High School Department for his first two years at Normal.

Foster is one of our athletes, enthusiastic football and baseball player; he led the team as Captain on the gridiron, in '21, and even though he did not have the usual amount of speed, played center in '22.

In his first year, Albert roomed in the Dormitory and he always envied the other boys, as not having any restrictions whatever, but, poor Albert!!!! He was under the right hand of his "better half"; for, as we all know, he is married.

MRS. AGNES FOSTER
Wiconisco, Pa.
Wiconisco High School

Mrs. Foster, although having a husband attached to her, is just "one of the girls." She is jolly, fun-loving, and sympathetic. She takes great interest in her work and is a good teacher. One of her chief interests is Nature Study. She loves to take good long hikes.

She has a sweet disposition thru which she has won a host of friends at B. S. N. S. "The Fosters" lived at North Hall in their Junior Year, but are living downtown in their Senior year. We would like to have seen more of them at the school.

Mrs. Foster is fond of athletics and may be seen at every football game. Like Postum, "There's a Reason"—Mr. Foster is one of the best men on the team.

May much happiness and success come to you!

MADLINE FOULK
Danville, Pa.
Danville High School
"Mad"

We all love "Mad" Foulk. Why? Madeline has everything to make people love her. "Mad" is the culmination of everything that is beautiful in Art, even to herself.

The effects "Mad" achieves in elaborate "coiffuring" excel any that were ever accomplished in the "Mary Elizabeth Beauty Parlors."

"Mad" is the one to ask whether color will "jibe" or not, if our clothes look well, or if we may wear this or that.

"Mad" is the girl to plan decorations and everything hard. In fact, "Mad" is the "Art Bug" of our Class.

"Mad's" final aim is Honolulu. If some day an auburn-haired girl is seen there on the beach with some "nice man," you may know it's our "Mad."

EMELINE FRITZ
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School
"Tem"

"Tem" is our bright light from Berwick. She surely put Berwick on the map. If you should see her walking through the halls thinking of "Someplace" or "Someone" you would think what a serious person she is! If you should see her conducting her classes you would exclaim, "How interested in her classes she is!" But if you should see her in her room or out with the crowd, well—that's different. She fairly glows with fun and frolic. "Tem" is a firm believer in the old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

We can wish nothing too high, too lofty, or too successful to "Tem," one of our best pals.

CECELIA FURMAN
Nanticoke, Pa.
Nanticoke High School
"Ceil"

"Here comes Ceil." This is a frequent saying on back hall, second floor, as the melodious voice of our "Ceil" is heard resounding through the corridors. We need never fear of our being taken unawares by "Ceil," for she always gives us due warning.

We like "Ceil" very much. Her blonde hair is very attractive and the person is yet to be found who ever saw wisps of it out of place. "Ceil" is neat in every way. Her room, even, portrays the characteristic neatness of its occupant.

"Ceil" claims she is very fond of teaching and intends to remain in the profession, but judging from the contents of her mail-box, we are suspicious as to the verity of her statement. Have a good time, "Ceil," and accept our best wishes for success and happiness in every line.

FRANCES FURMAN
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School

Frances is a native of Bloomsburg and has been with us several school terms, including summer school. She attended the Bloomsburg High School previous to her enrollment at Normal.

Though generally a quiet, peace-loving young lady, we have somehow obtained the knowledge that she sees "Red" at stated intervals, or at such times as he comes home from college.

Frances is quite an accomplished musician, we have been told.

She has taken up the special study of teaching in the primary grades.

Although not many have become well acquainted with Frances during her stay among us, we certainly wish her good fortune in whatever work she may undertake following graduation.

RUTH GAINES
Sugar-Notch, Pa.
Ashley High School

Ruth is characteristic of the best spirit of the school. She is a good student and a capable worker; she enjoys hiking and outdoor sports; she is always ready for any sort of fun and she is a congenial companion and loyal friend.

The main reason why the Y. W. prayer meetings this year have been so full of pep and inspiration, is Ruth's careful planning and supervision.

Although you may not know it, Ruth has been the instigator of many of the funny stunts here at school. But the only way she has ever betrayed the slightest knowledge of what is going on is by the odd twinkle in her eye; and you must be alert to catch that. Ruth is always quick to see a joke. Sometimes her little chuckle is a cue to slower witted persons that something funny is happening or about to happen.

Ruth's ambition is to be an up-to-date English teacher. We are sure that she has the ability to succeed in this line of work. She says that she is married "for good and always" to her profession, but we "doubt it."

MARJORIE GAMBLE
Wyalusing, Pa.
Wyalusing High School

Marjorie is the third of the famous Gamble sisters. She is one of the most popular girls of the school because of her friendliness and pleasing personality. If there is anything going on, she is there helping. You can always depend upon Marge! She was one of the chief persons in helping the Y. W. C. A. to raise funds by selling candy to the girls at night. She ushers at many of the affairs in the Auditorium. You can never find her in her room. One of her favorite haunts the last part of the first semester was the English Office. Did you know that she taught English to a class of Juniors? She did, and very successfully, too.

Marjorie is very fond of hikes and horseback riding. She is an all around sport.

We know her life will be successful.

HENRIETTA GARRINGER
Alderson, Pa.
Sandusky High School, Ohio

Henrietta has a good voice. It is clear and sweet. Judging from the times when we have heard her at school, we feel that she should make good use of her musical ability.

She is very fond of athletics and we expect to see her as a star upon the girls' team this season. She is also very graceful at "Folk-Dancing" and very clever at "Jigging." "Quite entertaining," I hear you say. She is. Even in elocution, she is not wanting.

One fault belongs to her, however. She talks in her sleep! Her roommate is constantly warned, "If I talk in my sleep, keep your ears closed."

She belongs to the Rural Club,
Not for the "Fetes,"
She goes to the meetings,
Just for the "Eats."

RUTH GEARY
Danville, Pa.
Shamokin High School
"Rufus"

Ruth is a tall, brown-eyed girl of a jolly disposition. She came to us in our Senior year and has made many friends during her stay with us.

She has made quite a name for herself in the dining room by never saying a word, but the girls in the dormitory know her to be quite different.

Almost every Saturday you may see Ruth boarding the street car for home. She says, "O, mother wants me to come home," but we think there is another perfectly good reason.

The rural group has been Ruth's choice, and she has already planned numerous changes to be brought about in the schoolroom where she will preside.

We know with your ambitions you will surely accomplish much, and remember Ruth, the best wishes of your classmates are always with you.

BERTHA M. GEORGE
Freeland, Pa.
Freeland High School
"Georgie"

"Here's to our 'Georgie,'
A friend indeed worth while,
Who with her giggles and laughter,
Is there with the style."

"Georgie" came into our midst at the beginning of the Junior year from Freeland. It seems to us that Freeland can well be called the "land of the free" when we see "Georgie" as she really is—a lass with a free and easy manner.

She is quite studious for if you should have happened into her room before breakfast almost any morning while she was a teaching senior, you would doubtless have seen our dear "Georgie" writing a lesson plan or two to be handed in before first class.

But that is not all that our "Georgie" is noted for. She is always on hand when any dancing is to be done in her room after ten. Don't let them kid you, "Georgie"—you're a sport all right and a good one, too.

We feel that you will be successful in your teaching profession and trust that you will keep up the good work. Here are our best wishes for your success.

MARION GEORGE
Moosic, Pa.
Central High School
"Georgie"

Talk about pep, ambition, charm and lovability. It is very seldom you see a person with these four characteristics, but "Georgie" possesses them all and a good many more. She has won the favor of all. Her ability in her studies has brought her to the front so that she is now a member of the Faculty. "Georgie" has one weakness; that is, falling for ????, and often becomes so entranced that she is not accountable for what she says. One day, the day of the Band Concert, someone asked "Georgie" if she liked the band, meaning the band on her hair, and "Georgie" said, "Well, I liked the Symphony Orchestra better." Your chums all wish you success, Marion (but that is needless to say).

LOUISE GILBOY
Duryea, Pa.
Duryea High School

A glance at Louise would make you think that she is a very quiet and serious girl, but if you visit her you soon have this idea changed. Louise likes very much to go for promenades. We often wonder what makes her visit "Sands" so frequently, but Louise knows a good thing when she sees it. Not only does she promenade on the streets, but she takes great delight in a hall promenade after ten.

Does Louise ever worry? Well, I guess. She is always worrying about lesson plans. But in the end, she plans them well, and we believe she always will.

FRANCES R. GOLDEN
Hawley, Pa.
Hawley High School
"France"

"Here is a fair maiden,
The fairest of the fair.
Her name is Golden
As are her locks of hair."

This is "France," ever optimistic, big-hearted and studious. She is brimming over with the wit of old Ireland and her smile is an ever present arrangement of her features. She has one of the kindest hearts that ever thumped and is a friend, true blue, solid gold, a person you can depend upon and some of us quite shamelessly have taken advantage of that quality and her willingness to help.

She has selected the Primary Group for her life work and that is where she shines; the children all love her.

Slightly romantic is she, a good sport, and we all love her and wish her the best luck in her work in the world.

HAROLD GRIESING
 Ebervale, Pa.
 Hazle Township High School
 "Griesing"

Wherever you hear a loud discussion or an argument you will generally find Harold in the midst of it. Many think that sooner or later he will revert to his native calling of train caller.

"Griesing" is a very capable business man and he holds the controlling stock in the "Corporation."

His interpretation of the "Butler fly act" is very aesthetic and emotional.

Harold has worked faithfully for the interest of the class and the school as a whole.

Many wishes for a successful future, old boy.

KATHRYN R. GRIFFITH
 Kingston, Pa.
 Dorranceton High School
 "Griff"

"To know her is to love her."

"Griff," upon first impression, seems to be a shy little miss, but first impressions should not be lasting ones, especially in this case.

She has a sunny disposition and is always ready for a frolic. "Griff" has learned from experience that it is unwise to play "Dummy Church" after eleven o'clock. There is also a serious side to her nature, especially when it comes to studies and the opposite sex.

"Griff" has proved a true friend to all who know her. She is a girl to be trusted even on a journey to Egypt. We feel sure that "Griff" will be successful in her life's work.

ERNESTINE HACKENBERG
Northumberland, Pa.
Northumberland High School
"Hackenberry"

Ernestine is one of our hard, earnest workers. She appears quiet and reserved, but once you know her, you will find her quite jolly. Although her work is never neglected, she is always to be found in the midst of the fun in Room 218, especially when stunts are a part of the program.

She is much interested in tennis and basketball, not alone for sport's sake, but because the overweight table has no special attraction for her.

She is specializing in Junior High School work, and spends all of her spare time in the Department of Biology, having made herself quite indispensable there.

We are sure as a future teacher she will be a success, and the best wishes of her class go with her.

MARIAN A. HADSALL
Beaumont, Pa.
Beaumont High School
"Tiny"

Faithful, gentle, good and true.
"Tiny, classmate, this is you."

"Tiny" is small and vivacious, and is usually "up to something." She possesses a keen sense of humor which is a joy to everyone—herself included. From a distance one would think "Tiny" was of a gigantic stature. It is only her voice that is heard.

She is a very industrious girl, endeavoring to live up to the oft-quoted standard of a number of our teachers: "Work while you work and play while you play."

"Tiny" has specialized in the primary department. We feel sure that she will be a successful teacher in her department. We can picture her years from now as a primary supervisor.

The best wishes of the class of '23 go with you, "Tiny."

GERALDINE HALL
West Pittston, Pa.
Wyoming Seminary
"Jerry"

"Jerry" comes from West Pittston and is one of the best-natured girls in the dorm. If ever you need someone to run errands, call on "Jerry," for this is her chosen profession. She is even obliging enough to get a stamp for a friend at 11 p. m. "Jerry's" favorite expressions are, "Say, kids, do you know what?" and "From Seminary?"

She is an all-round good sport, and always ready for a good time. We wish you the best of luck, "Jerry," and hope you will never lose your sense of humor.

ALICE HALLOCK
Shavertown, Pa.
Truckville High School

A—is for Alice, so stately and tall,
L—stands for loveliness, known to us all,
I—independence, a quality fine,
C—is for character, next in the line,
E—is for energy, a mighty fine trait.

H—stands for haste, a thing sure as fate
At times to make her tumble as down
the back stairs,
Loaded with books and Domestic Economy wares,
Loaded with music and thoughts in a whirl
Our Alice goes flying, this fair Senior
Girl,
Come fortune—and bring her the best
you can find,
Keep sorrow, misfortune, and care far behind.

EDITH E. HAMPTON
Frackville, Pa.
Frackville High School

Edith is a quiet, unassuming lassie. In fact, we never know that she is around unless we look twice.

She is the possessor of many friends, who recognize in her an example of the motto, "Still water runs deep."

We feel confident in prophesying a noble future for Edith.

MARGARET HANKS
Ashley, Pa.
St. Leo's High School
"Marg"

"It's Three O'Clock in the Morning. Many times we have rushed to the 'Rec.' room to hear Marg offer a splendid interpretation of this modern bit of rag. Do not let my previous sentence mislead you. Margaret's exceptional musical talent often leads her to struggle with Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, and other great composers. All her friends can attest to her success in this line."

A great poet once said, "Music hath charm to sooth the savage breast." If he philosophied further, we wonder what he would be led to say of the person endowed with the ability to produce the divine melody.

To our minds, such a person would be the embodiment of all high ideals and noble characteristics. Of course, you have long ago decided that, since Margaret is a true musician, we are in all truth referring to her own dear self.

KATHRYN HARDER
 Catawissa, Pa.
 Catawissa High School
 "Kate"

We here present our "Kate"—she of the queenly carriage and velvety brown eyes. She is a girl of very tranquil disposition and we have never yet seen her "fussed" or angry.

Kathryn is deeply interested in her work. She is an adept in the difficult art of Story-telling and she is very clever at making toys for children of the Primary Grades.

She is evidently deeply absorbed in music, as she has braved several stormy trips in order to attend the numbers of the Music Course.

"Kate" isn't much of a talker, but by her sweetness and graciousness she has endeared herself to us all, and we are sincere in our wishes for the boundless success of our charming classmate.

HELEN HARMAN
 Nescopeck, Pa.
 State College High School

Helen came to us from the State College High School, and has always shown herself to be, what she is: the daughter of a school teacher. Not that this fact causes Helen to be less attractive (for every one knows her to possess a charming personality) but rather it makes her one of the shining lights of the class.

Helen is interested in sports and spends a great deal of her time playing basketball and hiking.

She has selected the Junior High course for her work and may often be seen with her examination papers in her hand. Her practice teaching was done at Berwick, but who knows the reason for this selection? Maybe Lloyd can tell.

Because of her happy disposition, we are sure Helen will succeed in whatever work she undertakes. Best of luck.

ALICE HART
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
St. Mary's High School

Brown eyes, bobbed hair,
Queer ways, a baby stare
Happy smile, full of fun,
A girl who's loved by everyone.

Renowned for her beauty, beloved for her personality. She is never idle, but she strives daily to reach the goal which she has set for herself, that of being an efficient school teacher. We wish her success, and feel quite certain that she will accomplish her aim. Those who have the pleasure of her acquaintance will remember that perseverance can be numbered as one of her many virtues.

Now that I have told you so much of the work-a-day side of her life, I will advise you to visit the "gym" some evening at dancing time and gauge her capacity for fun for yourself.

Need I conclude that Alice is an all around American girl, or have you already made this assumption?

ARLINE HART
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School

"Here's a girl we all do like,
My, how she likes to dance;
She's jolly fine and a good sport,
We can see that at a glance."

Have you seen a short, cute, little brown-eyed, brown-haired lassie, with a pile of books under her arm, rushing around to class? If you have you will know it's Arline and you won't forget her either. Or, if you happen to be in the halls, you will hear her say, "Oh, girls, couldn't you die!"—then laugh, for, you know, her motto is "Laugh and the world laughs with you."

She tries to make us believe her heart is in her books, but don't let her kid you for those who know her say that she is devoted to Dan (cing).

Fortunately B. S. N. S. is neither a dark, unathomable cave nor a desert, so Arline has not been wasted. Ever since she entered Normal she has been somebody—and a somebody who is mighty sweet and interesting.

Arline has a tendency to see the funny side of anything. Many a nudge or indicating twinkle has livened those moments when class has sunk into the lethargic stage. Admired by all, and loved by her close friends, this is our Arline.

ELMER HAUPT
Treverton, Pa.
Treverton High School
"Tony" "Em"

Tony first made his appearance at school in the fall of 1921, when he dropped in on us during the third week of school. He was out for football the first night here, and showed his worth almost immediately. At the close of the season, he was elected Captain to head the 1922 squad, and the success of this last season was in no small measure due to his pluck and encouraging spirit, even in the face of defeat. He is not a "one-sport" man, however, as he is one of Normal's best cage men, besides being shortstop on the baseball team. We are all looking forward to seeing him take the place of Walter Camp as the leading figure in American athletics.

MARCELLA HESS
Benton, Pa.
Benton Vocational School
"Marcel"

Marcella joined us in our Senior year, after two years of teaching. But in the one year she has been with us, she has proved herself a "live member of the class."

She is a very studious little lady and an A-1 teacher. "Marcel" believes in fun at the proper time, too, and some of her witty remarks convulse hearers.

We are sure that wherever Marcella goes, she will uphold the standard of B. S. N. S. and our best wishes go with her.

MILDRED HESS
Benton, Pa.
Benton High School

Mildred is a very demure little maiden. Although she seems quiet, she can talk when she once gets started. She is a day student and came to us in the Senior year. She has already taught successfully, and we are sure she will bring fame to the class of '23.

EDITH HILL
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School

Edith entered our class in our Junior year and we have always found her an earnest and conscientious worker. Although she lived at home and came each day on the trolley car, she is well known among the students because of her ability and willingness to help others.

Edith is a great lover of children and they soon learn to love her. We feel sure that she will be a success in some intermediate grade, unless she follows her desire of becoming a foreign missionary.

We give you our best wishes, Edith.

CAROL HOTTENSTEIN

Luzerne, Pa.

Luzerne High School

Did you ever hear someone near the elevator on third floor call, "Margaret Jones!" expecting her to answer from the last room on right angle hall? If you have, you may conclude that it is Carol. She believes in saving steps. She warns the girls of her coming by her laughter when she is at the other end of the hall and sometimes—at the farther side of third floor. However, Carol is a jolly good classmate and believes in looking at the bright side.

Carol has shown special ability in costume designing and art. Since she has decided to be a school teacher, we are sure she would be successful in teaching along these lines. Our best wishes go with you, Carol.

MARTHA HOWARD

Wanamie, Pa.

Newport Township High School

Martha came to us in the year 1922. She has always been studious and actually shines in all her classrooms.

We have learned, however, that there is a great deal more in Martha than her smile and pleasing disposition. Earnest in her work, she strives to do all things well.

Judging by Martha's very dignified walk, and by her actions, we are sure that she will make an excellent teacher. Martha's many friends wish her the best of luck in her chosen profession.

MARY HOWELL
Alden Station, Pa.
Newport High School

Mary is one of the few girls, we know, who is both fat and good-natured; even climbing three flights of stairs to fourth floor does not make her cross.

She is specializing in primary work and spends much of her time and energy in printing "perception slips" for the children. Her ability in singing the dictation for her less fortunate classmates is unsurpassed.

Although Mary lives in the city, her one ambition is to teach for a few years and then settle down to life on a farm. As she has a continuous correspondence with a "farmer boy," we believe this ambition will be realized.

Mary, we are sure you will succeed, either as a teacher or as a farmer's wife, and don't forget the best wishes of your class are yours.

HELEN HOWER
Catawissa, Pa.
Catawissa High School

Helen is one of the industrious members of our class and is known for her thoroughness and careful judgment. Although she is always busy, she is ever ready to lend a helping hand.

One's first impression of her (that of a very quiet and reserved girl) is very deceiving, for we have all come to know her to be loving and jolly.

In our Junior year Helen played on the basketball team, and so spent all her spare time in practice. This year music has become her hobby, so we know just what to expect when we visit her room.

Helen has finally decided to become a rural teacher just like her sister, Margaret. This position she intends to fill until someone who can measure up to her twin brother Russel happens her way. Because you are so conscientious, Helen, we know you will be successful in your work. The class wishes you the best of luck.

EMMETT MOREL HOYT
Kingston, Pa.
Kingston High School
"Hoyt"

Attention:

This is one of our Stars, "Hoyt," the boy wonder who comes from the town of Kingston. For reasons unknown he chose Bloom in preference to Wyoming Seminary, and surely made a splendid choice. This Master of Ceremonies possesses rare musical ability and has delighted the boys of the "Dorm" on many occasions with his wonderful technique. "Hoyt" spends most of his time shaving in the boys' laboratory. We have studied this problem, and we are inclined to believe that he is coaxing some hair to grow on his face. Emmett is getting to be a good dancer. The only mistake he makes is that he dances to his own time. We should not judge but are inclined to believe that he would become famous as a photographer, because, by the way, he was a member of the snapshot committee and has furnished a number of the snapshots printed herein. We all will agree that "Hoyt" is a sincere, conscientious and courageous young man, and is bound to make a hit in the teaching profession.

MARGARET HUGHES
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School
"Marg"

"Marg" is the life and spirit of "Boys Dorm Gang." She is noted for her originality and suggestions for a good time (especially knocking out knots?). When "Marg" entered Bloom she seemed as one to whom "Love" was a ridiculous word—but, "Philo" was some "reunion," wasn't it, Mark? Never mind, "All the world loves a lover" hence, Marg will always remain dear to the hearts of the 1923 class.

OLWEN JAMES
Plymouth, Pa.
Plymouth High School
"Ollie"

"Ollie" entered our class in the Senior Year, after having taught for several years. Everybody thinks that "Ollie" is a quiet and demure young lady, but, you know, looks are very deceiving. There must be something pleasant to the eye that attracts "Ollie" to the town of "Bloom," for actions speak louder than words. Love and charm are both mingled in this little "Shorty." All success to you, Olwen in your future career.

ANN JARRETT
Taylor, Pa.
Taylor High School

"Got anything to eat? I'm starving." Do you recognize that mournful wail? I knew you'd guess. Yes, it's that little Ann Jarrett at 9:55. Her dinner, by this time, is minus. Although the office boy visits third floor back hall frequently with "cats" for Ann, she is so generous that she has very little left for herself. Don't you worry, Ann, maybe we'll have a box some day and you may be first "in."

Ann works hard, especially when the mail man has been very kind, which is often. She is quite a tennis fan and often puts across a Tilden cut which baffles her opponents.

Ann says she is going to teach forever and for aye, but we have our doubts. Good luck, Ann.

EUNICE JAYNE
Mehoopany, Pa.
Mehoopany High School
"Eunice"

A quiet kind of girl,
Of whom it may be said,
There's something more than nonsense,
Inside her sensible head.

Eunice, plain Eunice, never has been nicknamed by anyone. Yes, some think Eunice very quiet. I wonder why? and when? Eunice's middle name is "Pep and Spirit." "Give me something lively," is her favorite expression. She is also one fine sport.

Eunice is full of inspirations and is always waiting with a helpful hand and mind. If you should happen to get stuck, apply at 379; and you will certainly be pulled out of that trouble.

Her favorite song is "When you're gone, I won't forget you," generally sung to her by her chum.

She spent a summer at Mansfield Normal, and from there she came to us, like a ship from Europe, full of ideas. She has spent the rest of her school life with us and she will tell you there's nothing like old B. S. N. S.

Eunice seems to keep track of the mails. I wonder why? Ask Eunice???

Nevertheless, we feel sure that with her smile and helpful traits, she will be a successful teacher.

EDITH THELMA JEREMIAH
Shamokin, Pa.
Shamokin High School
"Jerry"

Thelma—only everyone calls her "Jerry"—was a few weeks late in joining our Junior class, but ever since then she has been right on hand. Whenever you see a peppy crowd, you are always sure to see "Jerry." She isn't afraid to study, and manages to attend nearly all the Glee Club rehearsals, besides. A cheery smile, and a friendly word for everyone—that's "Jerry"! We wish her the best o' luck.

ADELIA JONES
Camptown, Pa.
Camptown High School

Adelia hails from Camptown. It may be a small place but Adelia's ambitions were not, and so after finishing her high school course she came to Bloomsburg.

During her Junior year, Adelia was very fond of "Strohling." However this year, she can usually be found in the library reading some reference. We wonder why?

Adelia likes little children and we extend to her our best wishes for her success in her chosen field of teaching.

HERBERT S. JONES
Scranton, Pa.
Technical High School
"Herb"

Behold our Editor! The man who has weathered the trials and tribulations of the year book all for the class of '23. Herb entered our class in the second semester of our Junior year and we are very glad he decided to come to Bloomsburg. He entered into school activities whole-heartedly and his contributions to the Y. M. C. A., B. D. C. and Class were a valuable asset. Besides all his activities he found time for school work and his ability as a student was very marked.

Herb devoted some time to philanthropy and his contributions toward the Sunday afternoon meetings were received with much better favor than given. Remember Herb "Charity covers a multitude of sins."

This boy accepts responsibility.
Therefore he is good for any utility.
Especially with his muscle brawn
In writing to a girl named Lillian.

HELEN GARDNER JONES
Dalton, Pa.
Scranton Central High School
"Heddy" "Jonsey"

"Laughter on her lips and soul within her eyes.
Witty little lass and sunny as the skies."

Helen's disposition has endeared her to many girls throughout the "Dorm." Her head holds both hair and brains. This is shown to us by the offices she has held during her stay here. While floor supervisor of second floor, her cheery voice was often heard throughout the halls:

"Corridors were made to walk in,
Not for little girls to talk in."

She is very fond of hikes to the Country Club (?), dancing, and especially swimming. Her love of water is shown in her frequent attempts to give us cold shower unawares. Helen is one of the memorable "gang." She is game for anything at any time, be it Y. W. C. A. meetings or stacking rooms.

Helen's motto is "Giggle and the world giggles with you." She is a firm believer in the fact that there is a little bit of bad in every good little girl. Perhaps this will account for her well known quotation, "Plead with St. Peter for I know I'll be late."

Best luck, ole pal.

MARGARET E. JONES
Lafin, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School
"Marg"

"To know her is to love her."

Her favorite expression is, "Wait a minute for me." But her minutes are longer than sixty seconds.

Marg. comes from Lafin and is a graduate of Wilkes-Barre High School.

She is always happy and has a good word for everyone. In our two years of acquaintance, we have never known her to be angry.

Margaret claims she intends to teach always. We are very doubtful of this. However, we can only wait, as usual, for time only can tell.

HELEN KARALUS
Nanticoke, Pa.
Nanticoke High School

Our Helen

"She has big blue eyes,
And complexion fair,
She is light on toe,
And has dark brown hair."

Helen hails from Nanticoke and is proud of the fact, so she says. She thinks Harrisburg is a nice place, too, and she ought to know (?). She is just bubbling over with fun and ideas. Yes, when you are in great need of an idea, go to Helen. Really, to tell the truth, she might give you an idea about how to create disturbances because I think she is responsible for some that take place on second floor back hall. She is fond of hiking, tennis, and especially dancing, and believe me, she is right there with the newest steps. Ask anyone who is accustomed to go to the "rec" room after dinner. Helen always has a bright and happy expression on her face, a smile for all, and a disposition just as sunny as her smile. Is it any wonder, then, that Helen stands so high in our esteem, and always shall, for she has proved to be the truest of friends.

FANNIE KASNITZ
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School

You surely have heard of the Senior teachers in the Junior High School. Please take notice—Fannie is one of them.

She is an untiring little soul in her energetic and patient efforts to teach her pupils in the Junior High School.

Fannie isn't always saying what she is going to do. She goes right ahead and does it. We love her all the more for it.

Keep on, Fannie, that road is a straight one to success, even if it is rough in spots.

FRANCES RUTH KEELER
Trucksville, Pa.
Kingston Township High School
"Franky"

Bright eyes and brown hair,
Jolly ways and a winsome air,
When you know her, you will find
The same old friend at any time.

"Franky" never forgets her friends when she receives a box from home or elsewhere. She is doomed to be a wonderful Kindergarten instructress and that isn't half of it.

She has been a very active worker in the affairs of the school, especially in society work and Y. W. C. A., of which she is a Cabinet member. She is one of the most fun-loving girls of our class. Everybody knows it by her merry laugh.

We've all been wondering what the attraction is at Grandmother's.

Is it "Frank," Ralph, Phillip, or Joe?
"Franky," please tell us the name of your bean.

RUTH KEEN
Glen Lyon, Pa.
Newport Township High School

Ruth makes friends wherever she goes. If she is with a single friend or a throng of them, she is always the same. Her sparkling eyes and happy smile betray her sense of humor which makes her a good sport at games or parties, hikes or teas.

We all recall her contribution to the Philo Drama, "The Silver Lining," last year.

With her gentle and even disposition, we feel she is bound to succeed in whatever she attempts.

VIOLET KEIPER
Noxen, Pa.
Noxen High School

"Big bright eyes and soft brown hair,
Nice quiet ways and a winsome air
Seldom doth she opinionous pass,
And yet she's a very efficient lass."

Violet was introduced to our group as a Senior. She brought with her that quiet determination to succeed. She lives down town, but from what we observe in the library and her classes her thoughts run in serious channels.

In the Intermediate grades of the training school she assumes a very calm attitude and we think that she will fill her place in life in the same way. So here, Violet, success to you.

HELEN M. KELLER
Kingston, Pa.
Dorranceton High School

Not the "Blind Singer," but our own Helen Keller. When we first met her, we were under the impression that she was unusually quiet, but first impressions do not always last and we have found Helen full of pep, friendly, and very interesting.

A more faithful girl never attended B. S. N. S. She was honest and capable. She was loyal to all with whom she came in contact.

Helen's favorite pastime is reading—on the trunk in winter, under a tree in spring, but always with a good book.

Helen has one secret of which we have not ever been able to get an inkling. Can anyone enlighten us on the "Mistletoe Tale"?

We wish Helen all success in her teaching profession.

ANNA G. KELLEY
Exeter, Pa.
S. C. High School
"Nancy"

"Quiet, but also wise,
With a wealth of love in her large blue eyes."

Here is a veritable representative from the Emerald Isle, as her fair skin, light hair and blue eyes with their wondrous sparkling charm will testify. Anna is a thorough, conscientious student and as a result has achieved great success in her Normal duties. Most of all she loves her piano. She is talented, there is no doubt about it, as music just oozes right out of her finger tips, and we all wish to tender thanks for those many hours she willingly spent at the piano, playing for our pleasure. A merry, sunshiny disposition is Anna's and there's something contagious about her that goes to make her a favorite with both the girls and boys. We all wish her success and happiness and know that she will have it.

ELIZABETH KESSLER
Benton, Pa.
Benton High School
"Betty"

There are folks of every sort in the world, but Betty belongs to the sort you positively must like. You can't help it when you know her.

Betty comes twenty miles to attend B. S. N. S.—but is her Alma Mater the sole attraction?

"Gentle, lovable, and friendly,
A pal to one and all.
With hazel eyes and light hair a plenty,
As a friend she fills the call."

JOSEPHINE KISTLER

Bloomsburg, Pa.

B. S. N. S. High School Department

"S-s-s-sh!"

Wanted:—Someone who has ever heard Josephine deliberately speak an unkind word about anyone. She abhors "slamming" and her motto is, "If you can't boost, don't knock." One glance at her sunny face is a sure cure for the "blues" because "Joe" can always smile, even in the harrowing periods immediately preceding and following tests.

Most of Joe's spare time is spent in the library. She is an earnest, hard-working student, and deserves to succeed.

We have heard that "Joe" is also an accomplished housewife. We therefore conclude that "Joe" is an all around girl.

We are sure that Josephine will make a successful teacher and we wish her luck in whatever she undertakes.

CLAIR KLEES

Aristis, Pa.

B. S. N. S. High School Department

"Life's a jolly jag of joy, when a man's in Love,
He's as happy and as coy as a little turtle dove."

Here you can look upon the real baby of the class. Our Clair, as we proudly call him, has been very popular from the first day he came here.

When it comes to making friends, Clair needs no lessons from anyone. Everyone is glad to be with him and enjoy his famous "line."

Did you ever hear of Aristis before "Klee" hit Bloomsburg? I don't believe we did, but since he joined our ranks, he has done much to put that little town on the map.

It has been rumored about the campus that Klee, on graduation, will take a position as sole agent for the sale of "Kelly Tires," and we wish him every success in his undertaking, and we hope he will not "tire" of it.

KATHLYN KLEINFELTER
New Milford, Pa.
Keystone Academy
"Kay"

"Good Guy'ner!!!"

Perhaps "Kay" is the most demanded person in the school. She seems to have the knack of doing things, whether it be helping to stage the Junior Drama or expounding her theory, "Morals—"To Be Or Not To Be'." And the things she attempts she does well. If she were not so extremely opposed to the word "efficiency," I would offer that as a solution, for she certainly is one of the most efficient, self-posessed mortals that we have ever met. Her startling episodes, such as affecting a coiffure "a la Valeska Sureth," intimates to us that, perhaps, she likes to excite public opinion. Her most characteristic mannerism is, we think, her funny hysterical giggle which trebles up to Q. From our observation of her we think she is happiest "down in Sands," when she is exploring the innermost resources of doughnuts and lettuce sandwiches. We know, Kay, that you will be successful in all you undertake, but we say, "If you can't be good, be careful!"

HELEN MAY KLINE
Mount Carmel, Pa.
Mount Carmel High School
"Kliney"

A fair and lovely lass we know,
Collect them all together,
I'm sure that you could never find
A one that is her better.

Helen came to us from Mt. Carmel and she surely livens things up on Second Floor, Front. Whenever we hear Miss Kingman we know to whose room she is going. Helen is one of those girls "Happy and free from care am I; Laugh and the world laughs with you, cry and you cry alone." Studies never bother Helen, but she's always on the dot when "anything's doing."

MARY KLINE
Millville, Pa.
Millville High School

We count this calm and placid maiden with the number who swelled our class enrollment in our Senior year. Though she boards in the home of a citizen of Bloomsburg, she spends much of her time with us in our pursuits of education, culture, and enjoyment. Mary keeps herself hidden by her reserve and quiet manner, which only arouses one's interest. When one learns to know her, she counts hers among the friendships worth while keeping alive for life. A dependable and willing helper is she, who smooths down the rough places of our dispositions by her gentleness.

Because of your previous experience in rural teaching, your creditable work in school, and your desire to further the educational interests of the countryside, we foretell for you an active and useful future.

Go ahead, Mary, the future is before you.

HAROLD KLINGER
Waller, Pa.
Benton High School

Our friend Harold hails from the country district, and at an early age was inspired with the ambition to become a shining light in the field of Rural Education. He has always been a hard worker and has been a member of the "Hash Slingers Association" for the past two years. Up until a few months ago, he had the reputation of being one of the fast workers in the dining room, but since Sarah has come into his life, he seems to have taken a different aspect of life. He has been an earnest worker in the Rural Club, and "generically" speaking, he has been a good "all around sport." Here's wishing him all the success in the world.

J. RAMONA KNORR
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Kamona"

What? You say you have the blues? Then follow me to the locker room, my friends, and there we will find the gang listening to Ramona's thrilling tales of her teaching experiences in the Junior High School. If the day has been long and dreary, Ramona is there to put hope, happiness and ambition in our hearts again.

She has put many of us on the right track by her frankness and courage.

"Frankness and pep will go hand in hand
To gain for Ramona fame in our land."

LOLA KOCHER
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School
"Lola"

"Common sense is the knack of seeing things as they are and doing things as they ought to be done."

Lola is one of those rare persons who radiates both efficiency and cheerfulness. Because of her bright smile and her capable way of doing things she is given many responsibilities.

In addition to her general ability she is specially gifted in the field of art. We hope that she may have the opportunity to develop to the fullest extent this talent of hers.

Her favorite expression is, "It's the honest truth." But when she says this, beware of that gleam in her eye.

MATILDA KOSTENBAUDER
Aristes, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School
"Til"

"Kind hearts are more than coronets."

"What beautiful eyes!" That is generally the first remark as Matilda comes in sight. "Til" would surely be a good candidate for a beauty contest. And truly, "the eye is the window of the soul," for "Til" has a wonderful personality. Have you ever seen ice melt away before the rays of the sun? In much the same way, all meanness and "cattiness" melt away under the influence of Matilda's sweet good nature.

"Til" is a good student—hard-working and conscientious; but she always finds time for "a little nonsense now and then." "Til" is one of the most popular members of the Rural Club and is a real help to that organization.

Matilda will always remain in our memory as a dear, sweet girl, and we wish her heaps of success.

MILES KOSTENBAUDER
Aristes, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School
"Kosty"

"He is a friend of Man."

Miles is not very well known by us because of his unobtrusiveness, but we are all convinced by his attitude and by the relations that we have had with him that he can be filed with the species known as man. He is the most reserved young man that many of us have ever met and practically all will leave without becoming intimately acquainted with him. Miles is one of the best students in our class and you can always find him working when we are fooling away our time in the Rec room or Dorm. Miles has his chief interest in the industrial arts department and we feel sure he will be a very successful teacher in this field. We shall miss you, "Kosty," but we all hope you have heaps of success.

RUTH KRAPP
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 Bloomsburg High School
 "Rufus"

(Used without permission of the owner)

Before you is the picture of a demure maiden who is firmly set in her determination to teach and thus provide better citizens for the state in which she lives.

She might be seen daily climbing the "Hill," but was never once heard complaining of its length. Such trifles are of no account in her young life.

The special division in the teaching of which she is interested, is the Primary Group. While it is difficult to picture some girls as teaching successfully in the lower grades, we can readily understand why she should be entirely efficient in that group. She's that sort of girl.

Not many of us "Dorm" students have become intimately acquainted with Ruth, but we firmly believe that her companionship would be of the worth-while kind.

"A jolly, fine minister's daughter."

WALTER KROLIKOWSKI
 Glen Lyon, Pa.
 Newport Township High School
 "Wally" "Pet"

Walter is one of our industrious chaps who looks somewhat like a college professor when he starts down the hall to his classes. This "young professor" was very much interested in Dr. Pike's lectures because the doctor happens to come from Danville, a place which is impressed upon "Wally's" mind.

Talk about basketball and you have this young man close upon your heels for he is one of our basketball stars and also is a wearer of the "B." Besides basketball the young professor has many other hobbies, among these his ability to sing—Louis Grauvère sounds like an amateur when "Wally" starts tooting.

"Wally" is studious whenever he has the right environment and we feel sure that some day he will really earn an A.B. degree.

A serious minded fellow.

Having hair that is almost yellow;

Always ready with a hand

To help the more unfortunate of "our" band.

MARGARET LAFFIN

Ashley, Pa.

St. Leo's High School

Original? Yes, even to her laugh. Some people begin at the bottom of the scale but Margaret maintains a high pitch throughout. The girl who greets her friends with a sunny smile and radiant face, who meets her teachers with open countenance at all times, is surely happy and possesses a noble character; this is true of Margaret.

In every phase of school life she is "there," chucked full of "pep" and "go." Behold her, one of the best liked girls at B. S. N. S.!

"May gladness tune Life's Harp anew,
And strike its sweetest chords for you."

HELEN LAMB

Shamokin, Pa.

Shamokin High School

Helen is a little Lamb,
Her hair is black as coal,
And when her eyes upon you shine
You're under her control.

This tells you all about Helen, except that she is one of the best-hearted girls we know. She is always saying, "Come on over to my room. I'll give you some"—no matter what anyone might want. The office girls have threatened to make Helen carry her own mail upstairs—she gets so many letters. We know she will make a charming teacher if someone doesn't interfere, and make her a housekeeper instead.

Best wishes, Helen.

ANDREW LAWSON
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 B. S. N. S. High School
 "Buckhorn"

Quiet and unassuming, Andrew is a good worker. He has a mind of his own, however, even tho' he is quiet and does not fail to stand for what he believes to be right. He is also studious and will be a great success as a teacher if he continues as he has done in the past. He always has a cheery word and smile for everybody, and so has made many friends. Besides making a name as a scholar, he made one in football, playing two years with the Varsity.

MARY E. LEARN
 White Haven, Pa.
 White Haven High School
 "Merilern"

"Full of vim and full of pep, That's our Mary at every step."

"Merilern," the blue-eyed, dark-haired lass, came to us from White Haven last year—now don't mistake us, we did not say Schuylkill Haven.

When she doesn't have that serious look on her face, her name well befits her—Mary, the merry.

She is very studious and sometimes sacrifices pleasures for work, but nevertheless she is on hand whenever hikes are scheduled.

We feel quite certain that she will be successful in her teaching career if she need not teach gymnastics. Here's all the luck to you, dear friend.

RUTH LENHART
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School

Here's to the girl with piercing eyes,
With coal black hair and a ready smile,
May she attain what she desires,
In this world that is so worth while.

Ruth hails from our neighboring town Berwick, and on the daily trolley car that "runs into" Bloomsburg she is not alone, for with her are many other "Berwickians," who attend B. S. N. S. also.

Although she does not visit the dormitory very often she is well known by all the "dorm" girls. Our only wish is that she had lived with us so that we could have known her better, for—"We only knew her well enough to wish we knew her better."

We feel quite certain that she will succeed in her teaching career if—someone's heart is not pierced by her eyes, for then doubtless she will succeed in her matrimonial career. Best wishes for your success, Ruth.

STEPHEN A. LERDA
Glen Lyon, Pa.
Newport Township High School
"Goof"

A steady and conscientious worker, who joined our class in 1921 and whose co-operation has been a valuable asset since the very beginning.

When Steve joined our class, he was a quiet and very bashful young man, but he has greatly overcome that weakness, as we all know. "Goof," as he is commonly called, proved a success on both the gridiron and basketball court.

Do not think that athletics are all that interest Steve, because there is also a young lady from "Dimock" who interests him very much.

Here is hoping that he will not forget his little escapades in the "Bureau" and his weekly trips to the movies every Saturday afternoon.

A brilliant fellow is he,
A wearer of the "B."
But upon his life there is a blot,
Which may have been covered by a lass named "Dot."

SARAH LEVAN
Catawissa, Pa.
L. T. High School
"Sarah"

Sarah hails from a farm near Catawissa, we are proud to say. She isn't especially fond of city life and each week-end sees her back on the farm.

Flaxen hair, blue eyes, plump cheeks, did you say? That is our Sarah. Now, you know her. Her characteristic scream is another identification. There is one peculiar thing about her hair: this maiden's one trial and tribulation is naturally curly near her face and straight at the end. How do we know? Ask any one who attends Rural Club.

You may be disappointed when you meet her, for she is usually very quiet, but she can talk when she once gets started.

'Tis in a rural school we shall find Sarah when Normal days are over. We're sure you will endeavor to brighten up the inside and outside of that school. Here's to you, the best of luck.

ARCHIE LITWHILER
Ringtown, Pa.
Ringtown High School
"Archie"

One of the illustrious "Circlevilles" who came to us in the annual migration of able-minded students from that town.

While at Normal Archie learned the game of football and played a wicked left tackle, acquired the etiquette of love, honor and . . . social arts, learned to play the banjo and to sing "I love you truly" quite proficiently, these last two accomplishments were due to "inner urges."

Choosing a "Lady Love" has been a hard proposition for Archie, although he attended many "Ladies Fair" while at Normal, his roommate says that he will eventually—for a girl who's first name begins with a Mary.

Archie's one great inspiration is to be a teacher of Biology, and we predict that he will be a good one.

"Break."

ISABELLE LUKASYTIS
 Hazleton, Pa.
 Hazleton High School
 "Belle"

Isabelle is one of our quiet dames and appears to be very studious. Underneath her calm exterior there is a great deal of fun and merriment.

She is always timid in doing stunts but wants to keep up with the "fourth floor bunch."

"Belle" is the possessor of many friends who find in her the example of "still water runs deep." Best wishes for your success as a "school marm"—until the right one comes along.

ESTHER LURING
 Espy, Pa.
 Sunbury High School

Esther by her kind and sympathetic nature has found her way into the hearts of all who know her. She is especially loved and upheld among her locker-room friends.

Besides being an enthusiastic and hard-working student, she is a good sport, as was evidenced by her bravery in the locker-room attack which to gain satisfaction the seniors made up on the juniors for damaged property.

Esther always looks for the good in everyone. Her high ideals and her earnest endeavor to live up to these ideals assure a successful and noble future.

MARIE McGRATH
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School
"Pat"

"Less order on this hall," that's Marie keeping watch on second floor back. Everyone is properly squelched when they hear this gruff command and, of course, perfect quiet prevails ????? She is surely SOME proctor.

Perhaps you can see the roots of "Pat's" family tree if you know her pet saying, which is "Hoily mither o' Moses." She is typically Irish and often amuses us by talking "Ireland."

"Pat" insists that she will settle down some day with a cat and a parrot, but you can't always sometimes tell.

Good luck whatever you do, Pat.

FRANCIS McHUGH
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School
"Mac" "Snowshoes"

"Mac" came to us from the deep blue sea, having been one of Uncle Sam's Gobs before he decided to come to Bloomsburg. This young man has traveled extensively and has many souvenirs from the places which he has visited, the most notable of all being a pair of Japanese slippers which earned for him the nickname of "Snowshoes."

"Mac's" life on the sea developed in him a rolling side pitch motion and this is most noticeable when he dances in the "Gym," but his affiliation with the musical element here has developed in him a perfect sense of rhythm, and these two working together make him a very unique figure as a dancer.

"Mac's" life at Normal has been a very busy one. He has been general utility man for the faculty ever since entering and he can always be depended upon when it comes time for co-operation to put anything across. The jokes in the "Obiter" are the product of his humorous mind.

"Mac" has been a valuable asset to the class of '23, and when we consider how valuable he has been we fear to think what we would have done had he not been a member.

RUTH McNERTNEY
Milnesville, Pa.
Hazle Township High School
"Mickey"

"A good looking maiden of a brunette type. With eyes that shine like stars at night. She's happy mostly, sometimes blue. She dances much and laughs some, too."

"Mickey" is a name suitable to the girl—short and snappy, full of pep. Her Irish wit has no equal.

Here's a girl who loves to giggle when she's giggling, but, oh boy, when she's got the blues you can't get a thing from her but tears.

She is from the great metropolis of Milnesville. Her friends are not all of the feminine gender, as can be readily seen from the thrilling letters she gets occasionally.

Ruth will leave us a full-fledged "school-marm." She won't spend many years "school-marming," though.

It can truly be said of Ruth—"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

MARY McNINCH
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School
"Au G'Wan"

Mary doesn't seem to heed the long (and sometimes cold) ride in the street car, for she breezes into the locker room every morning like an invigorating draught of fresh air. She is a very energetic little miss and she usually accomplishes a great deal while the other girls are chattering.

However, Mary can do her share of talking when she finds anything worth while saying.

Mary's practice teaching was done in Berwick and reports from various sources tell us that the children love "Miss McNinch" and are eagerly awaiting her return next year.

A ready wit is hers, yet its shafts are never unkindly directed, and she can listen to another's tale of woe with such genuine sympathy that she can lighten the "other fellow's" burden and make herself generally beloved.

"None know her but to love her.

Nor name her but to praise"—and our best wishes for success and happiness go with her.

MARGARET MAINWARING
Plains, Pa.
Plains High School
"Red"

"Red" is a real sport. No matter whether we decide on a coasting party, a wiener roast or a movie, she's ready for it.

One of the things she has gained in Bloomsburg is her appreciation of music. "There's a reason"—Punk likes it too.

Perhaps you have already guessed why we call her "Red." That bobbed hair of hers tells the tale.

ELMA L. MAJOR
Dallas, Pa.
Luzerne High School

"Those who will thrive,
Must rise at five."

Elma faithfully believes in these words and early every morning an alarm clock can be heard. Soon after, Elma appears on the scene, ready to make things hum. Her favorite studies! She seems to have none for she does equally well in them all. Who is there that can forget her splendid work in music?

Elma is a country lass. She finished in her home school and then went to Luzerne High School. Her greatest ambition is to be a successful rural school teacher and make her school a model one. Elma has the ability and we are sure she will far exceed her greatest expectations in teaching.

IRA MARKLEY
Beaver Springs, Pa.
Spring Township High School
"Bill"

Our good friend, Ira, better known as "Bill," is a native of the village of Beaver Springs, Snyder County. He says the old home town is big enough for him. "Bill" first came to B. S. N. S. during the spring term of 1919. He came back again for the summer session and again for the spring session in '22. He then decided to be a regular fellow and consequently came back for the 1922-1923 term.

"Bill" was a member of our varsity baseball team for three years. He had a wicked eye when he came up to bat. Our opponents will testify to the truth of that. He gained fame by his ability to slide.

At school he confines his society to boys only, but Freddie Felker says the reason may be at Beaver Springs or that neighborhood.

As a student, Ira has been a success. He is always disappointed if he gets less than an A for a final grade. He isn't disappointed often. With such a background he will have a hard job on his hands to keep up his reputation in his life's work, but we who know him have no doubts about the future favorable results of his activities.

GENEVIEVE MEIXELL
Espy, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Gene"

This, dear people, is Genevieve—one of Prof. Albert's "country jakes." And we'll tell you a dark secret—"Gene" really loves to work. We sometimes wonder if she is forgetting the old adage about "All work and no play," etc. But in spite of the fact that most people think that she lacks a sense of humor, "Gene" can appreciate a good joke—but she likes her fun in moderate doses because she has an opinion that we have come to the time to put away childish things.

Genevieve is a girl of high ideals, and she lives up to them, too—every single one. And no one could have a truer friend than "Gene." It is needless to wish her success, because she has already laid her foundation for it by her work, but she has the best wishes of '23 in everything she does.

MINNIE MELLICK
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 Bloomsburg High School
 "Minn"

Minnie is our idea of a real student. She studies hard and faithfully and always has her work prepared on time. Minnie spends a great deal of time in the Library.

"Minn" is deeply interested in Nature Study. The greatest book in the whole world (in Minnie's estimation) is the Book of Nature, and she is quite familiar with its pages. And she was Miss Mason's delight in Psychology.

Minnie is the dearest, truest friend that anyone could ever have. There is nothing that she would not do for a friend.

We consider our "Minn" a good example of the noblest type of American womanhood and we will always have pleasant memories of the quiet, kindly girl to whom we extend our heartiest wishes for success and happiness.

MARY MENSCH
 Catawissa, Pa.
 Catawissa High School

Our Mary with the pleasant smile and wonderful red-gold hair. Mary is another of our friends from Catawissa — another passenger of the "Tooner-ville" Trolley.

And Mary loves to work! She is a very careful, thorough student and seems to take real delight in seeing how well she can do everything.

Mary is very quiet, but she also has a sense of humor which sometimes breaks out unexpectedly.

Mary loves little children and (as everyone with whom she comes in contact loves her), we are sure that she will make a wonderful Primary teacher.

Good luck, Mary, whatever your undertaking.

ANNA MILLER
West Pittston, Pa.
Wyalusing High School

"Happy am I, from cares I am free,
Why aren't they all contented like me?"

These lines seem to express Anna's view of life completely. She is one of these happy go-lucky, good-natured, fun-loving girls, always ready for a frolic of some kind. She always feels lonely if there are less than six girls in the room and she is known by her expression, "Aw, come on and stay awhile."

We never see her study but she seems to get there just the same. Anna enjoys a good game of basketball and was one of our star players in her Junior year.

If you are looking for a true friend and an "all round girl," call on Anna.

CHARLES MILLER
Bloomsburg, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School
"Ox"

"Ox" is one of our day students, but he spends more time at the Normal than the majority who live here. "Ox" can usually be found in the library studying the Morris code. He would become very much alarmed if some fellow happened to understand it better than himself. Charles has the distinction of being Bloomsburg's original skyscraper. He stands only 6 feet 6 inches, without his shoes on, and can be found strolling around with Max Long, who is 4 feet in height. "Ox" is a product of the Training School and has taught in the rooms in which he was a student. Charles has his Dodge so well trained that, without even a driver, it could travel from his home to the Normal and back. He holds the record of making the most trips to Normal on a Sunday afternoon, this being a total of 29 in the year of '22. "Ox" is a sympathetic and kind-hearted fellow and we consider it a pleasure to have come in contact with him.

EMERY MILLER
Benton, Pa.
Benton High School

This is a young man who has impressed the students as one who always thinks before he speaks. You can be sure that where Emery is, there noise will be lacking. He is a conscientious and willing worker and has always been a good student. Emery no doubt will obtain a position as teacher next year, and with him go our best wishes.

"Here is a student young and fair,
Whose complexion comes from good fresh air.

He no doubt appears both bashful and shy,
But not many tricks escape his eye."

MADELINE MONROE
Dorranceton, Pa.
Dorranceton High School

"Very pretty, very sweet,
And just the girl you'd love to meet.

Madeline is what we call an "ideal girl." She possesses heaps of good qualities. She is a good sport, has a sweet disposition and an abundance of wit and humor. Madeline is successful in whatever she undertakes from teaching a Junior English class to telling stories to the children. One of her most frequent questions is, "Any mail for me, Jerry?" We wonder why?

MARTHA MORAN
Muncy Valley, Pa.
S. H. S.
"Martie"

"Good natured, laughable and tall.
Clever, winsome, loved by all."

Mart, Mart, Martha! Where's Martha? Many voices echo this question daily. By the very nature of the query, you may easily judge that she is one of the most popular girls at B. S. N. S. Although the standards by which we judge personality are high, Martha possesses all the lovable characteristics which place her in the first ranks.

We hope that in the future we may have the pleasure of observing her, while she wins the hearts of her difficult Junior High School students. Martha's friends credit her with an unusual amount of ability in planning mischievous deeds. If she makes use of this ability in her capacity of school teaching her future pupils will not suffer for want of well planned lessons. Mart believes that just to be good natured is to boost the world.

MARGARET MORGAN
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School
"Peg"

"Peg" joined our ranks in the second semester of our Junior year. For a time, we began to believe that her heart was with us—but we soon found out that her heart really was in State College. This brings to our mind a certain instance (??)—"Here I am, Jimmy." Now, Margaret, don't take us seriously.

If you hear someone singing in the hall, you can almost be sure that Peg is around. She has shown her abilities in music in several entertainments. Dancing and tennis are her favorite sports.

She is also a member of the famous third floor, back hall, annex gang; but, strange to say, she is never one of the disturbing features.

We all wish you the best of luck and success after you leave B. S. N. S.

HAROLD MORGAN
Nanticoke, Pa.
Nanticoke High School
"Chippey"

Though not exactly enthusiastic over school fussing, "Chippey" certainly can open his heavy artillery when the subjects turn toward a particular "someone" from down town. Upon the football field, "Chippey" showed us that he is full of grit and does not know what fear means, as no man was too big or fast for this midget to tackle. He also proved to be a valuable man to Coach Mead on the basketball court. However, Morgan's great delight is in eating, and you can always count on him to be present whenever anything eatable is to be found. If the old saying that "you have to eat in order to grow" was true, "Chippey" would certainly not have to ask "Ox" to hand him down a match. Morgan's intentions are to teach school in Nanticoke. We can see where he will be successful in this profession, but are of the opinion that he will be a dancing master before many years roll by.

JEANE MORRIS
Luzerne, Pa.
Luzerne High School
"Jeanie" "Hygiene"

Here's to Jeane, so attractive and sweet,
A girl in a thousand who can't be beat.

Jeane is one of the second floor "gang" and believe me she is one we could not get along without. She has not only brains, but good looks and besides that is musically inclined.

She is a good sport and ready for anything, but there is one thing we'd like to find out—"Which do you prefer, Jeane, a Dodge or a Buick?"

Although Jeane is an efficient teacher, we fear her career as one will be short, for judging from her popularity, we know she is not doomed to be an "old maid."

GENEVIEVE MORTON
Warrior Run, Pa.
Hanover Township High School
"Gene"

Pep: Just the word for her.
Love: The way toward her we feel.
Dance: Well, I'll say so; she doesn't walk, she trips.
To her: The faintest heart must fall in love and admiration.

Now, Genevieve can't stand being called "Jennie," "it must be Gene or Morton, if not Genevieve." She brought this idea with her from Hanover Township High School in the Fall of 1921.

Gene is a pal that you will never be able to forget. She helps to keep fourth floor lively. Boom—bang, turn around the corner and there's Gene. She has a large number of friends, which shows her delightful personality, as one of her best traits. She is full of inspirations and will help you in the letter line at any time. She also takes part in the square dances held after—on fourth floor. Just ask the floor supervisor.

We know that "Morton" is going to make a wonderful teacher. She has every wish for good fortune and success from every one who knows her.

HANNAH MOSER
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School

Hannah is one of the most industrious girls of the class of 1923, and if it wasn't for the merry twinkle in her eyes, you might think she was just as serious as industrious, but she is quite the contrary.

Her spirit of helpfulness and unselfishness is quite a common topic throughout the dormitory. Every morning at 6 o'clock you will find her, pouring over her books so that she may spend the remainder of the day helping others, or in answering those mysterious letters from Scranton.

Her special hobby is studying music in the girls' recreation room while the other girls go to lunch.

With all these fine characteristics, Hannah will certainly be a success in the field of teaching.

Here's success and best wishes to you in your undertakings.

NELLIE NAEGELI
Old Forge, Pa.
Old Forge High School

Nellie is a quiet, industrious sort of girl who always has everything up to date. She has a big heart, which is the kindest ever, and she will do anything for her friends. Don't draw hasty conclusions and think she is a slow and sober girl for when there is fun to be had, Nellie wants to be in the midst of it.

As a proctor she is a genius, but she seldom squelches. The girls are all good for her.

We think she will be teaching in Old Forge about next year and if so, we wish her all sorts of good luck.

KATHRYN NAYLIS
Edwardsville, Pa.
Edwardsville High School
"Kate"

Kate, Kate, we never knew her to be late."

Kate is always ready for anything. She is a very great believer in the preparedness plan. I do not remember ever having heard her say "No, it is not ready" or "No, I can not do it."

Almost never do we think of Kate without Eva or Eva without Kate.

A good pal, a clever wit and a good student combined in one very interesting girl.

BEATRICE NELSON
Hauto, Pa.
Hauto High School
"Bea"

Beatrice is little, but she has brains (and she uses them, too). She has also plenty of "pep," as those who see her perform in "gym" can testify. And her "bump" of curiosity is highly developed—for "Bea" is forever asking questions. She must know about everything which comes to her notice.

She is especially interested in the subject of sociology and plans for social welfare work are always uppermost in her mind.

"Bea" loves an argument, as the girls who travel in her direction at vacation times are aware, and she's a "whizz" at it too.

Never grouchy—always happy, a hard worker and a good sport, too—that's "the little Nelson girl," and we prophesy a brilliant future for "our Bea."

MADELINE NOACK
Moscow, Pa.
Moscow High School
"Madeline"

Madeline has been with us two years. In that short time her two great characteristics, patience and perseverance, have been revealed. She like the most of us, has had her dark hours, but in the midst of them she has stood firmly.

We can base our expectations for her fulfillment of these promises on everything that she has undertaken. One of these is her chorus work. Wherever the mixed chorus or glee club assembled, we were sure to spy out Madeline, ever ready to do her part.

No problems arising from teaching or any other great work will baffle Madeline, we know, for "Perseverance and Patience will do wonders."

MARY O'BRIEN
Miners Mills, Pa.
St. Mary's High School

Mary is one of these busy girls always working and achieving results, as is seen by her record. She is a mixture of fun and good sense and is well liked by all. She is a good friend to everyone and always has time to listen to your troubles and sympathize heartily with you.

Here are best wishes for your happiness and success, Mary.

ELSIE OPLINGER
Shickshinny, Pa.
Shickshinny High School
"Hepsy"

"Always laughing, full of fun,
Loves her teachers all but one,
With a hard task just begun,
Snaps it up and says 'It's done.'
Ready with a winsome smile
Some girl's fellow to beguile;
To her classmates she's a gem,
And will be on Adlinem."

ANNA OZELKA
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School
"Anne"

"Glance thru the pages of this book
And there you'll see how she undertook
To make the pages more complete
By applying a design upon each sheet."

And still they come from Hazleton. Yes, Anne is from that well represented city too, but the old saying is, "there is strength in numbers."

One glance at her will tell you where her talent lies. Her advice is always sought when questions of color and dress arise, for "Anne's" decision upon such lines cannot be disputed. Her ability to teach art was discovered early in her Junior year and continued throughout her Senior year.

We all wonder why our quiet little "Anne" likes second floor long hall so well. There is a very good reason. Her talent in answering phone calls is just as great as that of art.

"Anne" seems to be very quiet and dignified, but when a good time is planned she can always be depended upon to join in the fun. All those who know her love her.

Your friends, "Anne," wish you all happiness and success in your chosen career.

ELIAKIM PAINTER
Vandling, Pa.
Forest City High School
"Dusty"

Here is a student who is liked by every member of the class, and is an all around good friend. "Dusty" is also an accomplished pianist, and has served in this capacity for the Y. M. C. A. on a good many occasions. If you want to have an enjoyable hour call on "Dusty" and have him relate some stories regarding that hamlet Vandling.

During his two years stay at Bloomsburg, "Dusty" has really made a name for himself, and has always been one of the shining lights of his class. He is capable along many lines, and made a deep impression upon the minds of the training teachers.

"Dusty" intends to teach in Vandling, Pa., and there is no doubt that he will be successful in his chosen profession. Here's wishing you luck, old boy.

EFFIE PALMER
Honesdale, Pa.
Honesdale High School
"Ef"

Effie came to us from a little Wayne County village and has ambled through her course at Normal with very little grind. Her chief line of interest is Educational Measurements and she spends the greater part of her time working in the Bureau or trying to instill into the minds of her classmates something about Measurements. The latter task often proves to be a rather difficult one.

She does not work all the time, however, for she is a jolly fun-loving girl and makes use of every opportunity for having a good time.

She is very fond of teasing, as every one who has been in her company for any length of time has found out.

Effie, you're a good sport and a good friend to all and our best wishes for your success and happiness go with you.

VERA PARKER
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School
"Vera"

Eyes of blue,
Heart so true,
Vera, dear, that's you!

To whom could that sweet smile belong but to Vera? We have never known her to be cross. What a pleasure it would be to be a pupil in one of her classes! I am sure that we would all "love our teacher."

May much happiness be yours.

CORA J. PENMAN
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School
"Cora"

Cora hails from that well represented town of Hazleton and entered our class at the beginning of the Junior year to continue her education.

Cora has the appearance of being a quite studious girl, but, O my! Appearances are so deceiving! When she is feeling exceptionally happy, ask her to relate some of her Junior experiences.

Whenever we dropped a stitch or wanted to learn a new one in our knitting the usual thing to do was—go to Cora. She was ever ready to cast on stitches of a new and unique style.

Some days life at Old Normal became monotonous, and it was at such times that Cora varied the grind of work with a visit to her Aunts. Many were the happy hours we spent there.

We wish you the best of luck as a teacher, Cora, in the years to come, until you find your partner.

ELIZABETH PERRY
Duryea, Pa.
Duryea High School
"Liz"

Every single day we know her,
We love her more and more,
Every day we find her better,
Sweeter, kinder than before.

"Liz" seems to be quiet and very modest, but when you get to know her she unfolds a bark to you. At times she feels blue but in summing that up you will always find that a letter from "Fish" has not arrived in a certain length of time.

"Liz" works very hard and finds no time for nonsense. "Work before play" is her motto. She tries to help all as much as possible, that is why the "Arm twins" visit her room often.

Her present eating house is the "Texas Quick Lunch." "Oh! we might as well go in and have a 'weinee'," and that is how you happen to see her there nearly every day.

Her favorite supper at Normal is on Friday night because they serve "Fish" ???? How long "Liz" will teach remains to be told. Just wait and see.

FREDA PHILLIPS
Glen Lyon, Pa.
Newport Township High School

Freda Phillips; yes, that's her name.
Came to Bloomsburg to learn the game.
Of teaching school.
Kindergarten was her line.
In work and play she spent her time.
Teaching school.

Freda, we hope that as you venture over life's rugged pathway, you will meet with success, and claim it as yours justly earned.

RUTH PHILLIPS
Scranton, Pa.
Technical High School

"Tall, slender, and loving,
With sparkling eyes of blue,
We all love you, Ruth,
Because you are so true."

At the beginning of the second semester of our Junior year, a tall, dark-haired lassie entered our midst. This distinguished looking person happened to be Ruth, whom we have all learned to love. She proved her special ability in dramatics very early by taking part in the Junior Drama, "Nothing But the Truth."

One of Ruth's outstanding qualities is her dignified and gracious manner. Ruth is very quiet, modest girl who spends most of her leisure time alone with a good book by her side.

We are sure that Ruth will be a very successful teacher, for already her conscientiousness and love for children has led us to believe this. We wish you all kinds of luck, Ruth.

ROSE PLISCOTT
Warrior Run, Pa.
Hanover Township High School

"A smile is the light of success."

Rose is always full of fun and ready for a joke. Her spirit is indomitable. Many times Rose looks very serious when her friends know that she does not mean it. She may be serious when she has a little problem to tackle, but when she has completed it, she is thoroughly happy.

Classes and hikes would not be complete without Rose, so think the girls of the Second Group.

We extend greetings to you.

ESTHER POWELL
Nanticoke, Pa.
Nanticoke High School
"Our Bubbles"

"Jolly, happy, always gay
And this is only half
We'd like to say."

What would second floor front have done without "Bubs"? For original ideas for "arranging" rooms and trunks no one could compare with "Our Bubs."

"She's one in a thousand,
A friend good and true,
The best way to describe her
Is to say "True Blue."

"Did you ever—": Bubbles: "It's the little things that count": Miss Kingman,

One thing, Bubbles, we surely know,
"The Gang" you sure did help to grow.

Our school life was sweeter and better just for knowing you. We know you can make a success of anything you try to manage, from a man to a schoolhouse.

Best of luck, Bubs!

MARY PRATT
Nanticoke, Pa.
Nanticoke High School
"Pratty"

Brown eyes, a vamping way,
Dancing feet, a shoulder sway,
A crowd of men, a social whirl,
And you have "Pratty" a Modern girl.

"Pratty" is one of the gang who has won her way into the hearts of all who know her. She's in for all sorts of good times and she's game for anything. Her hobbies are "stacking rooms" and "sleeping," but "Pratty" never allowed her sleeping to interfere with her work!! However, she used her vacant periods to advantage.

She is a good worker when she works, but her popularity among all proves she is not doomed to be a school marm all her life.

ANNA PRICE
Danville, Pa.
Danville High School
"Pricey"

Brighter the corner where you are

"Pricey" believes in scattering sunshine wherever she goes. She is such a merry, happy-go-lucky lassie that no one can resist her. But with all her nonsense "Pricey" is an excellent student and ranks high in all her studies.

Anna loves to make dolls and other toys for kindergarten and she spends all her spare time in the Locker Room, busy with clay and paint, making her toys.

Anna is the fortunate possessor of a silvery voice, which she uses to the best advantage. We have heard that she is one of the most important members of the choir. Everyone (trailing school children and students alike) loves Anna for—

"Every day we know her
We love her more and more,
Every day we find her
Kinder, sweeter than before."

Best wishes for all that is best in life to our dear little comrade.

ANNA PURSEL
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School

This fair-haired, gray-eyed maid had scarcely joined us when she began to attract all those who met her by her sunny smile and cheerful disposition. We tried to discover the reason for these unusual traits, but finally were forced to give up in despair and decide it was just her nature. She is generous and kind-hearted, and we also happen to know that she can cook, sew, and keep house well enough to turn a Domestic Science teacher green with envy. Perhaps she will use her knowledge and keep house for her brother (?).

Whatever she does we are sure she will carry out her plans well and be successful in her work.

LOUIS PURSLEY
Laureltown, Pa.
Laureltown High School
"Pursley"

Louis has always gone his way without interfering with anybody. He entered our class in the Senior year having taught school before entering Bloomsburg. During the time he has been with us we have learned to realize that he is the possessor of qualities which usually land a man on the top rung. That Normal life is bound to change a man can well be seen in this student. Yes, "student," for he holds the record in all of his classes for being prepared.

Louis has decided views on Educational problems, and sometimes we are inclined to think that notwithstanding his avowal to the contrary he will some day be an eminent Educational Measurement expert. Unlike most of the Normal men, he doesn't devote his attentions to any of the fair sex. He is a hard working student. A good fellow is Pursley.

ELIZABETH RANSOM
Wyalusing, Pa.
Wyalusing High School
"Betty"

Betty is a great hiker and likes nothing better on cold days than to tramp to East Bloomsburg. "We wonder why?"

She has one of the sweetest dispositions of the girls in the dorm, as her many friends will affirm. She never has an unkind word for anyone. Painting is her special hobby. Ask Miss Runyan. "Betty" is lots of fun and a good sport as well as a conscientious teacher, even though she is often heard to say, "Oh, those kids will drive me wild."

In spite of this, we know she will make a splendid school teacher. May luck and the good wishes of your fellow-students go with you, Betty.

HENRIETTA REEDER
Turbotville, Pa.
Turbotville High School

If this maiden were given a choice of a square deal, she would prefer college to a good meal.

Henrietta is one of the quietest girls of our class. She has never been known to skip or even talk during study hour. Whenever you visit her you will be sure to find her hard at work with a ready statement, "can't be bothered."

Not only will you find her quiet, and kind, but a maiden that is hard to define.

We wish you "Luck," Henrietta, and may your college dreams come true.

MARGARET E. REITZEL
Williamsport, Pa.
Williamsport High School
"Peggy"

Peggy Reitzel, a sweet little lass,
Decided to join our Senior class.
From far away New York she came,
To learn and play the "kinder" game—
She's something of an artist, too,
Fact—there's not much she cannot do.
So here's to success along life's way,
Whether she teaches a year or a day.

LULU REMLEY
Lewisburg, Pa.
Lewisburg High School

Lulu was among the number 100 came to join our ranks at the beginning of our senior year. She gave some of us the impression at first that she was rather quiet and reserved, but after becoming better acquainted with her we concluded differently. She is energetic, wide awake and studious as might be guessed from her success in class work and teaching. Class work does not take all of her time, however, for she works in the dining room and is one of our most efficient waitresses. She finds time for fun and frolic as well as for work and is a valuable member of any fun-seeking party.

She has many friends, several of whom are among the opposite sex. You're a friend valued by all of your classmates, Lulu, and our wishes for success go with you.

HELEN RICHARDS
Moosic, Pa.
Scranton Central High School

"Oh, Kid!" Favorite Expression.

Helen is always busy doing some thing? She is great fun and great help. Whenever you see Helen's black eyes getting especially snappy, you may be sure something is going to happen then and there.

If there needs be any fun, Helen is there to gather it or be the fun itself.

Helen is very sympathetic. If any people need any kind of attention, she is never too busy to give it to them.

Helen has "patients" and "patience" of all kinds. She is most willing to take care of us all.

Look for Helen in any group, always happy and making everyone interested in life in general.

LEROY RICHARDS
Elysburg, Pa.
Elysburg High School

Does he look as if he were prepared for this picture? He said that he was not; evidently the "birdie" piped too soon.

We are very sorry that he has been in our midst but one year for he has been a helpful classmate and solved the difficult problem of "How to Get in the Movies Free," with the daily mail for an excuse.

We Seniors are kept quite busy, yet Leroy finds time to carry on prolonged conversations over the wire with one whom he says "is his wife." Does this account for his desertion of the Normal every week-end?

HELEN RICHIE
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School

"She isn't too proud or too haughty,
She isn't too good or too nice,
She doesn't do things that are naughty,
Nor dispense with her own good advice;
But is just a sweet, sensible sort of a girl.
The kind that all of us like."

Our best wishes go with you, Helen, when you leave the walls of this school to enter the halls of one of your own.

HELEN A. RIEGEL
Nescopeck, Pa.
Nescopeck High School

"Such a winsome lassie is she
And just as busy as a bee,
Helping others, cheering all,
All that's needed—just a call."

Such an energetic girl! Really she is always "on the go." If she is not occupied looking up specimens for nature study, you will be sure to find her planning a hike.

Ask Helen what she likes to do best of all and she will say, "Let me climb a steep, rugged mountain and when I reach its summit, find a flower—and maybe some lunch." Helen has a few "disciples," too. She is trying, like Rousseau, to bring man back to nature, and, by the results, we predict that her plans will be carried out successfully.

Helen has chosen the primary group as her special field in the teaching profession. Such a tiny, lovable girl could be none other than a great success.

Helen proved the statement to be true that, "To have a friend, we must be one." Helen's friends are numerous, indeed.

Best wishes of the class go with you,
Helen, in whatever you undertake.

ETHEL B. RIEL
Elmhurst, Pa.
Normal High School Course
"Rielly"

At length, at last we meet her,
This one with such vim and pep.
Oh! may she be successful
In what she does step by step.

Ethel's nickname, as well as her surname, is very suggestive as to kind of girl she is—a real girl and all that goes with it.

She came to Bloomsburg to finish her last year of High School work and joined us in our Junior year. She is well known, and why shouldn't she be?

We well know that she is just crazy about Ancient History (?), but that is not the only thing our "Rielly" is interested in. We will give you three guesses!!

Never mind, dear friend, you are a good sport, and even though you were so fortunate (?) as to get the chicken pox in your senior year we know that you did not cause an epidemic, for on your return to dear old Normal you found us well and happy.

We wish you success as you travel the walks of life, and may you be one to grasp every opportunity that comes your way.

BEULA ROBBINS
Shickshinny, Pa.
Shickshinny High School

Beula came to us from Shickshinny and is one of our little girls; but in this case again it is quality not quantity that counts. She has a very happy disposition and is always ready to help someone. As a result she is often called upon by classmates and friends who are in need of assistance. She is very efficient in classwork and we predict for her a bright and happy future in the teaching profession. Our best wishes for good luck go with you, Beula.

PEARL ROBBINS
Shickshinny, Pa.
Shickshinny High School

"Merry brown eyes, running over with glee.
"Snappy brown eyes are the eyes for me."

Pearl is not a very talkative girl. Perhaps this is one reason why she is so well liked. Also her bright smile attracts to her many friends. The merry twinkle in her eyes shows that she is able to appreciate a good joke even when it is lemonade and on herself.

Pearl has a way of going about her work with as little fuss as possible. She always accomplishes what she sets out to do, but this fact has not made her in the least conceited.

It is a pleasure to know Pearl, for in truth she is that "pearl of great price," a good friend.

RUTH ROBBINS
Briar Creek
Berwick High School

Ruth is well known and loved, especially among the locker room gang. In her quiet winsome way she has done a great deal toward smoothing over the difficulties of her classmates. She has been with us only during this year. But in that short time she has won her way into our hearts by her quiet, sweet smile. Keep on smiling, Ruth, and you will find that the world will smile back at you.

ELIZABETH ROBINSON
Jersey Shore, Pa.
Jersey Shore High School
"Betty"

"On second floor front, she is the girl,
Who always dispels our gloom.
Whenever we are feeling blue
We just drop into her room."

She is a brown-eyed, bob-haired maid with a pleasant smile and a merry laugh. She is one of those girls who is a friend to everybody and a friend worth having. What would Second Floor do without her? We simply can't imagine anything so dreary.

She is always ready for a good time, her studies being the least of her troubles. But with all, she's a good sport with a host of friends.

"Betty's" case?? "'Nuff sed." We all know about it. Her ambition is to specialize in languages and we see nothing but success in her path.

ADELINE ROGERS
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School
"Addie"

Adeline is one of those girls whose friendship we all wish to hold. Her loving disposition and kindheartedness are just a part of her very charming personality. She is an all around good sport and pal. Just one look at Adeline and you can decide for yourself that she is full of pep and fun.

Adeline's dark brown sparkling eyes have attracted many admiring glances from "Manley" and "State-ley" men. Adeline says she learned to love tennis last summer, but we are almost sure that there was some other incentive for playing tennis last summer.

We know that Adeline has all the best qualities for teaching, but we are afraid that she will not stay in the teaching profession very long. Luck to you, Adeline.

HENRY T. ROHDE
Dorranceton, Pa.
Dorranceton High School
"Thorndike"

"Thorndike" is a veritable "battering ram" in a football game. During his stay with us he has contributed very much to the success of our football team. In spite of his knocking ability he possesses ideas, which no human being is capable of fathoming.

He has a great love for music, being a great violinist—next to Kreisler. While playing in church, his soul is in his music, but his thoughts are about a certain one in the congregation. He also possesses a very fine voice— for a huckster wagon.

"Thorndike's" interests run along different lines: Science, Music, and even along the feminine line.

Last Fall Henry was struck by a "Carr" and his heart was pretty badly damaged, but in spite of this injury Henry is seen traveling around better than ever. He also has a great interest in afternoon hikes, especially if he has company.

Henry is a dependable young man and no matter what you ask him to do you may be sure it will be done right.

Here is luck, "Old Top," we know that you will be a success in life.

DILYS P. ROWLANDS
Edwardsville, Pa.
Edwardsville High School
"Dil"

Besides being the "happy go lucky pal," "Dil" is Captain of the Senior Basketball team. She was a weakling when she joined our class last year, but this year has become a member of the well known heavy four of the school. Dil takes a great delight in playing basketball and was the outstanding star in the game between the Juniors and Seniors last year. Her great delight is mainly eating and sleeping until the sun is well up. "Dil" has shown us that she has a musical voice and often entertained us with her delightful singing.

ELIZABETH RUDDY
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School
"Betty"

Have you been fortunate enough to fall under the spell of two large shining blue orbs which speak so expressively for their owner that she seldom finds it necessary to exercise her vocal cords? When you refer to eyes at B. S. N. S., everyone must immediately conjure a picture of our sweet, lovable "Betty."

It might be in accord to mention some of her admirable characteristics, but since the eyes are said to be "the windows of the soul," I advise you to take a peep for yourself.

At present "Betty" pretends to be satisfied with her chosen profession. But even a casual observer would be inclined to predict that she would branch off into something more interesting in less than two years.

Incidentally, did you know that "Betty" regards all golf courses affectionately?

ELIZABETH RUEPPEL
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre High School

Oh! That is Elizabeth. She is full of wonder and is surprised at almost everything. But nevertheless we like Elizabeth. She is a meek and quiet little girl who says not much, but smiles a great deal. She is the girl of whom it may be said, "Still water runs deep."

Elizabeth likes teaching and says that she intends to make it her profession. Well, it may be so. But from reports and from observation, we hardly think it will be permanent, but if you really desire it to be so, Elizabeth, we are with you in wishing you the best of success.

HARRY D. SCHLEGEL
Montrose, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School
"Schlegel"

Now we introduce to you another of our married men, one who decided that single life was not thrilling enough and during the summer vacation of '22, he took unto himself a wife.

Harry is well acquainted with life at Bloomsburg, having spent three years here and it was during his first year at this institution that he met the one who was destined to be his "better half."

Harry always took an active part in all school activities and was a very valuable football man during his stay here.

Harry has always been a good student and his work at Bloomsburg insures us that he will be a successful teacher. Harry intends to teach at Montrose and we congratulate this thriving county seat of Susquehanna on its good fortune in securing such a valuable man.

GEORGE P. SCHWARTZ, JR.
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School
"Punk"

"Music hath its charm to soothe the savage beast."

Music is "Punk's" hobby and whether it be a piece of "Jazz" or a classical selection, the ivories respond nobly to his touch, and his playing in the boy's recreation room shall always be remembered.

During his Junior year he also endeavored to perform on the bass violin, but Coach failed to appreciate his efforts. Besides being an artist in music, George is also an artist of color, and one peculiar thing about him is the fact that he likes "Red," no matter what color it is.

"Punk" is also the inventor of the radiator-radio, as he is found frequently operating on the pipes in room 400.

George has many good qualities and he demonstrated the stuff he is made of on the football field during the past two seasons with us. For his future we can only wish and predict a brilliant career.

GRACE E. SEELEY
Nescopeck, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School
"Bobbie" "Chum"

"Full of pep,
With a mighty good 'rep,'
That's Chum."

When you hear a hearty laugh approaching, look for Grace. Perhaps she has received a letter or maybe she is up to one of her tricks again. Never mind, "Bobbie," we surely would miss your welcome smile and many times your jokes have cheered us.

We predict for her the life of an artist, whether it be painting a great Madonna or decorating some snug little home. We wonder!

Whatever be your lot, Grace, we see success awaiting you and the class of '23 join in a hearty welcome to wish thee well.

SADIE SHAUGHNESSY
Glen Lyon, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School

"When she uses her Irish wit,
The girls will almost take a fit.
Yes, she is of the gayest sort,
A really truly, 'gosh darn' sport."

Sadie is spending her fourth year at Normal; she took her high school course here and joined our band in '21. She has a pleasing personality and has a host of friends.

Her favorite question to the elevator boy is, "Has the last bell rung yet?" She always waits till it is time for the bell before she starts, but somehow or other always gets to class on time.

The girls on fourth, front hall seem to enjoy her aesthetic dancing very much. Just ask them about it. She always has her lights out at ten (???)

Her favorite dressing room is the back steps in the morning and she is most always one of the last ones to breakfast. The people at her table seem to enjoy her jokes.

She seems to have some attraction in the Poconos, because when asked where she intends to spend the summer, her answer is "Poconos." While at home she spends part of her time in Pittston, but the attraction there is one of her favorite "Pocono" girl friends.

JOY SHEATS
Lewisburg, Pa.
Laurelton High School
"Sheatsie"

Do you want advice in the selection of a piece of furniture, an artistic design for some garment, or the correct fireplace for your new home? If so, just apply to Sheats and get the most genuine "inside" information. Perhaps you will be called upon to choose a good design for use in the decoration of your schoolroom. Add this name to your already bounteous bibliography on all subjects. "Sheatsie" certainly did exceptional work in Art Appreciation class.

Since he joined the class only last fall, after attending Summer School, he has played on the football team and has made a fine showing.

Sheats attended Hess' S. S. with great regularity, or, in so far as it was possible for him to attend.

He has been a truthful boy in our knowledge of him, but, in spite of all our trust in him, we'll expect him to die lyin' when th' sad day arrives.

Art's my middle name!

ALICE SHIPMAN
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Shippy"

"Though you are not tall,
Dear 'Shippy,' true friend,
And are daily seen racing through the hall,
We know the 'why'? is not always 'classes to attend.'"

Alice is one of our lovable girls whose disposition is sunny when she is not overtaxed with reference books to read. She has a host of friends in school and out.

That is not all. She is one of our dependable girls. Whenever a task is assigned for her to do, remember she will do it if she is half-starved, half-asleep or half-sick. Whatever she undertakes, she accomplishes.

The senior class is noted for its many class meetings, yet "Shippy" is always present. Could you tell us why??? Strange as well as precious things come in small packages.

Never mind, "Shippy," with work there must be play. Doubtless success awaits you in the future, especially teaching little children. Here's the best of luck and success to you for a bright and happy future.

CHRISTINE SMITH
Catawissa, Pa.
Catawissa High School
"Tiney"

"Dimples were always snarles,
And "Tiney" has her full share;
Indeed her charms are not in vain,
For she has captured the heart of many a swain."

"Tiney" complains of the eight o'clock class every morning because she says she loses her beauty sleep, but we fail to see the reason for such a complaint with all those dimples.

Yes, she is a good sport and we always see her present on every occasion whether it be for work or mischief.

ESTHER SMITH
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School

Esther entered our class in 1922 after one year of teaching experience.

We have learned to know Esther as a studious person, but she has a fun-loving turn, too, if you know her well.

She is quite a poet when she may use a jolly subject.

Although she seems very much in earnest in her work during the day, we can tell you something if you promise not to squeal on her. (She doesn't always study evenings.) I wonder why?

She is greatly interested in Kindergarten and Primary work. That's all right, Esther. Success.

HELEN SMITH
Berwick, Pa.
Berwick High School

Behold, gentle reader, another future school teacher from Berwick!

Helen has two bad habits. First, she forgets easily. Never a day goes by unless Helen is heard asking, "Now what did I do with that?" Perhaps in years to come, she may overcome this fault. At present she seems to be getting worse. May we suggest a little of Dr. Coue's theory?

Then, too, she is perpetually singing and talking in her sleep. Someone has constantly to waken her, fearing a nervous breakdown. Well, she won't be sleeping (?) when she teaches.

Well, there are lots of things worse than either of the above, so don't give up, Helen! You counteract your faults with virtues too numerous to mention.

J. FRANKLIN SMITH
Beach Haven, Pa.
Hazleton High School
"Reverend"

All hail, the Reverend enters. Let me introduce you to a young man who is especially liked by the members of the faculty. All of our class has not become acquainted with him as yet because he is a day student. He is a Methodist minister in the metropolis of Beach Haven. Of course it is good to have a minister present at all times, but this one has proved of very little assistance to the class, for, on all occasions when he was needed, he was found fast asleep. However, he is a good all around sport, full of fun and a worker. For several years he has served the Methodist Church in an able manner and no doubt will continue in his good work. All who know him join in wishing him success in life.

ANABEL SOBER
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 Bloomsburg High School

Here is one of the best all around girls in the world. We all know that she fulfills every requirement of a good friend.

Anabel is always ready for a good time and is one of our most ardent football fans.

Then, there is the Paige, too! Anabel and her car have added much to our good times.

"Pipe down there!" Ever heard that before? If you haven't you don't know Anabel.

ELIZABETH SODON
 Plains, Pa.
 Plains High School
 "Sodon"

"Sodon" just bubbles over with fun and ideas. When you are in great need of an idea, go to "Sodon." To tell the truth, she might give you an idea about how to create disturbances because she is known as the "ring-leader" of the "Boys' Dorm Gang."

If ever there was a single individual on whom Providence bestowed many traits of character, certainly that favored one was "Sodon." Peppy, attractive, pleasant, capable, energetic, and a willing helper, she creates an atmosphere of kindness wherever she goes.

"She can dance and she can sing.
 For what 'Sodon' can do is everything."

GERTRUDE SPLAIN
Orlean, N. Y.
Orlean High School
"Gert"

"Careful, patient, and refined,
Was never known to be unkind."

We don't know "Gert" very well, for she hides behind a wall of quiet reserve. Her fingers are never idle; neither are her brains. Our quaint and quiet little maiden with nut-brown hair and bright blue eyes, has a big supply of common sense and an unfailing source of good humor, yet she is a thorough, conscientious student and does not allow trivial things to interrupt her work as most of us do.

"Gert" is really a queen of hearts, if we can judge from the outside information volunteered, for many a youth, it seems, follows faithfully in wake of her short steps. May success and happiness follow you ever, "Gert"!

HELEN SUTLIFF
Bloomsburg, Pa.
B. S. N. S. High School

Helen has an advantage. She has a home off campus yet on campus. We often envy her because she may sit on her porch and view us yet across the street and be with us.

To live in town is a disadvantage for most girls because they miss so much fun, but we really feel that Helen lives under ideal conditions.

She is always ready for fun, though even her work in the Kindergarten is a pleasure for her.

We always feel as if Helen had chosen most wisely in her selection of Primary work.

Heaps of success and happiness are our wishes for her.

WENDELL SWARTZ
Milton, Pa.
Milton High School
"Swartz"

Whenever this young man enters a room, he seems to carry with him a brisk breeze of cheerfulness, which has the power to dispel any clouds of gloom that may have settled upon the occupants. A frown has no chance for existence in the presence of his good-natured grin.

His friendly spirit has a practical manifestation in his willingness to help others. This willing disposition he carries with him wherever he goes. Perhaps this is the reason why his favorite expression is "all right." He seems to enter whole-heartedly into the task at hand. In classroom he maintains an open mind; he is ready to listen to constructive criticism, which fact we think is an indication of future success.

Wendell does not like to be held in suspense, witness his declaration, "Give me liberty or give me death."

MARY SWEENEY
Shenandoah, Pa.
Shenandoah High School

Mary's ever ready wit and good-natured ways have won her many friends. Mary takes matters in an easy-going way. She is naturally bright and can get through pell mell with little effort and worry. Her teaching in the Training School has been so splendid that we are sure she will be a credit to B. S. N. S. wherever she goes.

Mary is determined and quite capable of taking her own part when occasion arises. She is also willing to help her friends out of difficulties and can always be depended upon as a helper in times of need. She's a good sport in times of fun and frolic.

We all admire Mary for her frankness in dealing with everyone and as she goes forth in life, the very best wishes of the class of '23 go with her.

MABEL H. SWETTMAN
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School

"'Tis the greatest folly,
Not to be jolly."

For heaven's sake, please close that door! Look what the wind blew into our midst! That is the way Mabel has been coming in ever since her arrival from Hazleton High School in our Junior Year.

Mabel is a jolly girl, always ready for a good time, especially to eat. Now, do not think she lives to eat, for she often manages on two meals a day, with breakfast omitted, of course. She is never really quiet unless she is asleep and then—but perhaps you have heard her.

During our Senior year Mabel held the position of fire-chief on Fourth floor. We shall never forget the night the false alarm rang and, poor girl, she feared some would perish in the flames, or be fined fifty cents, so she rubbed her knuckles through pounding on the doors. When everyone was ready—"Girls"—was heard, and we scampered into our rooms.

Perhaps you think that Mabel never studies. Quite the contrary. When there is anything to be done, she never hesitates to do it. She is always ready to lend a helping hand to her fellow classmates.

May we wish you a happy and prosperous future.

MARGARET TALBOT
Shickshinny, Pa.
Shickshinny High School
"Peg"

Peg is undefinable. But we know what she was made for—to love and to be loved. Her smile—it is irresistible. Her disposition—it is incomparable. Her manner—is perfect. Her ways—they are "ways of pleasantness and peace."

Wherever she may be, in the school room or in the home, she will be a real queen.

ELIZABETH THOMAS
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School
"Liz-but"

"Liz-but's" interests are divided between her celebrated thesis on the "art of mimeographing" and her research work in the profound field of finding an alibi for overweights. If we were not sure of Elizabeth's altogether charming and sparkling good nature, we would be afraid of treading on dangerous grounds. Whenever Elizabeth is going to utter words of wisdom, you may be sure that she will begin "Now, ah, listen" (rather Clarenceish, like) which will be muscicularly accompanied by her individual mannerism, "her gentle boxing bout," as she designates it. You may judge from that, that she possesses wit—a naive wit it is which usually culminates in her executing a series of comic dances. We like you best when you are funny, but sometimes when you stare into space we wonder what you see in the far beyond. For ourselves, we are sure you will be successful in anything you attempt for you're sure to find the bright side of life.

GRACE THOMAS
Ringtown, Pa.
Ringtown High School
"Tommy"

There is a little maid named Grace
Who is very fair of face
Her disposition's sweet,
I swear it can't be beat,
For ev'ryone doth love our Grace.

"Tommy" makes friends wherever she goes. What's more she keeps them! Her cheerful and obliging ways will prove a great asset to her, not only as a teacher, but also in the community which she will grace with her presence.

Grace always does well whatever she attempts. She is versatile and readily adapts herself to circumstances. We gladly give her our love and best wishes for success.

RUTH THOMAS
Hazleton, Pa.
Hazleton High School

When we think of Ruth a jovial, agreeable girl is brought to our minds. Her sympathy is abounding and her charm equally as great.

No, her hair is not red, but just a glint of gold, and we are sure it will be the cause of some good man's downfall.

Judging from her popularity among the children she has already taught, there is no doubt about her future success.

EVELYN THOMPSON
Millersburg, Pa.
Millersburg High School
"Eva"

"A friend in need is a friend indeed."
And this is true of Eva.

Whenever you want something done and done well, go to Eva. We always think of her as the one who can sew, cook, in fact do most anything we really want done.

Eva is always busy working; she is mighty studious. To us this is a rare mixture worthy of great praise.

Last year we scarcely knew her, but true to the old saying "still water runs deep," we find her now a jolly, helpful, true friend.

DOROTHY TITMAN
Dimmock, Pa.
Dimmock High School

"Hello, kids." That is our Dot. Her gracious smile and winning ways have made Dot a favorite with all her Dorm pals and others too.

You ought to see Dot playing tennis, basketball, and baseball. She can skate, too, as we have heard. But that is not all. If Dot had not come to Normal with us, we should indeed have been very much the poorer for not having heard her play the piano. She has, as they say, "a soul for music," and when she takes her position on a camp stool in front of the piano in the gym, and puts her nimble fingers to the keys, not one in the gym is able to make his feet behave.

We wish you the best of luck, Dot, and hope you may some day win fame through your musical talents.

ANNE KATHRYN TOWNSEND
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Kay"

"A tiny bit plump and not very tall.
Kay is a girl who is liked by us all."

We hear that Kathryn is making a success of her teaching in the Training School. Perhaps fond remembrances of her own days as a "Model" etc. enable her to better understand and deal with her pupils and their pranks.

Recently "Kay" acquired a fraternity pin, which leads us to believe that she has already picked out her future mate.

Whatever the future holds for her, we hope it brings her much happiness.

MYRA TREBILCOX
Plymouth, Pa.
Plymouth High School
"Skakky"

Ladies and Gentlemen!—

Myra comes from the metropolis of Plymouth. She is an all around good natural lass and a very bright student. We shall always love her and will never forget that she was the organizer of the S.S.O. society.

Myra is a great reader, as has been proven by her almost daily visit to the town library; but we must not fail to mention her "teasing" and "knitting" ability also.

We wish her much success in her teaching profession and may she never lose her cheery manner and winning disposition.

HAZLE TROY
Mifflinville, Pa.
Berwick High School

Do not gaze too long at this captivating face or you are sure to "fall for" Hazle. Dimples surely do have an attraction for the weak and the strong. Hazle is a very popular girl and has a place in the heart of every student.

At present she expects to be a primary teacher, but something tells us that some day Prince Charming will put in his appearance and then—

"And they lived happily ever after!"

CELIA RITA TUFFY
Scranton, Pa.
Central High School
"Cel"

A fleeting glimpse of vivacity:
A jaunty walk,
A dazzling smile,
Two bewitching eyes
Fringed with lashes of black.
She!
A girl of girls,
Our "Cel."

"To know her is to love her" is very applicable to "Cel." for everyone admits that the better you know her the more you love her.

Cel is a member of the proverbial "gang." Her keen sense of humor and unselfishness have meant much to those who are fortunate enough to be numbered among her friends.

Cel's efficiency as a playground instructress must not be passed by lightly. Weston Field kiddies have much to thank Cel for.

If you are looking for a real friend and one who will stick by you, take a tip from us and get acquainted with —"Cel."

CORDELIA VANCE
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Cordy"

A form more fair, a face more sweet,
Ne'er has it been my lot to meet.
This blonde has a smile which we very much fear
Will draw brunettes from afar and near."

To her acquaintances, Cordelia appears reserved and quiet, but those who know her best realize that she is full of life and real fun. She is one of the bright lights of the class and is always ready to do a little more than is asked of her. She studies hard and still finds time to take part in many school activities. We wish "Cordy" a most successful career as a "school marm," although we doubt???

ELISHA VANDERSLICE
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 B. S. N. S. Commercial Course
 "Lish"

"Lookut!" gasped a small training school pupil. A large car rolled up to the portals of the Normal and a dignified gentleman appeared. Señor Vanderslice arrived thus at school each day, for he is a day student and lives a short distance outside of town.

He is a favorite among the ladies—to make narrow a very broad statement—a favorite especially with one young lady. She and "Lish" have spent many a profitable hour together in the seclusion of the Juvenile Department of the library.

Vanderslice has been of great assistance in the office of Mr. Irvin as Grand Torturer of the Typewriter.

In his practice teaching, he first handed "Gym" a knockout blow, after which he met "Art" and conquered him.

A fine fellow he is, and one who justly deserves the success which he will eventually attain.

"The Country Gentleman."

VIOLET VAN DEMPLAS
 Scranton, Pa.
 Central High School

"Holy Cats." Something has gone wrong with Vi again because this is her danger signal. Vi is a quiet, not very peppy looking girl from outside appearances but all those who frequent room 225 know differently. That reminds us, we are wondering why there are so many mysterious visitors at the above mentioned room. They say Vi is psychic? so that, with the help of some cards, leads us to have our suspicions.

Vi has become a rather proficient training school teacher, and we sincerely hope that she may continue to be so until she meets with her fate.

MARION WATKINS
Taylor, Pa.
Taylor High School
"Dick"

"Dick is one of the stars that light the musical realm of Bloomsburg. When anything concerning music comes up, "Dick" always shines, but not only here does she shine, for she is always "a present help in the time of trouble." Although she doesn't believe in doing things before they really have to be done, by some special guiding providence she always does them in the eleventh hour.

We know "Dick" will be successful in the future, for she always has been in the past. If ever you need a real, true friend just call on "Dick." When she goes out from B. S. N. S., the hearts of '23 go with her.

FAYE WEAVER
Dalmatia, Pa.
Dalmatia High School

Faye's high school was Dalmatia.
And a graduate of '21.
Now her zenith is teaching
After the Normal work is done.
Though being a member of Philo.
And active in Y. W. C. A.
Her interest is keen in Radio
And in the Rural Club has her say.
Our Faye is winsome and friendly,
Says little but is very deep;
When you know her, you will find her
Just the friend you want to keep.
Every single day we know her
We love her more and more,
Every day we find her sweeter,
But kind and quiet as before.
It's true she isn't very tall,
In fact, she's rather short,
But she is studious right along,
If observation is true report.
And as for some characteristic
She spends most of her week-ends at home,
"Just why?" may be your question,
But this we won't tell in our poem
Since Group 1 she has chosen,
And it seems good to tell,
There's one more thing to add
And that, we wish her well.

LUCY WEIKEL
Ringtown, Pa.
Ringtown High School

With a sunny disposition,
Bright and always full of "pep,"
It's Lucy that you mention,
For she always had the pep!
Where's Adelia?

When snappy, bright-eyed Lucy first made her appearance at B. S. N. S., she soon gathered about her a host of friends. Her famous question now is "Where's Adelia?" Adelia is her bosom friend. She believes in the old saying, "Love is the only fire against which there is no life insurance."

Lucy has every trait that is really necessary to make a very good school teacher. "Men are all alike to her," she says, but we know of one from State whose letters are very welcome and cherished more than all the others.

Lucy believes in doing good to all, but if you ever cross her path you are sure to be squelched.

Nevertheless, she believes in having a good time and she usually is accompanied home on the week-ends by a host of friends. Her motto is "Be on time for classes" and we are sure that when the class of '23 parts very few will forget our dear "Lucy Weikel."

CLINTON WEISENFLUH
Rendham, Pa.
Old Forge High School
"Flu"

Behold Tiny Tim! Flu, as he is familiarly known, is one of the best liked men in the "dorm." He is a musician of rare ability and, as one of the directors of the Training School Orchestra, acquired nation-wide fame. No doubt after his departure from here he will take up this splendid work in his home town. Clinton has always been active in athletics, was one of the outstanding players on the football team and his work on the field contributed greatly to its success.

If you were a stranger visiting in the "dorm" you would have no trouble locating this gentleman because he stands seven feet four in his stocking feet, and it is rumored that after an extended tour with Ringling Brothers Circus he intends to settle down and teach the young ones—???

During his stay with us Clinton has always proved a good friend and a student. He is one who can always be depended upon and nothing but success can come to him in his chosen profession.

JENNINGS WELLIVER

Berwick, Pa.

Berwick High School

"Jinx"

As has been said before—somewhere, sometime—"it is altogether fitting and proper" that we should list here the chiefest of Jennings' virtues, abilities, and class contributions.

He performed a highly satisfactory service in the office of assistant collector of the dragon's teeth paid in the form of class dues during our Junior year.

Then, too, he figures in an outstanding manner in that famous interclass football match. "How many can"—remember? Truly, however, he is much more luminous as a star in basketball in his home town.

The work Jennings did in decorating for a school event proves his ability in Art and his appreciation of the right thing in that and on other subjects.

He's an all-round agreeable commuter—even though he is privileged on that score—being one of the few who may come in late without being warmly greeted with a warning to mend his procrastinating ways.

Since he was steadily employed in showing several groups of pupils in Berwick what to learn and how to accomplish that learning, Jennings has gained much valuable experience in teaching.

"Just a real good—sport."

MAUDE WELLIVER

Bloomsburg, Pa.

B. S. N. S. High School

Maude is the happy, jolly girl that you think of from her picture. Of course there are times when sparks fly from her brown eyes and she squeals properly, but we'll not mention such things here.

If you want a bunch of grit, pluck, ambition, and "stick-to-it-iveness" just go to Maude. She is the happy combination of all of these. We find her true blue as a friend, and she is coolly aloof to an enemy.

She is not telling what she expects to do, but we wish her luck and success in whatever it is.

JOSEPHINE WESLEY
Sweet Valley, Pa.
Sweet Valley High School

Josephine is another member who came to us in our Senior year, and she is one of the quiet members of the class (?).

She had already taught and, soon after she came here, her ability was discovered and she was selected as teacher of a High School English class.

Josephine's highest ambition is to specialize in English. We wish her success and hope in the near future she will receive her A.M. or Ph.D.

RHODA WESLEY
Sweet Valley, Pa.
Sweet Valley High School

Everywhere that Rhoda goes,
A Buick is sure to "went."
For Rhoda has a Berwick beau,
And on courtship he is bent.

Rhoda came to us from Sweet Valley in her Senior year. She taught in Berwick and likes the town very much, for some reason. She is a faithful student during the week, but we are inclined to believe that she enjoys her Sundays more than the rest of us, for it is a rumor that a Buick frequents North Street where she boards. Nevertheless, we are all willing to agree she is a "peach" of a girl and we extend our wishes for many more rides and "heaps" of success.

ELIZABETH WHITBY
Edwardsville, Pa.
Edwardsville High School
"Bets"

"Bets" is a girl of the rarest type. Giggling is her main delight. She giggles here, she giggles there. She giggles almost everywhere. Yet to live with her none can compare To the girl with dark brown curly hair.

But that is not the only side of her nature, for she can be serious too. And loyalty is another trait—loyalty to everything and everybody. She never was known to speak unkind words or do unkind deeds. Our best wishes go with you in anything you may do.

GRACE WILLIAMS
Catawissa, Pa.
Catawissa High School

"Two bright blue eyes you'll see
Above her chubby cheeks,
Why she writes so many science notes
Just keeps us guessing—works."

As we do not meet Grace in the dormitory we must gain our impression of her in the classroom. She is an admirer of music only when scales and sequentials are excluded.

Her favorite saying as she comes up the hill in the morning is "Gee, it's cold."

Here's hoping Grace will meet the problems of teaching with the same seriousness as she has met those of school.

LEONA WILLIAMS
Sweet Valley, Pa.
Loyalville High School
"Lee"

"Lee" has chosen rural work and we are sure she will make a successful teacher. When anything is to be done in the Rural Club, Lee is always ready to help.

She believes in the saying, "Laugh and the world laughs with you," and so her corner is always happier because she is in it. We hope that laugh will never wear out for want of use.

We all think "Lee" is a fine girl and we wish her happiness and good luck.

MARION WILLIAMS
Shickshinny, Pa.
Shickshinny High School
"Marion"

"How far that little candle throws its beams."

All who know Marion, and those who come to know her, will recognize the application of this bit of verse from Shakespeare. She thoroughly believes in scattering sunshine, and her favorite song is "Brighten the Corner Where You Are."

However, they do say that as a teacher, she wears the "Robe of Dignity" surprisingly well, and promises to be a prime success.

"Shine on little star, 'Tis better to shine than to cast a shadow."

HELEN WOLF
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School

There is in our class an exceedingly quiet lassie who is wonderfully industrious. She always knows her lessons and is always on time.

Please do not infer from the above that Helen is a "goody good" for she is not. Because of her willingness to work and her many fine qualities we know she will succeed and we wish her all the luck possible.

"Step this way and feast your eyes Upon a girl both busy and wise."

ROBERT WOLFE
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Bloomsburg High School
"Bob"

No circle is complete without amateur performers or entertainers of some description. Fortunately the class of 1923 is not found lacking when Robert is present. Listen to his jokes, watch him carry out his tricks, and you will know him. On the stage he is unsurpassed. Ballet dancing, with a newspaper wrapped about him for a skirt, is a favorite performance. His renowned distinction as an actor is based upon his ability to change from a sanctimonious bishop pleading for money, to a submissive victim of Maggie's rolling pin. His jokes and artistic drawings would change the expression on the face of a saint. However, all is not nonsense with Robert; he works rapidly if you are successful enough to get him started. He renders valuable service to the "Bureau of Research" as a stenographer and entertainer. Here's hoping Robert's humor will spread far and wide.

KATHERINE WOLVERTON
 Bloomsburg, Pa.
 Genesee Wesleyan Seminary

"A sunny disposition and lots and lots of glee,
 Makes a joyful, joyful maiden,
 And such a maid is she."

If you see someone always hurrying about full of pep and enthusiasm, you will know that it is "K." She is now striving earnestly to be a school teacher, but judging from the frequency of letters, with the postmark "Ann Arbor," her school teaching days will soon be over. "K" is one of our wit-tiest, merriest girls and a true friend to everyone.

LESTER YEAGER
 Roaring Creek, Pa.
 Roaring Creek High School
 "Les"

Lester is one of our jolliest classmates. Always good natured, therefore a favorite with everyone.

His stay with us was very brief, although he speedily acquired friends.

He has a very enticing smile which has captured the hearts of many fair damsels in the Senior Class.

He does not believe in doing things halfway and comes to the aid of everyone in distress, especially in the Industrial Arts course.

He does not easily get excited but is one of those easy-going fellows who takes things as they come.

He is a man from whom we expect great things in the future and we wish him success in everything he undertakes.

JEAN YOUNG
Alden Station
Newport Township High School
"Jean"

"Jean" is the proprietor of the "gossip joint" on third floor annex. Her room has had a bad standing with Miss Kingman at various times in its history—but the joke of it is, that it isn't Jean who makes the noise, but her guests who do it.

"Jean" is really a quiet girl, though you wouldn't suspect it when you see her. When she does say something, everyone sits up and takes notice, until in a minute they realize, by the twinkle in her eye, that she is only teasing someone. She smiles at everyone, and invariably greets you with, "Hello, sweetie." I don't know why we all like her, but we do, and she is planning to waste that lovely disposition and sparkling humor in kindergarten teaching.

To the rescue, brave knight!

RHODA YOUNG
Northumberland, Pa.
Northumberland High School
"Rhoda M"

Rhoda is an ambitious and studious member of the 1923 class, although she is jolly enough when not in class.

By her pleasing disposition Rhoda has won a host of friends at B. S. N. S.

She is very much interested in primary work and spends all her spare time working in the primary grades. We know that Rhoda is sure to succeed in her life's work and we all wish her the best of success.

JOSEPH ZELLOE
 Jeanesville, Pa.
 Hazle Township High School
 "Joe"

Joseph entered B. S. N. S. through the front entrance and registered as a junior in September in 1921.

Last year he won a place as twirler on our varsity nine. We are placing our hopes for the success of this spring season of baseball on Joe's arm.

Tenacity is one of Joe's strong points. He practices daily on his saxophone. He plays so well that we who are educated less in music can not see any improvement. There is one piece he never misses in his daily work out. It brings tears to our eyes when we think of it. It is Schubert's Serenade. It certainly is emotional. The author knows one person who commits murder mentally every time he hears it.

Joseph has a very high educational quotient, and is well thought of by all members of the class.

HELEN A. ZERBE
 Scranton, Pa.
 Technical High School
 "Babs"

"Here's to Helen, a girl true blue Game for everything, a sport right through."

In her friendship, there is nothing insincere. To be liked by all who know her is the highest compliment we owe her. She has won through her cheery disposition and winning smile a host of friends during her two years' stay at Normal. One of Helen's redeeming features is her never-ending flow of conversation. She also thinks that a woman who does her own thinking needs but little advice. Aside from studying, she is very keen on hiking, tennis, and dancing, and football games away from home (?). Another of her favorite pastimes is stacking rooms. Helen's motto is "A light heart lives long." She believes the world loves a spice of wickedness.

Helen intends to teach a while, and then teach some more; but I doubt it, for her heart line shows that she will never lead an old maid's life. Beware, Jack!

LYDIA ZIMOLZAK
Glen Lyon, Pa.
Newport Township High School
"Zimie"

Zimie is tall but not so prim,
She is a wizard when it comes to
"gym."
She's happy mostly, sometimes blue,
She dances much, and laughs some too.
To Zimie we all turn as to a big sister
Because she's so full of pep and of ginger.
In baseball one of the captains is she
And Oh! How proud we are on her team to be.
She is a real sport, so loyal and true.
Whatever she promises that she will do.
All those who will meet her
Will greet her with cheer;
So of her future we need have no fear.

THE CAGE OF LIFE

This life is but a gilded, sparkling cage,
Wherein we mortals fly about on wing
Trying to find some overlooking stage Whose exit may furnish freedom to sing.

We, as birds are so constrained to dwell
Within this infinitesimal sphere,
Whose bare, resounding walls echo to tell
The mournful message of a life so drear.

But how the walls do echo the sweet song,
Of the winged bird escaped from its lair,
And seems to sing of freedom from earthly care.
Oh, let us strive to thrust open the door,
And rise to unknown heights forever-more.

"DADDY" GROTZ

Row of Poplar Trees

Like stalwart knights, majestic and sublime,
Like soldiers tall, unruffled in their glory,
Like world-wise peers, recorders of all time
You stand to tell the world its story.

You give us strength to fight the battle nobly,
To stand before the world all unafraid,
To bear the triumph well, but not too boldly,
When all is done and won and shadows fade.

You show to me that gallant soldier horde
Who fought "in Flander's field, in Flander's field,"
A million hearts that beat with one accord
The world from grave oppression grim to shield.

I needs must think to look upon your span,
How Nature is but prototype of man.

—M. CABO.

Friendship

It is not what we say or hear or sing,
That makes our lives while here unbroken,
Tho' ev'ry charm of life we yet—will bring,
May be to some as friendship's token.

We bring to others what our garden grows,
The world where all is bright with fragrant flowers,
Thanks for the pretty myrtle and the rose,
For their silent but never ceasing powers.

And so we cannot deem it wholly right,
Some happiness which others might have dared,
To take from all the glad and bright sunlight,
Had better far to them been ever spared.

If this our Friendship we will always give
Our lives have been for us worth while to live.

JUNIOR CLASS

Junior Class

COLORS—Broken and Gold

FLOWER—Black Eyed Susan

Stop, Look and Listen, for here comes the "Class of '24." We entered Bloomsburg Normal on September 18th two hundred and seventy strong, determined to reach the highest pinnacle of success.

Before having time to get acquainted with the place, we were called together to take the usual intelligence tests. These tests revealed to the world that the Juniors' intelligence was as good as the average and that they always could be depended upon to hold their own.

When Coach Mead called for football practice many Juniors were on deck to help make our victorious team. When the season ended and the time came for the awarding of the sweaters with "B's," the following Junior men received them: Schwall, Brotherston, Boyle, Nancarrow, Partridge, Lawson and Lerda. The following were awarded the Numeral "22": Kane, Haggerty, Walakonis, Laubach. Brotherston was elected Captain to pilot the team for the coming season.

We are strongly represented on the Basketball team by Schwall, Brotherston, Lerda, Sincavage and Boyle. Schwall, who has been playing a wonderful game, was elected Captain for this season.

When the baseball season arrives, we look forward to seeing the peppy Juniors well represented on our team.

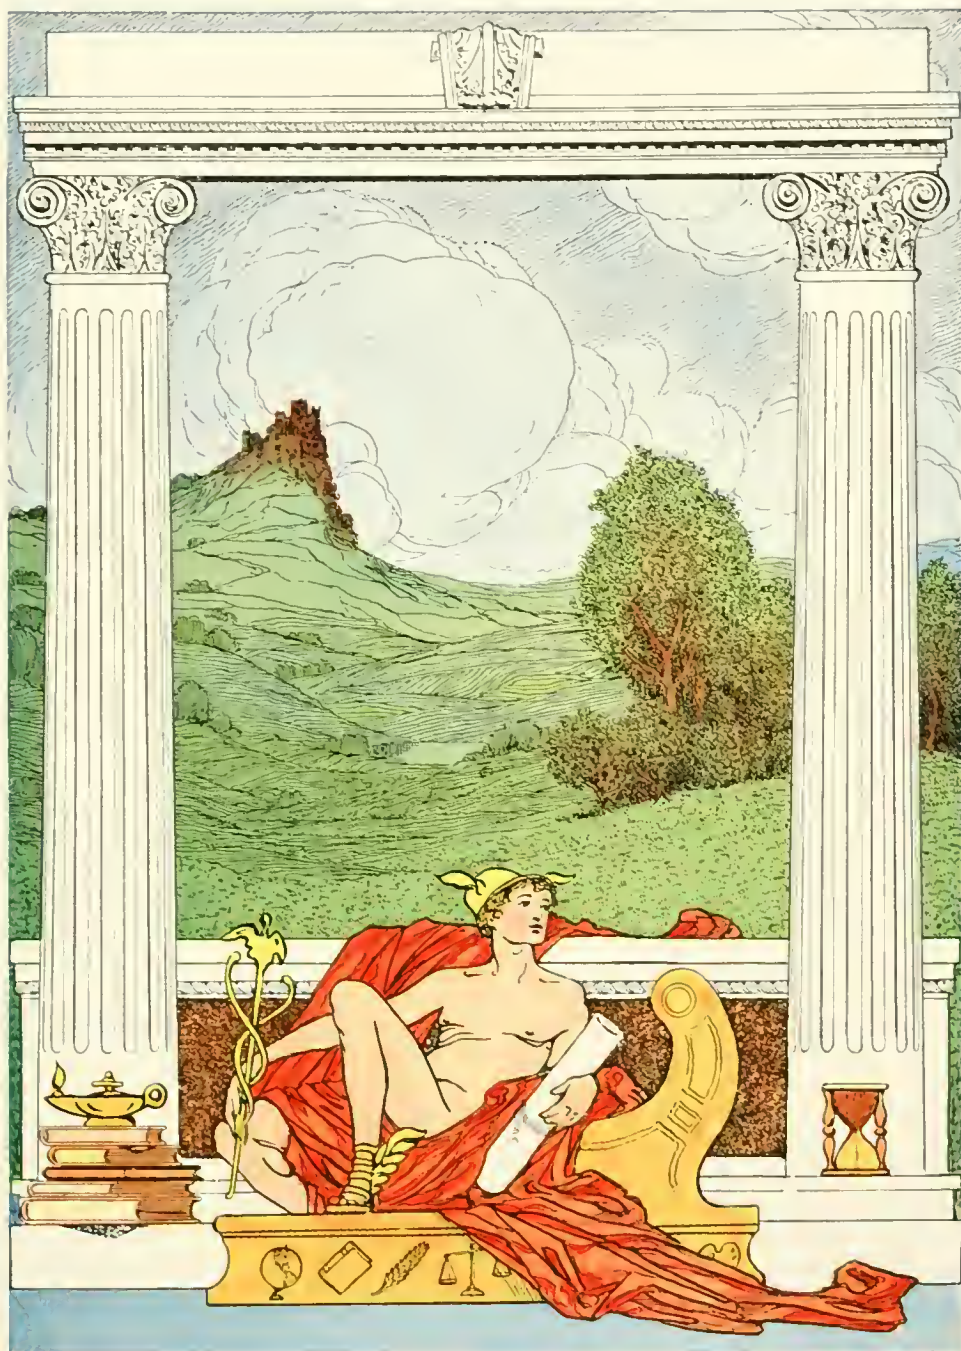

At the first meeting of the class we elected the following officers to direct us thru the year:

President, Elias P. Morgan; Vice President, Edward Schuyler; Secretary, Mary Kelly; Treasurer, Thomas Rowlands.

So we, the Class of '24, look forward to a year at Bloomsburg Normal which will make us one step nearer to the highest pinnacle of success.

ORGANIZATIONS

19—B. S. N. S.—23

The "Bureau"

Another organization of the Normal School in whose precincts some of our class have spent a great many hours, is the "Bureau." In its more dignified nomenclature it is the "Bureau of Educational Research." It is a going and growing concern, capably directed by John P. Herring, Ph.D.

The Bureau began its ministrations in one little room on first floor, and it has moved and grown until now it is crowded in six rooms, usurped one after another along the hall. These rooms, in common parlance are called the "Bureau drawers." This name is applied also to the inhabitants of these rooms.

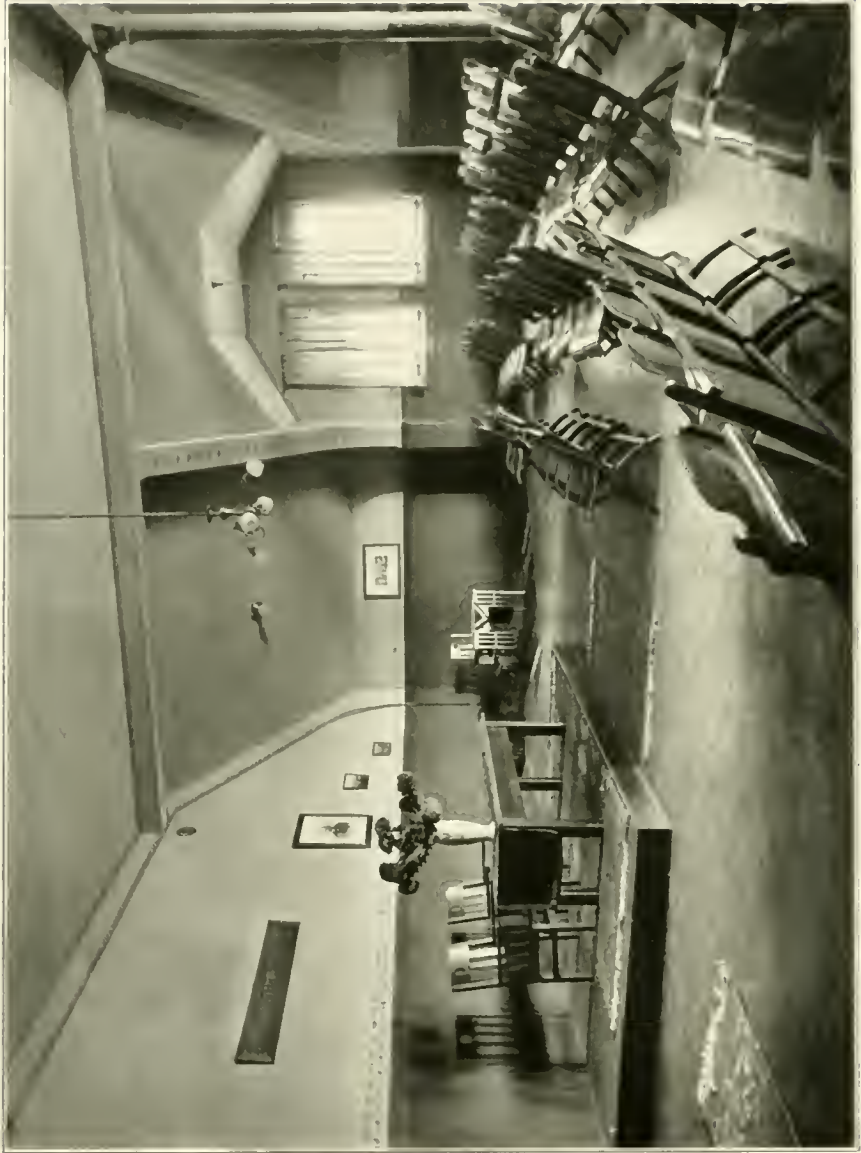

The things that go on in these rooms are dark and mysterious to those who never come inside, while to those inside it is a fascinating workshop—a constant source of interest and pleasure.

To some, the Bureau is the insitgating influence of all the evils and unhappiness connected with school life, what with M.A's, I.Q's, E.Q's, A.Q's, etc. But to others, and perchance, the more thoughtful ones, it has meant a heightening of standards, placing the matter of credit-giving on the basis of measured, actual accomplishment rather than on the estimate of instructors. These people feel that while credits may, in some cases, be harder to earn, they mean more when earned.

Many, various and witty, are the jokes we hear about the Bureau and its people. We all enjoy hearing and telling them. But in the end, we all have to admit that the Bureau does things, and is a contributing element in the progress of the school.

Anyone who has entered into the Bureau and its work, has felt amply repaid for the time and energy spent, both in stimulating contact, and worth while practical training.

—F. ADAMS.

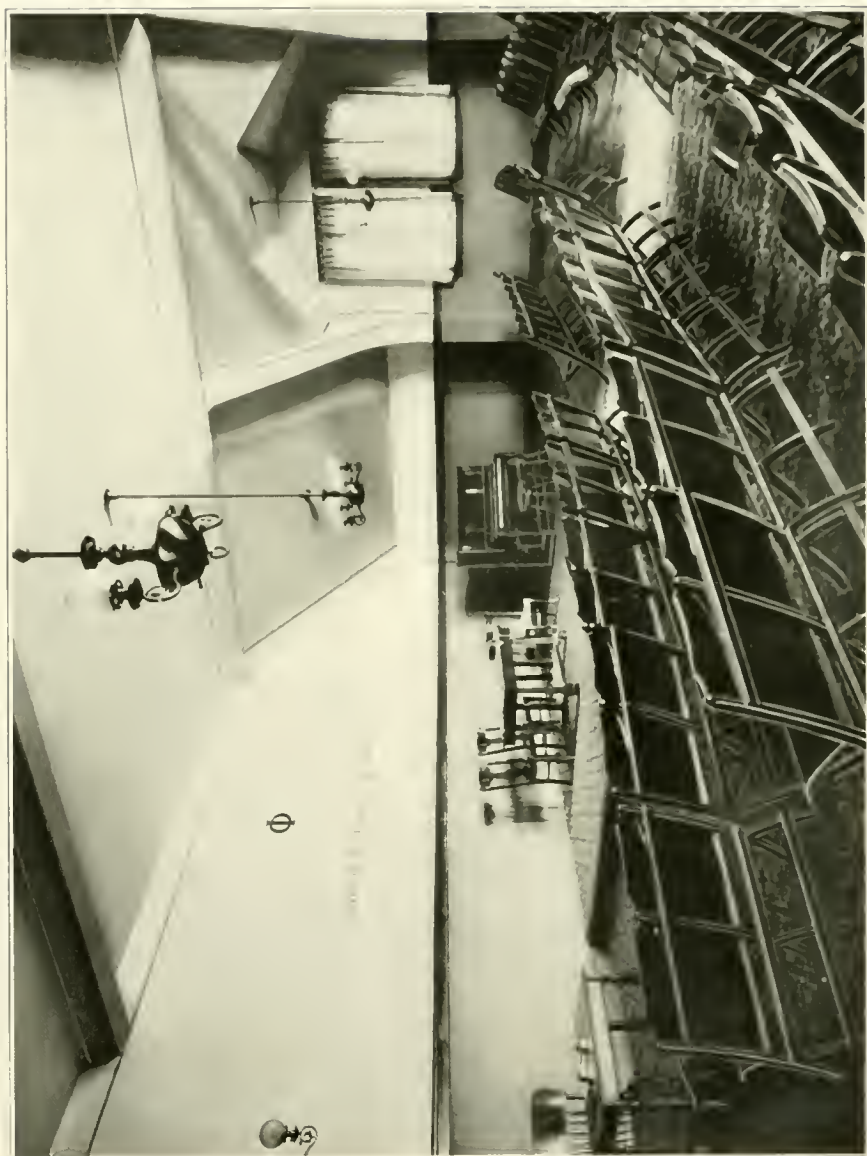

A PARTIAL VIEW OF CALIFORNIA HALL

Calliepian Society

At the beginning of the school year the faculty and student body found it advisable to reorganize the literary societies, Callie and Philo. Accordingly, a committee composed of faculty members and representatives of the classes took up the matter. It was decided that the Callie Society should undertake as its work debating and journalism.

On December 15, 1922, Eliakim Painter was elected temporary president of Callie, to act until a constitution should be adopted. Mr. Irwin, Mr. Sutliff, and Miss Pearl Mason were elected faculty advisors at this meeting.

Mr. Painter appointed a committee to work with the faculty advisors in drawing up a constitution. This committee submitted the constitution to the society on February 9, 1923. The society adopted the constitution on February 12, 1923.

A PARTIAL VIEW OF PHILHARMONIAN HALL

Philologian Society

This society was organized about the middle of November, 1922, and under the direction of a president pro tem, the following officers were elected:

President	- - - -	CLINTON WEISENFELF
Vice President	-	CATHRAN J. FEAR
Secretary	- - - -	MARGARET MAINWARING
Treasurer	- - - - -	LOIS DODSON

The society affords opportunity for the study of dramatics, not only to students having ability as actors, but also to those interested in the staging, costuming, and directing of a play.

It has been the custom for this society to present an annual play under the direction of Miss Sherman. However, owing to the time occupied in the reorganization, no play was presented this year.

"Philo Reunion" day was held November 25, 1922, under the name "Alumni Home-Coming" day. Many prodigal sons and daughters, so to speak, returned and were joyfully welcomed back. A peppy orchestra furnished music throughout dinner and for dancing. About 8:30 P. M., a beautiful Japanese play was presented to a large audience in the Auditorium. Then everybody reported to our "Gym" and danced to their heart's content, and incidentally, to the sorrow of their feet. It will be long remembered as a day of hearty enjoyment. Our faculty had almost as good a time as we did.

We, as a society, sincerely hope the Class of '23 will have as jolly a return, next reunion, as did the Class of '22.

Good luck, Philologists!

C. FEAR.

Alma Mater

Fair Bloomsburg Normal, far upon the hill,
Above the stream we all do love so well,
To thee we give our praise with loyal will,
And sing our notes o'er every hill and dale.

We love thy every ivy covered wall
That rises far above us in the sky;
And as we pass through every stately hall,
We raise our aims like them, so very high.

The campus holds full many a charm for us
We long to linger in thy grove for hours,
When we are gone we'll miss thee, all of us
Will long once more to see thy several towers.

Hail! Alma Mater, dear to every heart,
Hail! Normal School, from thee we're lothe to part.

Library

How often when we think of Bloomsburg Normal we forget that most important part—the library. When we stop to consider, we agree that it is this branch that makes progress possible. We all recall little incidents that occurred on various occasions, and are sorry for some of the mean things that we have done, especially when those in charge were so accommodating.

We as the Class of '23 wish to right our wrongs, and extend our sincere appreciation to Miss Hadley and Miss Mason.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET

Y. M. C. A.

The membership of the Y. M. C. A. had very noticeably fallen off the last few years and with this sad fact staring the organization in the face, a drive was made to secure a 100% membership. Although the 100% mark was not reached, the membership is the best we have had in years.

The Y. M. C. A. prayer meetings reflect the vigor and sincerity of the religious side of the students' life. The prayer meetings have been on the order of true revivals, both in regard to attendance and the spirit of the meetings. The success of our meetings is due in no small measure to Mr. Morgan's indefatigable and zealous efforts and Professor Brill's, our religious guide and leader, sincere and earnest interest in the religious welfare of the students.

The meetings have come to be more attractive through a number of changes in the accustomed mode and form of conducting them. The organization has secured the Christian Endeavor World, and readings from this paper are given by the members. Variety and new and added interest has been secured by an increased interest and attendance on the part of members of the faculty, and the securing of ministers of the town to give the boys a friendly and inspiring talk.

As a mark of the high esteem and regard the boys have for Professor Brill, they presented him with a gold-filled fountain pen and pencil.

Mr. Miller, our state secretary, visited us in November and very clearly and forcibly impressed upon us the responsibility and duty of the Y. M. C. A. in fostering and promoting a religions atmosphere and training in the school. Through his varied experience in Y. M. C. A. work, he has become convinced that the student life is the most important period of character building, and therein rises the need of the spiritual leadership of the Y. M. C. A. Through his large contact with students, he has been more and more impressed by following their subsequent careers, that the ideals, the conceptions, and goals of each and every student will remain fundamentally the same in after life as in his student career, and therefore, the religious influences of schools should be strengthened and perpetuated.

With much regret we state the fact that Mr. Fred Felker does not appear in the group picture. He is an earnest worker and by all means should appear here. The officers are as follows:

President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	HERBERT JONES
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	FRED FELKER
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	ELIARIM PAINTER
Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	LESTER BENNETT
Social Committee Chairman	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	RICHARD POWELL
Devotional Committee	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	ELIAS MORGAN
												—FRED FELKER.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET

Y. W. C. A.

*"And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three;
But the greatest of these is charity."*

With the election of officers last March, the leadership of the Y. W. C. A. came to us, the Seniors of 1923. We entered into this new field with much enthusiasm, and a willingness to bear the responsibilities of this organization. With the aid of Miss Gill and with the student body, we aimed to have this organization grow from strength to strength.

The Y. W. prayer meetings this year have given us many valuable lessons in the art of living in harmony and close fellowship with one another. Every meeting has been carefully planned. Miss Gaines has not kept to the traditional prayer meeting idea in this, but has tried to give us something special to carry with us from each meeting. We have had some select and earnest speakers, including Miss Mary T. Baker, Secretary of Student Volunteer Movement; Miss Gill, and Mrs. Fisher. Several of the students have given valuable contributions in the form of talks, stories, and solos. We have had some informal song services which have brought us close to one another and to the Christ we endeavor to serve.

At the beginning of the fall term, the Y. M. C. A. joined with us and we gave a delightful reception in the gymnasium. This was our "Get Acquainted" meeting.

At the call of service, we sent four representatives to the Y. W. C. A. conference at State College, and seven representatives to the Y. W. C. A. conference at Eagles Mere.

Eagles Mere! The land of joy and sunshine, where eager young feet turn to satisfy the soul's thirst for the words of the Great Master. It was from this place that seven of our girls came back as representatives of the Y. W. C. A. Conference, benefited individually and inspired to carry on the work of the Y. W. C. A.

[illegible]

B. D. C. OFFICERS

Boys' Dormitory Club

The B. D. C. held its first meeting during the second week of school and the following officers were elected for the first semester:

President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	HERBERT JONES
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	MALCOLM DEBK
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	HARRY SCHLEGEL
Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	ELIAKIM PAINTER

Provisions were made for the reception of the new men students into the organization and they were admitted after undergoing an initiation. The initiations of this year have excelled those of any other year and were held in the Locker Room and on the Campus, as the Key to the City was denied to us by the Police Force when he perceived us bringing Our Candidates down to the Public Square where it was customary to hold the initiation ceremonies.

In November the B. D. C. gave a reception to the male members of the faculty. A very delightful program was given by members of the organization, and at the close Dr. Fisher responded with a few remarks and complimented the men on their splendid organization which represented 100 per cent of the men living in the Dormitory.

From a financial point of view the first semester was an unusual success. Several dances were conducted and other means of making money were resorted to. This money was used for making repairs to our pool table and purchasing equipment for the room. At the close of the first semester a substantial amount was handed over to the new officers.

At the beginning of the second semester the following officers were elected to handle the affairs of the B. D. C. for the remainder of the year:

President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	GEORGE P. SCHWARTZ
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	FRANK BUSS

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT OFFICERS

Women's Student Government Association

Three years ago the girls of the B. S. N. S. found the old form of government inadequate and decided to become pioneers in a new movement. The Women's Student Government Association, and we, the class of '23, have done our best to maintain its high standards.

We not only do home work but carry on missionary projects in the distant land of fourth floor, front L. Who will forget the night before Thanksgiving vacation!

Ding! Dong! Bell!

When the boys had the pleasure of enjoying a visit from the sole representative of the Girls' Missionary Society.

The dean of women and the student council, consisting of the four officers, the class representatives, and the supervisors of each floor; may be called the executive body of the association, for they fix penalties and fines, and enforce the laws.

It is our earnest desire that the incoming Senior class will further the work that has been so nobly carried on.

RURAL CLUB

The Rural Club

The activities of the club during the first semester were carried on by the following officers:

President	- - - - -	HURLEY BEAVER
Vice President	- - - - -	MARJORIE GAMBLE
Secretary	- - - - -	HELEN HARMAN
Treasurer	- - - - -	HENRIETTA GARINGER

Several new members have been admitted at different times. Late in the fall a "weinie roast" was planned for out of doors, but on account of a drizzling rain the club met in the Household Arts rooms of Science Hall. The comic freaks of initiation were played upon some of the new members, care being taken not to slight Miss McPherson.

At our second meeting each member brought a book, as a contribution to our Rural Library. The name of each book was guessed after appropriate presentation by the contributor. The size of our library was increased and at present part of the work of cataloging has been accomplished. It is our plan to circulate these books in the rural schools.

The week before Christmas vacation was filled with work and fun. The greens of the forest were twined in wreaths by the willing fingers of our workers. The ready sale, which we found showed the interest the faculty members have taken in our organization. The cast of characters of our Christmas play, the decoration and refreshment committee made possible our delightful Christmas party. Miss Azadian kindly granted the use of the kindergarten, and told us about Christmas in Armenia.

After the holidays a sleigh ride was proposed. Thirty-three of our members filled two sleds which sped over the ground to Orangeville on a Thursday night. Yells and songs, with an occasional story livened our party, while eats at Remley's Confectionery Store brought the best of cheer.

At the basketball games the club sold sandwiches, popcorn balls and candy. The money which was secured in this manner and from the sale of the wreaths, the club voted to spend for a portable victrola. At present a little over forty-seven dollars of the fifty needed have been secured. Within a week the club expects to be the proud owner of a victrola, a much needed part of the equipment of any school.

Miss McPherson, from Missouri, took her place on our faculty last summer as Head of the Rural Department. Because of her interest in rural life and education she gladly became our advisor and guide. With her help the future success of the club is assured.

The following are the officers of the second semester:

President	- - - - -	RACHEL BENSON
Vice President	- - - - -	CARL BLOSE
Secretary	- - - - -	MATILDA KOSTENBAUDER
Treasurer	- - - - -	LUCY WIEKEI

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

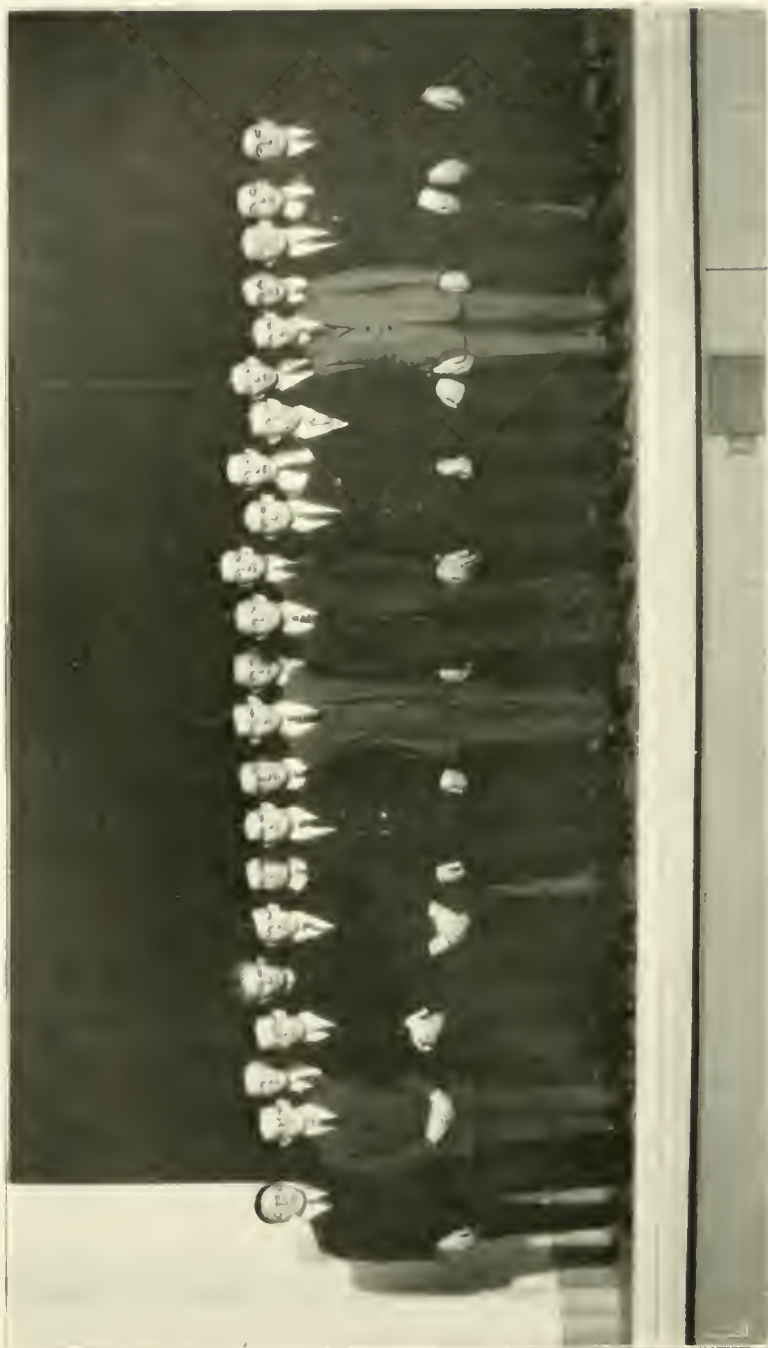

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Ruth L. Myers, has had a very successful year. We had about seventy-five members this year, the majority of whom were members of the Chorus. The Chorus was a combination of the Girls' Glee Club and the Boys' Glee Club.

The Sunday afternoon lectures would hardly have been completed if the Chorus of the Girls' or Boys' Glee Club did not take part. This was our regular work throughout the year and, on special occasions, we were requested to sing at banquets. Not only did we sing on these special occasions, but also smelt and saw the chicken salad which was carried through the dining room.

We hope that there will be a Girls' Glee Club next year, and that as many will be interested in it as were interested this year.

--L. DODSON.

MEN'S GOLF CLUB

Men's Glee Club

The Men's Glee Club is a musical organization composed of practically all the musically inclined men students in the dormitory. Under the supervision of Miss Ruth L. Myers, we have had a very successful year.

During the past year, the Club has entertained at banquets held by the Rotary Club and, also, has rendered a number of selections at the Sunday afternoon lectures.

The following officers have guided the organization through a very successful year:

President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	WALTER KROLIKOWSKI
Vice President	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	CARL D. BLOSE
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	JOSEPH ZELLOE
Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	EMMETT HOYT
Librarian	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	ROBERT WOLF
Leader	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	GEORGE P. SCHWARTZ

The 1922-23 Glee Club is composed of the following members:

First Tenors: Messrs. Griesing, Schwartz, Zelloe, Richards, Blose, and Birch.

Second Tenors: Messrs. Tirpak, Hoyt, Dodd, Foster, Haupt, Suckus, and L. Lerda.

First Basses: Messrs. Krolikowski, McHugh, Kane, Reynolds, and Fullmer.

Second Basses: Messrs. Siesko, Burns, James, Jones, Schlegel, Rhode, and Wolf.

My Lady's Powder Box

Shall I compare you to a large rough box?

No! No! you are more dainty, more esteemed,
You can't be pushed about on dreary docks,
You were not roughly hewn from clumsy beams.

My Lady's box of gold is round and light.

It's linings of satin, with pretty ribbons bound.
Often when she slips slyly out of my sight,
The box is opened; her face lavishly gowned.

Vanity! Fashion's Fool, vain, I hope, not she.

Though this gilded box contains quite enough
Yet—not enough to change her charm for me
Cause charm cannot be so affected by a puff.

Innocent Box! My joy would be complete.

Were I so (cha) prized by the ladies I meet.

—ESTHER SMITH.

ATHLETICS

"Coach" George M. Mead

"Coach" Mead, commonly known as "Spike" among his closer friends, hails from the wild and woolly West. His home is in Reading, Michigan. He is a graduate of the high school of that place and also the Michigan State Normal College. Not contented with such a meager preparation for life, he resumed his studies in the University of Michigan, where he became distinguished for his physical prowess. Good things cannot be kept covered and, after graduation, he was immediately called to serve in the Junior High School at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Forgetting all about his troubles at Grand Rapids, the next episode of his life will be found in the United States Army, as first lieutenant, 338th Infantry, 85th Division. He was assigned to duty at Camp Custer and served here for nearly a year, when Uncle Sam found a need for his services in the front ranks. "Coach" is not the kind of person to brag over what he has accomplished, and from this we take it, that "Coach" was no friend of the "Boche" while in the trenches.

La Crosse, Wisconsin, was the next place in need of a competent physical director, and upon returning from France, he was stationed in the high school there.

"Coach" Mead's physical ability alone suffices for his being a coach, and as a side issue Dean of Men. (If you don't believe this, ask the boys). He is also very gifted in the art of chaperoning and never passes a chance to serve. He is also somewhat given to law, and probably next year, we will find a court room at old Normal.

"Coach," with the help of "23," put Normal on the map in Athletics and the class wishes him success in the future.

The 1922 football season was the most successful enjoyed by any team at Normal for a number of years. "A real team," is the verdict that was rendered by critics very shortly after the season opened and no statement was ever better justified by the course of events.

Coach Mead began the season with ten letter men from the previous year as a nucleus. In addition to these, there reported to him a number of men who had had experience on high school elevens. Among them were: Brotherston, Boyle, James, Lawson, Nancarrow, Sincavage and Partridge. But the task of whipping into shape a team that could display teamwork and fighting spirit was by no means an easy one. However, "Coach" very soon demonstrated that this was being accomplished.

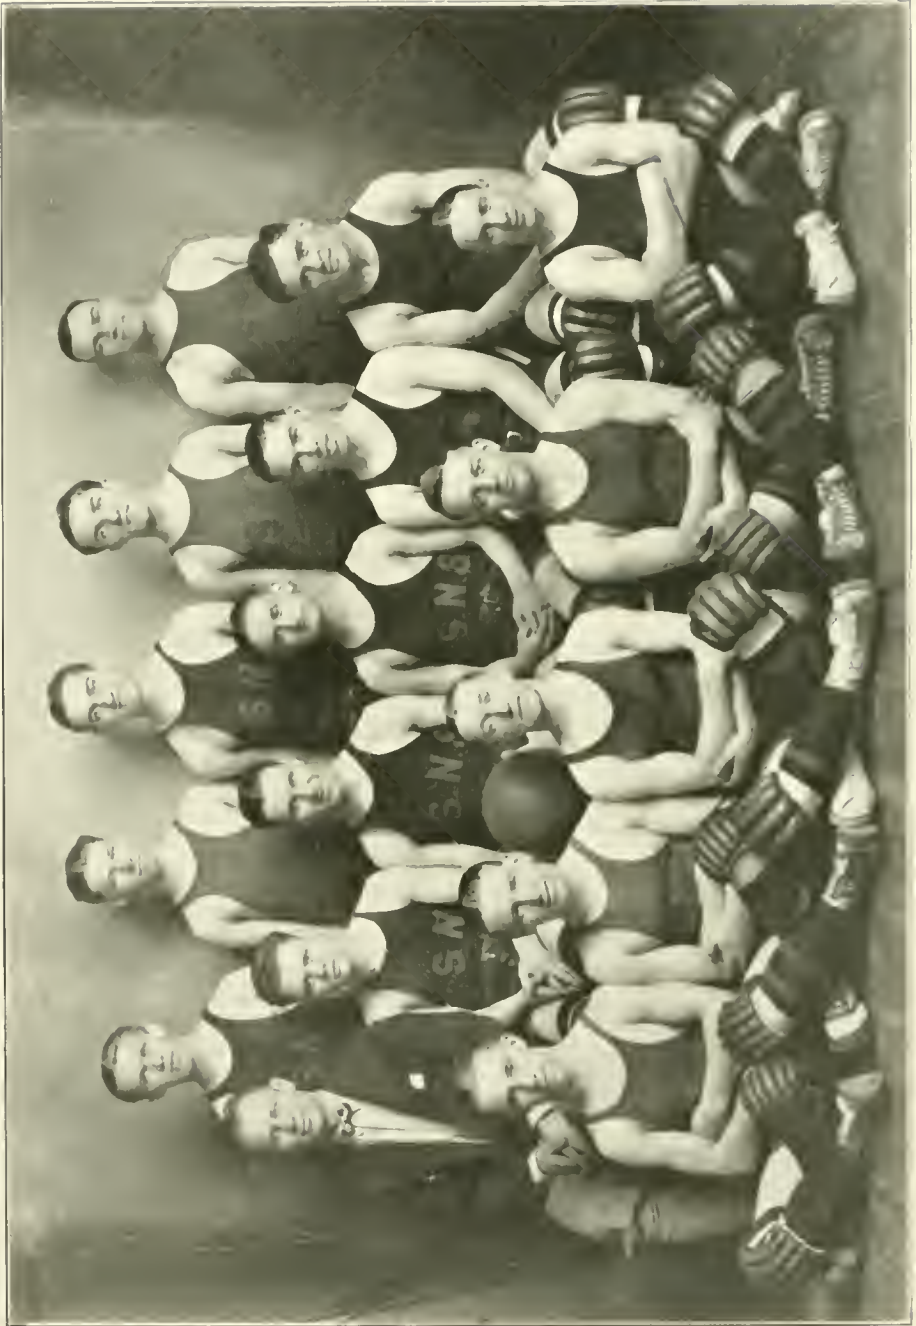

The season began auspiciously when Susquehanna University, aided by Dame Fortune, was able to emerge a victor by the scant margin of 19-0. The first game at home with Dickinson Seminary resulted in a victory for Normal. But the real test was to come in the game with Shippensburg. Facing a team that outweighed them twenty pounds to a man, Normal gave an exhibition of pluck and skill that has seldom been excelled on Mt. Olympus. The game resulted in a victory, score 33-10.

Success continued to attend the efforts of the squad during the remainder of the season. But even the most optimistic were rather anxious about the outcome of the contest with our old and formidable rival "Wyo." The Blue and White came here with one of those big, powerful elevens for which they have been noted for some years past. To make matters worse for us, our team was handicapped because of the fact that a number of men were suffering from injuries received in earlier contests. Undaunted, the team went into the fray. Led by Captain Haupt, they displayed such gameness and ability that nearly swept "Sem" off their feet. Wyoming was indeed fortunate to grab off a victory by the score 9-3.

At a banquet held following the close of the season, gold emblems were awarded the following men: Capt. Haupt, Rohde, Derk, Wiesentluf, S. Lerda, Foster, Schwartz, A. Lawson, Morgan, Schlegel and Litwhiler, while sweaters with the "B" were awarded to Brotherston, Partridge, Schwall, Boyle, Nancarrow and J. Lawson. The following earned their numerals as second string men: Sincavage, Sheats, Laubach, Kane, Walakonis, Watson and Haggerty.

Following is the record of the team for the season:

Susquehanna University	-	-	-	19	Normal	-	-	-	0	Away

During the season 1923 the Normal was represented by one of the best teams in the history of the school.

At the very opening of the season prospects looked very encouraging. There were five men from the previous year, and in addition to these the following men who had played on their High School teams responded to the call for candidates: L. Lerda, Schwall, Brotherston, Sincavage, Kane, Nancarrow, Boyle, J. Lawson, and Reynolds. Although there was plenty of material from which to draw, a huge task confronted Coach Mead, that of building up a winning team. By untiring efforts and hard work "Coach" welded together a fighting aggregation and a smooth working quintet.

The season opened with a victory over Bloomsburg High School. The team continued its good work, setting a pace which most of its opponents found hard to equal and consequently bowed in defeat.

The team showed its ability in defeating Shippensburg Normal by the score of 38-30. They invaded Bloomsburg with a record of nine consecutive victories and a claim to the state championship. However, the climax was reached in the games with Wyoming. As usual "Wyo" appeared with one of its large speedy teams, but they were completely out-classed by the wonderful passing and all around work of Coach Mead's prodigees. The game at Bloomsburg resulted in a 19 to 17 victory for Normal, followed by a 28 to 27 victory for Wyoming at Kingston, but the scores are no indication of the brand of basketball displayed by the Normal quintet. Under the capable leadership of Captain Schwall the team established an enviable record. Having won eight games and lost five to date with one game still to be played, scoring a total of 416 to our opponents 358.

The Varsity was composed of the following men: L. Lerda and Haupt forwards, Schwall (Capt.) center, Brotherston and S. Lerda guards, Derk, Morgan, and Krolikowski utility men. The personnel of the Junior Varsity was as follows: Sincavage (Capt.), and Boyle forwards, Kane center, Nancarrow and J. Lawson guards, Reynolds, A. Lawson, and Foster substitutes.

At the close of the season the following men were awarded their letters: L. Lerda, Haupt, Schwall, Brotherston, S. Lerda, and Derk. Gold emblems were awarded to Haupt, S. Lerda and Derk. A sweater with the letter B was awarded to L. Lerda, and Reynolds received a sweater with numerals 1923.

At a meeting of the letter men L. Lerda was elected captain for the season of 1924. After winning the medal as the best forward in the first High School tournament ever held at Bloomsburg he succeeded in earning a place on the Varsity. He showed his ability as a forward by scoring in every game of the season, and not once during the entire year was he held scoreless.

A result of the games played is as follows:

Bloomsburg High School	-	-	-	11	Normal	-	-	-	-	37	Home

BASEBALL TEAM 1922

THE 1923
OBITER

1921-1922

[illegible]

When a call for baseball candidates was made in the Spring of 1922, the majority of the Junior boys responded. Coach Mead had an entirely new squad of men on the field, but after many days of hard practice, a fine squad of well disciplined men represented the Normal School in the baseball world.

Our first game was played April 19th with Newport Township High School as our opponents. Our boys proved to be superior to the high school lads and we defeated them by a score of 13 to 1.

Our schedule was a very stiff one, comprising a number of professional teams. Of the seven games played with school teams, we were successful in winning three of them.

The following men have been awarded their varsity letter in baseball for the 1921-22 season: Weisentluth, Haupt, Kelley, Thomas, Derk, Zelloe, Hlower, Felker, Foster, Markley, Dodson and Krolikowski. McHugh was the only man to be awarded numerals.

The members of the team and the position they played is as follows: Kelly and Barrow, catchers; Thomas, Zelloe and McHugh, pitchers; Hower and Weisenfluh, first base; Markley and Morgan, second base; Haupt, shortstop; Derk, third base; Foster and Dodson, left field; Felker, center field; Seeley, Faust and Griesing, right field.

The 1921-22 schedule is as follows:

[illegible]

Malcolm Derk has been selected Captain for the 1922-23 baseball season. The outlook for a winning team for the coming season is very favorable. Practically all of last year's men have returned to the Normal, and with the new students who entered last fall, a successful season is looked for. Student Manager Eisenbauer and Faculty Manager Hall are busy arranging a suitable schedule.

—J. ZELLOE.

SENIORS VS. JUNIORS

From start to finish the game was one of thrills and the mighty line plunges made by the brute strength of the Senior backfield failed to move the impregnable Junior line. The Seniors outplayed the Juniors during the first half but were unable to carry the pigskin over the goal. Although six of the Junior team were rendered unconscious and had to be carried from the field, Coach "Fat" Brotherton was always on hand to fill the gap.

When the second half began, there appeared on the field what seemed to be two new teams. During this period the Juniors outplayed the Seniors. The outstanding feature was the aerial attacks, featuring Lerda and Adams.

The score:

—H. JONES.

Tennis

1922-1923

The tennis season of 1922 opened with a "racquet" and convinced everyone our boys could play tennis as well as football and basketball. In the beginning of the season, a great many enthusiasts came out but the ones that "came in at the finish" were Herbie Smith, Neal Hutton, "Red" Chamberlain and "Ox" Miller. These four warriors showed the same pep and vim at the end of the season as at the beginning.

The tennis cause was aided greatly by the splendid new courts the school gave us, so with our school spirit at its height and courts in perfect condition it was small wonder the courts were always busy.

With the good pace set by the season of "22" we expect big things from the girls as well as the boys this year.

—HELEN ZEBEL

High School Basketball Tournament

During the season of 1922 Coach Meade inaugurated an event which has now become an annual affair, namely, a high school basketball tournament. It is an event towards which lovers of the indoor sport look forward with great interest. High schools from this section of the state are invited to send their teams to the tournament. Loving cups are awarded to teams winning first and second place, while gold medals are given to the best center, forward and guard that appear in the tournament and silver medals are given to members of the team winning first place. In the first tournament that was held here Newport Township High School was successful in carrying off the honors, winning first place, and the medals for the best center, forward and guard. Berwick High School won second place by defeating Bloomsburg High, while Newport defeated Danville in the final game of the tournament.

The tournament proved such a success in 1922 that this season, 1923, it was extended over a period of two days. The number of schools represented increased from four to six. The following teams being entered: Newport Township High; Treverton High, Bloomsburg High, Berwick High, Hanover Township High and Plains High. The tournament opened on Friday evening, March 16th, with Newport drawing Treverton as its opponent, Bloomsburg playing Hanover Township, and Berwick was pitted against Plains.

Newport, Hanover and Berwick entered the semi-finals on Saturday morning with Berwick having Hanover as its opponent while Newport drew a bye. Berwick emerged a victor over Hanover and in the afternoon entered the final game of the tournament with Newport. Newport was successful in defeating Berwick, thereby winning the large loving cup as winners of first place.

A final elimination contest was run off between the losers; in the morning Bloomsburg played Treverton, while Plains remained idle. Bloomsburg defeated Treverton and in the afternoon played Plains. By defeating Plains, Bloomsburg won the consolation series and were awarded a large pennant. As the results show the small loving cup for second place was awarded to Berwick.

After the tournament closed the judges handed down their decision on the best forward, center and guard that appeared in the tournament. Dickson, of Berwick High, was awarded the gold medal for the best forward; Kazaliski, the Hanover Township guard, received the guard medal, while Ketz, the Newport Township center, was awarded the center medal.

The following persons were awarded silver medals as members of the team that won first place: Turner and Jenkins, forwards; Ketz, center; Sack and Stoker, guards; Womelsdorf, sub.

Owed to the Faculty

When we think of Art, we think of Browne,
Not as a color, but a proper noun.
She has her faults; consign them to her tomb,
But let her virtues in their fragrance bloom.

We have a Prof whose name is Brill;
Every Wednesday night he comes up the hill
To see if the boys are doing right
By going to prayer meeting on that night.

We have a young teacher whose name is Keller,
He is a fine, good-looking feller,
He drives a car of his own design,
And believe me he has a fine line.

We can boast of a good school nurse;
But don't get sick: it's hard on the purse.
Altho' your pains and ills are many,
She will give pink pills a-plenty.

Miss Rogers is our dietitian,
She is too nice to be in the kitchen,
She feeds us nothing but hash and stew,
Here's hoping she gets something new.

Our Dean of Instruction we must not offend,
For he OK's the marks in the end;
He's a jolly, happy, and jovial man,
And always on hand to do what he can.

Here's to one whose name is Hall,
By his voice you would think he was tall;
In sports he uses the push and pull,
But in the Bureau he uses the "bull."

There is our friend, Mrs. Keller,
Didn't take her long to get a feller,
I know she will be a success in life
And make our George an ideal wife.

Miss Myers directs the angry mob,
And believe me, it's no easy job:
I don't think she's a vamp, but, holy gee,
Her famous saying is, "Look at me."

Owed to the Faculty

Hansen is head of our English class,
Where most of the Juniors go to "gas";
He goes on hikes, but that's not treason.
He simply goes 'cause there's a reason.

Next in line comes our Dean of Men,
Who insists that the boys be in at ten.
He has his faults, but they are few
And nothing is too much for him to do.

Wilner is a very thin lad,
Who tried to give us all that he had.
He told us all to consult Terman and Rugg,
And we are convinced we have the brains of a bug.

Prof. Albert refers to some as "Country Jakes,"
And many trips down South he takes.
He talks of mountains, rivers, and gaps,
And always insists on the drawing of maps.

There is one of whom all think a great deal,
And this is a teacher by the name of Miss Steele.
She has a smile for all that she meets,
And with a pleasant "Good morning" the students she greets.

At night when all should be in bed,
Some poor student is working on History of Ed.
Prof. Bakeless assigns twenty readings a week,
Here's hoping a new scheme he will soon seek.

We must not forget the man whom no doubt
Is the most widely criticized and talked about.
But he has the goods, and he is daring,
We all know him well—his name is Herring.

Miss Mason has charge of extension work,
And is always busy, never known to shirk.
She does not spend much time at school
But tries to get back once a week as a rule.

Our Dean of Women is one whom no doubt
All of the students know most about.
She has a large family and always fears
That someone is near to harm her dears.

Owed to the Faculty

Prof. Hartline is one who all fear
Just about at the end of the year.
Be sure and get busy when your way he looks,
And his famous saying is, "Study Nature, not books."

Of Prof. Craig no doubt you will hear
For the past year has had a bug in his ear.
He induced Dr. Fisher a radio to get
But we have heard very few concerts as yet.

Prof. Irwin is a man of power,
He takes advantage of every hour.
He watches the students in dances and jigs,
Then goes in the office and reads about Briggs.

Weston and Monroe have a magic word, "Go,"
Which charms us to skip and dance just so.
They teach us baseball, dancing and drill,
But it's the dancing that some think is a "pill."

From abroad came Miss Azadian and Miss Salvian,
Bringing new ideas for us to think upon.
One thinks of Armenia, the other of France,
Both came to America to take a chance (?)

Patterson and Moore are our song birds,
To describe them it's very hard to find words.
If at night in your ear there is a ring,
Consult the above, for, Oh, Boy, how they can sing.

Here's to a teacher who keeps you guess-en
About "junk" known as Oral Expression.
She is one who gives few A's and B's,
But believe me, she's fond of giving E's.

Our class advisor is one of whom no doubt,
We have all learned most about.
We have had differences, but we love her still,
This wonderful teacher is our own Miss Gill.

Dr. Fisher, our Principal, has much to do,
Always on hand to start something new.
He travels to Harrisburg at least once a week,
For B. S. N. S. larger appropriations to seek.

Here's to our class of '23,
So square and true;
Now all our lessons, we have done
With books we're thru,
Of cares and troubles, we have none,
And all is fun;
So we are happy, gay and free

Some Married Man!

Albert F. (English class)—"I am going to write to three girls."
(Watch out Mrs. Foster).

Prof. Albert—"Where do we get lard from?"

Max L. (sleepily)—"Cow."

Prof. Brill—"Do you know of anyone that has any Civil War relics?"

Joe Z.—"I have a union suit."

Francis S.—"How did you find your steak?"

Bill J.—"Easy, it was right under the potato."

THE 1925 OBITER

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

Graduate—"The Bloomsburg Normal School certainly takes an interest in a fellow, doesn't it?"

Eisenhower—"How is that?"

Graduate—"Well, I read in the quarterly that they would be glad to hear of the death of any of the alumni."

Miss Caruvel—"Does anyone know what George Washington carried on his chest?"

J. H. S. Student—"Clothes."

Prof. Craig—"Can you explain the simple plan of electricity?"

H. Beaver—"It is of no use; we do not use them where I live."

Mr. Mead (in Gym class)—"Line up and count off by two's."

Bright Juniors—"Two-four-six-eight, etc."

New One (first day in the dining room)—"Why does that woman over there ring the bell?"

Old One—"That is the signal for everyone to fill out the menu cards."

Prof. Bakeless—"What is a basal fact?"

Junior—"I dunno."

Prof. Bakeless—"What is the base of a building?"

Junior—"The cellar."

Miss Gill—"I surprised my friends one day by first turning to the sporting sheet of the daily paper."

Eliakim P.—(unconsciously)—"Brander Mathews says that most intelligent people read the sporting sheet first."

Ex-Student—"I see that you have new lights."

Student—"Yes, we need new lights on the subjects we are now studying."

We think that it would be a good idea if Prof. Craig formed a class in radiator radio; it would save much confusion and delay in the messages enroute.

Lester B.—"I have a secret to tell you."

Tom R.—"Tell me, I am as silent as a grave."

Lester B.—"I need four bits."

Tom R.—"Don't worry, it is as if I have heard nothing."

Ruth C.—"I thot you took Oral Expression last year?"

Helen Z.—"I did, but I received an encore."

THE 1923 OBITER

Mrs. Fisher (English class) — "What passage in the Bible gives us the moral of 'Silas Marner'?"

Helen J. — "All that glitters is not gold."

Prof. Albert — "How is South America divided?"

"Kay" B. — "By earthquakes."

So True

Prof. Hall — "Let me teach you to love things."

Helen K. — "How many credits?"

Visitor — "I hear that the deans are good instructors and supporters of the school."

Alice A. — "Besides being good supporters, they are also good suspenders."

Helen E. — "Did you hear Ruth Phillips was ill?"

"Babe" A. — "What's the matter?"

Helen E. — "Water on the brain."

"Babe" A. — "How come?"

Helen E. — "Too many waves on her head."

Many of the girls that live in the dorms are so used to being called "dears" so that when they are out with company and are called "dear" they think they are one of the herd.

No, John, not all of the soups they serve in the dining-room have a stable name.

The new desk that they installed in the library would remind us more of "old times" if they would put up a footrest for the benefit of the patrons.

Some of the more religious students think that B. S. N. S. might mean— Begone Satan—Nothing Stirring.

Altho Miss Meyers says, "Look at me," she does not mean that some of the males should stare.

Mary O. — "Did you recieve any mail?"

Francis G. — "No, the male has a broken arm."

"Here is where I get stung," said the boy as he kicked the Bee-Hive.

"There is the guy I am laying for," remarked the hen as the farmer crossed the road.

THE 1925 OBITER

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

Have you noticed that the man whose stock in trade is brains usually carries a funny looking sample case.

"I am at the end of my rope," Sheats cried as he threw his cigar away.

Prof. (after trying first hour class) — "Sometime ago my doctor told me to exercise early every morning with dumbbells. Will the class report tomorrow before breakfast?" Dismissed.

A Ford is like a schoolroom,
For if you'll look you'll find
It has a stubborn crank in front
And a bunch of nuts behind.

Margaret D.—"Don't you know that it's poor form to dip your cake in your coffee?"

Junior—"Yes, but it's good taste."

James B.—"Say, Ruth, let's go to the concert tonight."

Ruth C.—"Sure, where do we sit?"

James B.—"Outside."

Miss Browne—"Name the oldest piece of furniture known."

Annabel S.—"The multiplication table."

Albert F.—"What is the standard of legibility?"

Eliakim P.—"I do not think that there is any standard because every person can read his own writing. I know that I can."

If the Coach plays football, do you think Miss Jen-Kyn?

If Miss Farrar would pose as a "Rose"—would "Dusty" Paint-er?

Do you think Bill will be Mar-i-on George?

Herbert J.—"How do they wake the people in the Deaf and Dumb Asylum every morning?"

Ruth P.—"I really do not know."

Herbert J.—"With a dumbbell."

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

At the Gate of Heaven

St. Peter—"What did you do while on earth?"

Painter—"I went to B. S. N. S."

St. Peter—"Did you spend two years there?"

Painter—"Yes."

St. Peter—"Enter, you had hell on earth."

There are many quick dressers in the dorms; quick dressers—good firemen—good firemen—good fire protection; good fire protection—a safe place to live; therefore the dorms must be a safe place to live.

Teacher—"What are the four seasons?"

Bright Boy—"Pepper, salt, mustard and vinegar."

Pat—"What could be worse than scarlet fever and diphtheria coming at the same time?"

E. Morgan—"Having rheumatism and St. Vitus' dance at the same time."

"Many are called but few are chosen," said Dr. Fisher as he sent some of the Juniors home.

J. Jones—"Why is it a fly can never see thru a window?"

Pete S.—"I dunno."

J. Jones—"Because they always leave their specks behind."

Marjorie G.—"Why do maids always wear silk gloves?"

Kathlyn K.—"Search me."

Marjorie G.—"Because they do not like kids."

Coach Mead—"Here you! Don't do that! Use your head."

Malcolm D.—"Oh, is that allowed?"

Mrs. Holmes—"Why didn't you come to class today? You missed my lecture on appendicitis."

Elias M.—"O, I am tired of these organ recitals."

THE 1925 OBITER

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

Steve L. (at the Senior party)—"What shall I do to be funny?"

Raymond E.—"Just act natural."

Jean M. (at football game)—"Why do those men keep running up and down the field with the chains?"

Charles M.—"They belong to the chain gang."

Some of the things the Training School students would like to know:

Was the Battle of Brandywine fought in a barroom?

Did Marco Paulo make the game of polo?

Does S. O. S. mean Save Our Souls?

Is Rex Beach a summer resort?

Is Babe Ruth a chorus girl?

Is quicksand used on the race track?

Is pyramid Pharaoh's daughter?

Is the mushroom a beauty parlor?

Is the "Man of War" a battle ship?

Is the "London Derby" a new hat?

Did General Grant ever shave?

Was the Battle of Bull Run fought in a cow pasture?

George S.—"Where did you get the big lip, Haupt?"

Elmer H.—"I told the conductor that I was traveling on my face and he punched the ticket."

Margaret M.—"I would like to know my mark in gym?"

Miss Weston—"If I were you, a trifle would not worry me."

"A rolling stone gathers no moss," said Prof. Albert as the stone on which he had a foothold became loose and slid down the incline.

Prof. Sutliff—"There are some in this class who would have done that multiplication in half the time it took you."

Marion G.—"I wouldn't be surprised. They say fools multiply rapidly these days."

Helen R. (at football game)—"How many quarters are they going to play?"

Visitor—"Well, brother, don't you have rather long hours around here?"

Earl B.—"Oh, no; about sixty minutes each, on an average."

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

Some of the Best Sellers Are:

"Statements of State Allowance and School Expenditure"—by Dr. C. H. Fisher.

"The Mind of Dumbell"—by Prof. Bakeless.

"The Idiosyncrasies of the Human Mind"—by Dr. Herring.

"The Problems of Life Figured Mathematically"—by Prof. Sutliff.

"The Short Cuts in Basketball"—by Coach Mead.

"Geography in Relation to Man"—by Prof. Albert.

"The Inklings of a Master Mind"—by Prof. Keller.

"A Complete Study of Slang"—by Miss Gill.

"The Advantage of Short Skirts and Powder Puffs"—by Prof. Hartline.

"The Value of Calisthenics in the Dining Room"—by Miss Weston.

"The Benefits Derived by Attending Church"—by Prof. Brill.

"The Mysterious Workings of Vocal Organs"—by Miss Sherman.

"Singing in Relation to the Exercising of the Forefinger"—by Miss Moore.

"The Stability of the Overweights and the Underweights"—by Miss Rogers.

"The Artistic Temperament of a Piano Player"—by Miss Brown.

"The Comparison of the Homogeneous and Hetrogeneous Groups"—by Prof. Irwin.

Prof. Brill—"What do you expect to be when you finish this Normal School?"

Max A.—"An old man."

Prof. Hall—"Strange, your recitation reminds me of Quebec?"

Harry S.—"How come?"

Prof. Hall—"Built on a bluff."

Girls' Dormitory Regulations

1. Miss Kingman suggests that all spend as much time as possible in the dormitory from 12 P. M. to 6 A. M.

2. Evening study hours last from 7:30 to 9:30, during which time the lights must be on in all rooms. Everyone is expected to make as much noise as possible.

3. The 10 o'clock bell is the signal for the hall teachers to retire. Consequently all loud talking ceases at 10:15.

THE 1925 OBITER

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

4. Permission to leave town or spend the night away from the dorm is granted to all. Faculty members in particular are requested to use this privilege.
5. Walking out of town in company with young men is heartily recommended. It establishes co-operation among the students.
6. Everyone is expected to attend chapel when disposed.
7. Steady "cases" are requested to attend church on Sunday evening. The Presbyterian church is recommended. The service is short and the walk is beneficial.
8. No one is expected to do any work in the Spring term with the exception of the faculty.
9. The dorm must be kept quiet at all times so that the mice will not be disturbed.
10. In regard to any privileges about which there is any doubt, inform Miss Kingman after you have used the privilege.

Some Improvements That Are Needed

Erecting of a bench or sofa in the lobby for the young men so that they can rest while waiting for their lady friends.

Smoking paraphernalia in the dining room so that the men can enjoy the meals to the fullest extent possible.

The providing of a traffic officer for the intersection of the dining room and the long halls.

Prof. Brill—"Will you please name the presidents of the United States?"

"Mox" D.—"Sorry sir, but their parents beat me to it."

New Conductor—"Your fare, Miss?"

Cecelia T.—"I am glad that someone thinks it."

Albert F.—"Everybody knows that I come from where the Pennsylvanians hold their sway."

Max A.—"Which sway?"

THE 1923
OBITUARY

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

Hotel Clerk (making out bill) "Did you take a bath?"

Elmer H.—"Why, is there one missing?"

Henry R.—"Why is 'Daddy' like a boxer?"

Arch L.—"I give it up. Why is he?"

Henry R.—"He goes a few rounds every night."

Walter K.—(in School Efficiency class)—"What is Miss Babb tapping on the desk for?"

Clinton W.—"Playing for time."

She—"I was the bell of the village at one time."

He—"I did not think that all of the dumbbells were in the gymnasium."

No, Mable, not all of the school "cases" need the attention of a trained physician.

Pat K.—"What is the height of folly?"

Derrick—"You have me. What is it?"

Pat K.—"Trying to explain to Prof. Hartline why you could not find an assigned specimen."

Anna H.—"What kind of materials did they use in the brick wall on the front campus?"

Seeley—"I dunno. I'll bite?"

Anna H.—"Bricks."

Miss Sherman—"My boy, how did you become such a great orator?"

Clair K.—"I began by addressing envelopes."

If Ruth fell in a pot of boiling water, do you think she would Boyle?

If Clair was late for an appointment, would Kelly tire?

Miss Gill—"Now, take this sentence for example—'Let the cow out of the lot.' What mood?"

Bright Junior—"The cow."

THE 1925 OBITER

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

Mary Pratt (writing home)—"How do you spell financially?"

Esther Powell—"F-i-n-a-n-c-i-a-l-l-y and there are two 'rs in embarrassed."

Deaths from automobiles increased 13 per cent. in 1922 over 1921. Practice makes perfect.

Ethel R.—"Mr. Englehart, why don't you warm us up awhile?"

Mr. Englehart—"Whereabouts?"

Ethel R.—"372."

The chore which causes much hate,
And is no cause for laughter
Is madly scrubbing out the tub
Before my bath and after.

"Button, button, who got the button?" is quite a game in laundry circles.

There are lots of jokes but few are original.

Miss Muaro (in giving commands)—"Girls don't you know which is your right face?"

Professor—"And now, are there any questions?"

Student—"Yes, sir What time is it?"

George S.—"Prof. Irwin, do you believe in exams?"

Prof. Irwin—"I think they are excellent training."

George S.—"Well, I guess so. I practiced two weeks learning how to turn pages with my toe last year for finals."

Dorothy S.—"Do you believe in perpetual motion?"

Dick P.—"Er-r—yes—I mean no."

Dorothy S.—"Well, then please stop keeping time to the music on the tip of my shoe."

THE 1923 OBITER

More or Less Pungent Don't You Know

"It is the little things that count," said Miss Kingman as she brushed a speck from her dress.

"Would that I a bird were," said Miss Patterson as she slipped and fell on the ice.

"Time is fleeting," exclaimed the dubious Junior as she came to the last page of a controlled exam as the signal was given to stop.

Senior—"Odd, isn't it?"

Junior—"Yes, what?"

Senior—"Night falls, but it does not break."

Junior—"Yes, yes."

Senior—"Day breaks but it does not fall."

Steward (on steamship)—"Your lunch will be up immediately, sir."

Passenger—"Yes—so will my breakfast."

Pat—"There were so many bed bugs where I slept they stopped my watch. I had to take it to the jewelers to get them out."

Mike—"How did they get in?"

Pat—"Between the ticks."

Teacher—"This world would be a pleasanter place if there were not so many fools in it."

Student—"Yes, but it would be more difficult to make a living."

He—"If I should propose, would you say 'yes?' "

She—"If you knew that I would say 'yes,' would you propose?"

The joke committee lost out on the parlor not being opened at the beginning of the term.

You would not knock the jokes we use, if you could see what we refuse.

Classmates:

Our two years at Normal School are over, and we are about to enter into the teaching profession. We are to be teachers in a century which surpasses all others for opportunities. Great things are before us, and although some are said to be geniuses most of us are of ordinary intelligence, and possess some talents which perhaps the genius does not have. We live in a broad land where opportunity rises before everyone, but we must so live that when this opportune time comes, we will be able to gather about us the real things that come to all who do their best. We have had enriching experiences, as well as depressing ones, all of which will aid us materially in performing life's duties. However during the rush of life we must not forget that the greatest contribution that one can give to humanity is service.

HERBERT S. JONES,

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF.

When I Miss You Most

'Tain't when the sun's up high
That I miss you most,
'Tain't when the willows sigh
That I miss you most,
But when the night bird calls his mate
And embers crackle in the grate,
I sit alone until real late That's when I miss you most.

"Jahn & Ollier Again"

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

The mission of all advertising illustrations is to produce sales and the growth of this firm has been measured by the success its customers have had in obtaining new business thru using "J&O picture salesmen."

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere.
